ROOSEVELT AND HULL TICKET IS NEW DEAL PLAN

Orders Come from White House.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

(Pictures on back page.)

If the President has his way about it the Democratic ticket will be:

ROOSEVELT AND HULL.

This was the information brought from Washington last night by New Dealers who have been sitting in White House conferences to shape the transactions of the Democratic national convention.

The President's program for the convention may be summarized as follows:

1. Renomination of Mr. Roosevelt in such manner as to appear to be a drafting of the President for a third term, which he cannot decline in justice to the country and his party.

2. Nomination of Secretary of State Cordell Hull for Vice President, notwithstanding any previous refusal by him of second place on the ticket.

3. Adoption of a Democratic national platform as outlined and in part drafted by the President.

4. Election by the Democratic national committee of the President's choice for chairman to direct the campaign.

Hull Prefers Cabinet Post.

Mr. Roosevelt, it was learned, has asked Hull to be his running mate but on the one occasion on which the matter was seriously discussed the secretary of state informed the President rather positively that he would not accept. Hull gave several reasons, among them being his preference to remain at the head of the state department and pursue the development of foreign policies in which he is deeply interested.

The President made it clear to Hull and others that he was not disposed to accept the secretary's declination as final. He confided to his intimates that he would try again some time before the convention reaches the stage of nominating a candidate for Vice President.

If unable to obtain any sign of acquiescence from Hull, the President, according to the word reaching the convention leaders, will not hesitate to cause the convention to draft the secretary, notwithstanding his professions of unwillingness to serve. Mr. Roosevelt was described as confident that Hull, as a loyal Democrat, would not refuse, if drafted.

Wants Him as Conservative.

The President's intense desire to get Hull for his running mate is well understood in convention circles. Hull is a conservative Tennessee Democrat who has gone along with the New Deal on the theory that its socialistic manifestations are merely temporary devices to ease the country thru a temporary depression. So doing, he has been enabled to develop his reciprocal tariff reduction policy, which he deems of inestimable permanent benefit to the country. He is with, but not of, the New Deal.

Mr. Roosevelt easily will hold the New Dealers in line for the ticket, but he is threatened with the defection of the conservative Democrats, particularly since the Republicans nominated Wendell Willkie, a Democrat who did not class himself as a Republican until 1939 and voted the Republican ticket for the first time in 1936. There already is abundant evidence that Willkie will attract the support of millions of conservative and other anti-New Deal Democrats even in Democracy's solid south.

The move to put southern, conservative Hull on the ticket with Mr. Roosevelt is designed to stem the threatened bolt of conservative Democrats to Willkie.

Retirement After War Suggested.

When the news got around that Mr. Roosevelt had slated Hull for the vice presidential nomination, speculation was revived on the possibility that the President would accept renomination with qualifications. It has been suggested by more than one Democratic leader reputed to be "close to the President" that, in order to take the curse of the violation of the antithird term tradition, Mr. Roosevelt will accept with the understanding that he shall resign after the passing of the war emergency and permit the Vice President to succeed him.

That arrangement, if Hull were named, would be regarded as specially tempting bait for conservative Democrats who otherwise might plump for Willkie.

THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

BOLT PREDICTED IF ROOSEVELT IS RENOMINATED

Report Farley Asks Glass' Support.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 11.—Six Democratic senators, it was learned on excellent authority tonight, will vote against President Roosevelt's nomination by the Chicago convention next week.

Senator Glass.

It was said this delegation plans to "take a walk" against the Roosevelt candidacy. The six intend to vote for Postmaster General James A. Farley, Vice President John N. Garner, or Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana when their states are called and to oppose any proposal to make the choice unanimous. Such a motion would be customary and probably will be made if, as seems likely, the choice falls on the President on the first ballot.

Senator Glass in Group.

Among the group is Senator Carter Glass of Virginia, who is expected to place Farley's name before the convention. It was said that Farley, who is Democratic national committeeman, had telephoned Senator Glass today from Chicago and requested him to make the nominating speech.

"If he [Farley] decides to have his name go before the convention," Glass said tonight, "it is altogether possible I will nominate him."

The other senators who will repudiate the third term step are Harry F. Byrd of Virginia, Bennett Champ Clark of Missouri, Millard E. Tydings of Maryland, Pat McCarran of Nevada and Ellison D. Smith of South Carolina.

Others Oppose Candidacy.

At least three other Democratic senators—Josiah W. Bailey of North Carolina, Frederick Van Nuys of Indiana, and Walter F. George of Georgia—would vote against Mr. Roosevelt if they were delegates. Van Nuys refused to be a delegate because the Indiana delegation was instructed to support a third term. Still other senators who are delegates would vote against Mr. Roosevelt if they were able to do so. In this category is Senator D. Worth Clark of Idaho, whose delegation is not only instructed for Roosevelt but bound by the unit rule.

In the house of representatives a third term petition circulated all this week by Representative Martin F. Smith of Washington had received only 77 signatures from the 269 Democratic members. Most of the signers were New Deal nonentities, including not one influential committee chairman. The only nominal leaders who signed the petition were Adolph J. Sabath of Illinois, chairman of the rules committee, and Patrick Boland of Pennsylvania, majority whip.

Clarifies Farley Statement.

The revelation that Farley had asked Senator Glass to place his name in nomination clarified his cryptic statement, "My position remains unchanged," after his interview with President Roosevelt at Hyde Park, N. Y., last Sunday. Farley previously had asserted his name would be presented to the convention regardless of Mr. Roosevelt's intentions but he refused to say that after his interview with Mr. Roosevelt.

Senator Glass has not made a major speech in the last two years, but his faculty for vehement expression remains unimpaired, and if he speaks at Chicago next week it undoubtedly will be the dramatic highlight of the convention.

Rebel Convention Planned.

New York, July 11 [Special].—John J. O'Connor, former Democratic congressman who was defeated in the Roosevelt "purge" in 1938, announced today the "Andrew Jackson" party, of which he is national chairman, will nominate its own ticket in Chicago at a separate convention in the event President Roosevelt is the Democratic nominee. O'Connor, who is a brother of Basil O'Connor, the President's former law partner, said reservations have been made at the Stevens hotel for delegates from the 48 states.

Germans Bomb Our Homes: England

BLIND DATE

PETAIN TO BEGIN RULE AS FRENCH DICTATOR TODAY

BERNE, Switzerland, July 11.—(AP)—Defeated France upset the hourglass tonight and turned back to the old provincial system of a bygone day, with an authoritarian base and a seat of government in the glittering Palace of Kings in German-occupied Versailles.

Marshal Petain.

"Capitalism and socialism are things of the past!" cried Marshal Henri Philippe Petain, 84 year old head of state by decree, in a radio address from Vichy heard over France and in neighboring countries. "It is now necessary to fight against all internationalism!"

Then he outlined France's new system, a strange medley of the political past and the political present.

To Succeed President.

After he had spoken the French radio announced that, effective tomorrow, Petain would succeed President Albert Lebrun as head of the French state and would become chief of the executive department of the government, a president and prime minister all in one. Lebrun thus would be cast into the discard.

Too, Petain will have full legislative power until a new chamber is formed and in case of serious internal or external crisis he is empowered to legislate without consulting the chamber at all.

Supplanting the dead French republic will be a government of 12 national ministers, headquartered at Versailles, but some of the ministries will function in Paris.

The powers Petain will assume are greater than any held since Napoleon III.

His powers will resemble those exercised by the dictator of Nationalist Spain, Francisco Franco. Petain will be backed, moreover, by a politically wise triumvirate, Pierre Laval, Adrien Marquet and Gen. Maxime Weygand.

Stripped of Power.

Each of the 30-odd French provinces—which were important units in royal France—will have its governor and complete civil staff, and the 90 prefects of departments will be stripped of much of their power.

As Petain told the country of his use of the powers to reform France, he coughed wearily and frequently into the microphone.

"The base of our new state must be work, the family and the fatherland," he declared.

"Attacked today by England, France is forced to make new sacrifices. I need your confidence."

Close to Monarchy.

The marshal said his government had asked the German government to free Versailles and various ministries in Paris, and that it was decided to establish the government in occupied territory "in order to settle a certain question of urgent character more easily."

The impression grew tonight among Frenchmen here that under the new governmental system France is closer to return of the monarchy than at any time since 1875.

The Duke de Guise, as head of the house of Orleans, and his son, the Count de Paris, are the active pretenders.

STRAFE STREETS OF TOWNS WITH MACHINE GUNS

24 Raiders Downed, British Claim.

LONDON, July 12, Friday (AP).—The struggle for mastery of the British skies, which may decide the fate of the land beneath them, surged to a new crest of violence yesterday and last night as German bombers raked England from coast to coast with machine guns and bombs.

For reasons of "security," the government did not disclose the number of casualties, but in an after-dusk renewal of the pounding of southern England alone 14 persons were killed and 47 others, including two French sailors, were wounded.

Say 22 Raiders Downed.

Altogether the British claimed 24 raiders shot down, 13 of them bombers, and "many more seriously damaged."

The late night communique said one squadron of Hurricanes alone bagged eight German planes and indicated that in the final count the raiders' losses might be well above 24. But uncounted other big bombers and their speedy swarms of escort fighters sliced thru, machine-gunning city streets and splintering homes with heavy explosives.

Whole towns shook with the force of the biggest blasts. In one southeast town eight heavy bombs smashed into a residential section.

Many Homes Wrecked.

In the northeast single communities had as many as 30 to 40 dwellings wrecked.

But the late day and after dusk attacks were concentrated largely on the southeast coast—nearest defense line to Nazi captured takeoff points for invasion of England.

The listing of two French sailors among the wounded was taken as a possible indication that harbor facilities or shipping in British ports bore part of the brunt of the attack.

A British announcement said the day raids could be split into two main actions, both fought over different parts of the south coast. The first lasted three hours, "before lunch," during which time 12 German planes were brought down.

Series of Dogfights.

The second, in the afternoon, scattered into a succession of dogfights. One patrol of Hurricanes fought a German fighter escort flight and downed one light plane and three guarded bombers.

The British acknowledged the loss of four planes.

In one northeastern town an inn was cut in half and a number of workmen's homes were smashed by bombs which apparently had been intended for an objective near by.

One of the night raids upon the southeastern areas was carried out by 20 German planes, but they were said to have been kept at a great height by antiaircraft fire. One of the bombs which this squadron dropped fell on an air post and killed all occupants.

Attack in Three Waves.

The attackers came over in three waves. British fighters were reported to have destroyed four of them.

Nazi gunners were said to have turned their weapons on civilians and a fire engine crew in a southeastern town and to have bombed and machine gunned cattle in a marsh.

On the south coast one German raider, hit by British gunfire, plunged meteorlike to the ground, machine and crew scattered to bits by the tremendous explosion from its loaded bomb racks.

Attack on Port.

Another dramatic episode occurred when German dive bombers, protected by fighter planes, swept in to attack a British convoy and a southwestern port. Seven of those planes attacking the port were brought down by four British fighters, while two of the craft attacking the convoy were brought down. Three British planes were lost in this phase of the battle.

The government restricted its official acknowledgement of casualties to a statement that there were "several" fatalities along with an undetermined number of wounded—"several" fatalities in each of the areas of southwest, southeast, and northeast England.

Hint Roosevelt May Be Here for Convention

It was indicated last night that President Roosevelt may come to Chicago before the close of the Democratic national convention, probably next Friday. No official confirmation of plans for his arrival was forthcoming, but two separate actions during the day seemed to indicate that a presidential visit is planned. They were:

1. Eight secret service men, who usually precede the President to make arrangements for his arrival, registered yesterday at a loop hotel.

2. The Congress hotel announced it is holding the presidential suite in reserve.

Committee Reserves Suite.

Officials of the hotel said they had no knowledge that the President would occupy the suite, but that the reservation had been made by the Democratic national committee.

It was learned that within the last few days the presidential suite on the second floor of the hotel has been redecorated and new furniture has been installed. The suite has three bedrooms, two parlors, a kitchen, and a bar.

Stayed There in 1932.

It was in this suite that Mr. Roosevelt stayed when he came to Chicago in 1932 to accept his first nomination for the presidency. His nomination for a third term would set a precedent and it was believed that he may be planning to come here to make his acceptance speech.

Officials said the Congress hotel is the most convenient for the President because the distance from the sidewalk to the elevator is shorter than that at any of the leading hotels.

ESKIMO IS FROZEN IN 6 FEET OF ICE, BUT IS COUNTED IN CENSUS

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, July 11 (AP).—A census enumerator wants to count a dead Eskimo—his body's frozen under six feet of ice—among the territory's residents.

It's like this, wrote Jens H. Forshaug, the enumerator:

The Eskimo last was seen alive Oct. 1. Forshaug plainly saw the body in the ice on the north Arctic coast. Under census regulations all persons living Oct. 1 were eligible for inclusion in enumerators' reports.

THE SKY IS THE LIMIT IN PURCHASE OF U. S. PLANES, BRITAIN TOLD

LONDON, July 11 (AP). — Lord Beaverbrook, minister of aircraft production, said in the house of lords tonight that "the sky is the limit" in the purchase of aircraft from America.

"Our program is perfectly simple," he said. "It is to buy everything we can possibly get."

Beaverbrook added that "in pursuit of that program, we have spent 10 million dollars a day every day that the aircraft ministry has been in existence since May 14.

"The Americans are up to date on their program. They have delivered to us so far everything they have promised and they are a little ahead of time."

HEAR U. S. TRIES TO AVERT CLASH AT MARTINIQUE

Washington, D. C., July 11 (AP).—A settlement removing the threat of British and French naval hostilities near the Caribbean island of Martinique appeared in prospect tonight thru the efforts of the United States.

Both Great Britain and France were said to be anxious to clear up what was described as an "explosive" situation growing out of a virtual British blockade of the French island. The aim of the British has been to prevent French ships and planes from escaping and falling into German hands.

Secretary of State Hull was understood to have intervened to seek a solution. It was expected the arrangement involves a French agreement to keep any warships or planes at Martinique or to allow them to be interned.

British Warn of Gunfire.

FORT DE FRANCE, Martinique, July 11 (AP).—The British cruiser Fiji arrived today and advised the populace not to be alarmed over the roar of guns they might hear—that it would be merely firing practice. The French, in response, asked that it be undertaken out of sight and sound. The British agreed.

War Brings Lisbon's Needy 10 Tons of Free Bananas

LISBON, Portugal, July 11 (AP).—The master of the French freighter Kilissi, tied up at Tagus since the French armistice, today offered the civil governor of Lisbon 10 tons of bananas for distribution among the poor.

Fix New Diet for British to Outlast Siege

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 11.—British scientists have worked out a minimum iron ration of food on which every person in the country can maintain his or her health in siege and at the same time fight and work.

This was announced today in the house of commons by R. S. Hudson, minister of agriculture. The daily diet, Hudson declared, was formulated by Sir John Orr. It consists of two-thirds of a pint of milk, six ounces of vegetables, 14 to 18 ounces of potatoes, two ounces of oatmeal [from Britain's own food resources], and 12 ounces of bread, one and one-quarter ounces of fat, and 2¼ ounces of sugar from foreign sources.

Lloyd George Protests.

Hudson's suggestion that the British people might find such a diet palatable provoked a strong protest from David Lloyd George, who was Britain's prime minister in the world war.

"You'll do more for the health of the country than the ministry of health ever could do if you restore the healthy diet of the peasant," Lloyd George said. "Put it on the tables of Mayfair and on the tables of the workers as well."

Enthusiastically and to the delight of the rest of commons, Lloyd George described peasant dishes congenial to the palate, including "hot potatoes or oatcakes in cold buttermilk." This concoction has a delicious sound in the Welsh language, being called "mlewsmall."

Good for 77 Years.

"It was the diet I was brought up on," the veteran member of parliament declared, "and it has lasted me for 77 years."

Hudson, in explaining the benefits of the diet scientifically compounded by Orr, said it would be sufficient for any person, even tho the "shipping position became so serious that we could import nothing but meat and fats."

The diet was discussed during a long debate on proposals for the agricultural bill. This bill, if enacted, will enable agricultural committees to "serve notice on a man to do a reasonable thing and, if he does not comply within a short time, to go in and do the job themselves and recover the costs from the ensuing crop or otherwise."

heard the far off thunder of exploding bombs and antiaircraft fire from the direction of Boulogne, France, across the narrow strait of Dover, and took comfort from the thought that their own air force must be striking back.

The British raided Boulogne airdrome at dawn yesterday and the air ministry announced that five German planes were believed to have been destroyed.

Watchers along the British coast said they saw the distant glow of one big fire after the sound of the bombing. They observed that three powerful searchlights the Germans used in previous raids did not appear this time, and might have been put out of action.

The British staged a daylight attack Wednesday on the airdromes of St. Omer and Amiens, France. Five planes failed to return. Airdomes, concentrations of barges and other military objectives in France and the Low Countries were bombed by the British yesterday, the air ministry said.

King Escapes Bombs.

King George of England escaped death or injury by only a few minutes in a German bombing raid at an undisclosed time and place in southern England, it was disclosed today. Where the king was visiting when the bombers roared over was not disclosed "for reasons of security," but it was indicated that he left the scene of heavy bombing only a matter of minutes before the raiders struck.

The admiralty reported that an Italian destroyer and "a hulk of the type generally used as a depot or store ship" were sunk Wednesday by British warplanes in a raid on an Italian harbor north of Augusta, Sicily.

Campaign Proportions.

BERLIN, July 11 (AP).—With the "starvation blockade" of Great Britain well under way, Germany's nightly air raids, hitting southern England's airports, munitions factories and harbors, have been intensified almost to campaign porportions. Military objectives at Plymouth, Swansea, Pembroke, and Portland were bombed yesterday and last night.

Thirty-five British planes and a barrage balloon were reported shot down in air battles yesterday. Seven German planes were acknowledged missing.

EXPOSES PLOT TO SMASH MARKER OF 'BLACK HOLE'

LONDON, July 11 (AP).—A plan to demolish the monument to Europeans who died in the "black hole" of Calcutta nearly two centuries ago caused the arrest of the Indian leftist leader Subhas Chandra Bose, it was revealed in the house of commons today.

Bose was jailed on July 2, but at that time it was announced merely that he had been arrested under the defense of India regulations. Today L. S. Amery, secretary for India, told the house Bose was arrested because he planned to wipe out the memorial.

The "black hole" was a guardroom, 18 by 14 feet, into which 146 European prisoners were crowded during intense summer heat when the nawab of Bengal captured Calcutta in 1756. Next day only 23 of them were taken out alive. A black marble slab marks the spot and a monument erected in 1902 commemorates their martyrdom.

Madeleine Carroll Returns from Europe Via Clipper

New York, July 11 [Special].—Madeleine Carroll, blonde movie star, arrived here today on the Atlantic Clipper from Lisbon, Portugal. Among her 15 fellow passengers on the flying boat was Archduke Otto of Hapsburg, pretender to the nonexistent Austrian throne.

Miss Carroll left New York by Clipper on June 16 to visit her château in Saudreville, 20 miles southwest of Paris, and to bring back one of the orphans sheltered there. When she arrived at Hendaye, on the French-Spanish border, she heard of the Nazi occupation of Paris, she said, and decided to visit relatives in Biarritz. From there, she motored to Spain and then to Portugal.

Seize Deserter from Army in Stolen Car Near La Porte

A soldier who deserted the army at Fort Sheridan in June was arrested in a stolen car yesterday by the Indiana state police in route 6 west of La Porte, Ind. He is Ted Ploehn, 19 years old, of Battle Creek, Mich. Ploehn admitted he had stolen and wrecked another car in Bryan, O. Police said he would be turned over to military authority, but that an auto theft charge against him would be pressed.

U-BOATS EXCEED WORLD WAR RATE OF SINKING: NAZIS

100,000 Tons Destroyed a Week, They Claim.

Admits British Peril

LONDON, July 11 (AP).—R. S. Hudson, minister of agriculture, told commons today that Britain was facing a crisis immeasurably more serious than in 1914, and said food production must be increased in the next year lest millions go hungry.

Britain, he added, would continue to eat, however, in spite of German efforts to blockade the islands.

"We shall have maintained our milk supply and our cattle and sheep populations," he said, "and we have both a reserve of meat on the hoof and a large additional store of cereals in stacks and barns for whatever emergency arises this winter."

BERLIN, July 11 (AP).—Germany proclaimed tonight that her U-boats, bent on a starvation blockade of England, had exceeded even the rate of imperial Germany's unrestricted underseas campaign of the world war in destruction of British ships and British food.

In the six weeks' period ended July 8, said a communique, 609,000 tons of "enemy commercial shipping" was sent to the bottom by submarines alone. This quickened tempo was attributed to the "favorable bases" which Germany acquired on the English channel and Atlantic coasts after knocking out France.

Exceeds 100,000 Tons a Week.

The claimed rate of destruction thus was more than 100,000 tons a week, against a weekly average of less than 65,000 tons lost by the United Kingdom by action of every kind during the 21 montn period of unrestricted U-boat warfare loosed by Germany in February, 1917.

Merchantmen sunk by the air force were not included in the high command's figures, altho bombers have been busy for weeks, especially against convoys. Only today it was announced that German flyers had raided harbor facilities, airports, and armament factories in the south and southwest English coasts.

Summary of Whole War.

Summarizing naval activity against British commerce since the beginning of the war, the authoritative commentary service Dienst aus Deutschland asserted 3,000,000 tons of neutral and "enemy" vessels had been destroyed. The loss, it added, was reflected by "the appearance of numerous shortages" in England.

[The British, who lost 7,830,765 tons in the entire world war, have acknowledged losses in the present war which total nearly 1,000,000 tons.]

Dienst aus Deutschland classified the destruction thus far of allied and neutral shipping as follows:

One million nine hundred and twenty thousand tons sunk by mines and torpedoes.

One million three hundred and sixty-two thousand tons sunk by surface craft.

Cite Heavy Imports.

DNB, the German news agency, drew a figure-picture of British import dependency to show how hard the German "starvation blockade" has hit England.

It said the British had to import 80 per cent of the goods needed for nutritive economy; as much as 100 per cent of raw materials for some war industries; and, before the war, brought 96 per cent of their oil products from overseas, with domestic refineries processing but 4 per cent of the demand.

Firm to Bring Its British Employes' Children to U. S.

Pittsburgh, Pa., July 11 (AP).—Howard Heinz, president of the H. J. Heinz company, has invited several thousand children of Heinz employés in England to the United States and Canada for the duration of the war, it was announced tonight. Expenses of the trip and costs of providing homes for the children will be borne by the company. Heinz is a member of the National Child Refugee committee.

GERMANS TO FREE U. S. AMBULANCE DRIVERS IN WAR

Many to Come Home in Short Time.

BERLIN, July 11 (AP).—All American ambulance drivers known to be in German hands are to be freed promptly, some after trying experiences, the German high command informed the United States embassy today.

Four who were missing many weeks finally were located in Brussels. After their capture, these men continued to assist British and French wounded behind the German lines until all had been cared for.

The high command said release of the drivers awaited arrangements for transportation home. The embassy now is wiring relatives for funds.

Help Care for Wounded.

The four who have just been found at Brussels are George F. J. King [a native of Providence, R. I.], Donald Q. Coster of Montreal and New York, John Clement of Wayland, Mass., and Gregory H. Wait of Shelburne, Vt.

[The American field service offices in New York announced July 5 that all four were among 15 drivers awarded the Croix de Guerre for acts of heroism and devotion under dangerous and difficult conditions.]

Captured in one group in the vicinity of Amiens about May 20, the four were sent to the rear in charge of a German soldier. King's request that they be taken to German officers was granted and they were allowed to resume the relief of British and French wounded at the rear of German lines. Subsequently they were placed in charge of John Cudahy, American ambassador to Belgium. There they were issued passports and given the run of the town.

Clement and Wait have started for Lisbon.

Chicagoans are Listed.

In a prison camp near Dresden are Murray Shipley, whose mother's address is Cincinnati, O.; Louis Wehrle of Fort Wayne, Ind., with his brother, Andre Wehrle of University avenue, Chicago, and Albert Raymond, formerly of Chicago.

The German high command says also that Peter Upton Muir, of Waterford, London county, Virginia, and Herbert Debelle, address unknown, are on their way to Dresden after their capture with French troops.

Lawrence Jump, Dartmouth graduate, a brother of Dr. Ellis Jump of 6128 Woodlawn avenue, Chicago, is resting at the United States consulate at Stuttgart after many weeks in a prison camp in that vicinity. He will be allowed to leave Germany.

When Raymond and Louis Wehrle were captured Shipley managed to escape in the vicinity of Laon. He spent two days and nights hiding in the fields without food, and then surrendered.

Many Drivers at Lisbon.

PARIS, July 8 [Delayed, via Berlin] (AP).—Maurice Barber, director of the American field service in France, said today that all 37 members of the American ambulance drivers corps in France are safe and well. Most are en route to Lisbon to return to the United States.

British Gossips Must Pay Into 'Chatterbox' Fund

LONDON, July 11 (AP).—Every man, woman, and child in Britain is to be organized into a silent column pledged to kill war rumors. Talkers taken to task by hearers will be "invited to make contributions to charity" by dropping coins into "chatterboxes" in public places. The campaign will be started tomorrow.

BRITAIN REFUSES TO LIFT BLOCKADE TO AID AMERICAS

Warns It Won't Let Nazis Get Their Surpluses.

LONDON, July 11.—Great Britain tonight made it clear to the American nations whose representatives will convene at Havana July 20 to discuss ways of disposing of their surplus commodities that under no circumstances could she relax her blockade of Germany and German occupied countries.

The ministry of economic warfare said, "While the Havana conference is not concerned with any of these questions, in the face of the ruthless German blockade of the United Kingdom it will not be for us to relax any of our blockade measures, but rather to persevere with them to the utmost, believing that any relaxation would serve to lengthen the war."

Surplus Problem Accentuated.

Ministry officials said Britain had the "greatest sympathy" with the purposes of the Pan American conference, and observed that because of the war the America's surplus problem had been accentuated. They pointed out that the same problem had arisen with British and other colonial territories, and said steps were being taken to see whether Britain could not coöperate with the American nations to solve it.

If, however, any American nation seeks to try to get rid of its surplus goods by shipping them to any country under German control, directly or indirectly, the British said, "these shipments will be intercepted by our contraband control."

Spain a Vital Element.

An important element in the question, ministry officials said, is Spain, which now has a common frontier with German occupied France. British and Spanish officials are discussing what can be done to assure England that the Germans do not replenish their oil, gasoline, and mineral supplies thru Spain, and to assure that Spain gets all the goods she needs from overseas.

The British already have acted to assure that no surplus gasoline and oil reach Spain, but it is said to be difficult for the British to bear down too hard since they need Spain's mercury to manufacture shells.

Financial Problems Arise.

Financial problems also have arisen since Germany's occupation of France.

Because part of France's gold is in London and part in the United States, an official of the British treasury, Sir Frederick Phillips, is en route to Washington, D. C., to discuss exchange control and blocked accounts. The United States is blocking France's accounts despite its recognition of the Petain government in unoccupied France.

French Airliner Reported Lost on Asiatic Flight

LONDON, July 11 (AP).—A Reuters [British] news agency dispatch from Batavia, Netherlands East Indies, said passengers arriving today by airplane from French Indo-China reported that an Air France liner disappeared Monday on its way from Hanoi to Hongkong. No further details were given.

20 Survivors of Torpedoed Tanker Land at Irish Port

LONDON, July 11 (AP).—Twenty survivors of the British motorship tanker Athellaird, 8,999 tons, which was torpedoed on July 2, about 400 miles southwest of Ireland, arrived tonight at an Irish port. Another lifeboat carrying the captain and 21 other men had been picked up by an unidentified ship.

FIRE CUBAN ARMY CHIEFS IN MOVE FOR FAIR BALLOT

Batista's Foe Tells of Threats to Voters.

BY GUSTAVO RENO.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Cuba, July 11.—Cuba swung into a heated windup of the election campaign today as the voters prepared to go to the polls next Sunday to choose between former President Ramon Grau San Martin and Col. Fulgencio Batista for the presidency of the republic.

Charges were made by Grau San Martin that numerous acts of partisanship had been shown by the military forces. He accused military leaders of threatening to whip citizens who failed to vote for Batista.

Announces Shakeup.

President Federico Laredo Bru conferred for three hours with Col. José Pedraza, chief of staff, and then announced a shakeup in the army to "guarantee its impartiality in the election."

Lieut. Col. Raimundo Ferrer was ousted as commander of the army in Camaguey province. Grau San Martin had accused him of threatening to hang José Palmero Diaz, candidate for Camaguey's governorship, if he were elected. Lieut. Col. Pio Donoso was relieved of command of the forces in Santa Clara province after Pedraza investigated an accusation that he had publicly announced his intention to burn the opposition's headquarters at Santa Clara if its affiliates decided to go to the polls Sunday.

Commanders Removed.

Commanders of military posts at Moron, Neuvitas, Cienfuegos, Holguin, Cardenas, Matanzas City, and Artemisa were removed after similar charges were substantiated.

First Sergeant Eleuterio Valdes, in charge of the army post at Mir, Oriente province, was arrested and charged with conspiracy in the kidnaping of a candidate for mayor.

Lieut. Nicolas Mendoza, army commander at Baracoa, was arrested when he was found guilty of stealing arms to assist Batista's partisans.

HULL CHARGES INTIMIDATION BY GERMAN AGENTS

They Are Busy in Central America, He Says.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 11.—Secretary of State Cordell Hull charged today that German diplomatic agents apparently are trying to intimidate Central American governments which intend to participate in the Havana conference later this month.

Certain Latin American nations have been warned against taking any action at the conference, beginning July 20, which might be considered anti-Nazi, according to reports he has had, Hull said.

He asserted that the warnings apparently were a species of intimidation against nations whose sovereignty, integrity, and freedom of action were entitled to respect by all other nations. Hull said that the forthcoming Pan-American conference was called to discuss solely matters relating to those American nations.

Concerning Cartel Extension.

The secretary also told a press conference that this government has had no conversations or discussions with the British government on the subject of extending the proposed cartel plan for regulating and disposing of commodity surplus of the American republics to include the natural resources of British possessions in this hemisphere.

He said that almost every week some nation has advanced suggestions for the consideration of other countries and that the reported suggestion of the British government to include possessions in the scope of the cartel, which will be discussed at the conference, should be considered in this light.

He'll Confer with Briton.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr. announced today that upon his invitation Sir Frederick Phillips, British undersecretary of the treasury, will arrive in Washington soon for a visit.

"This meeting will provide the occasion for discussion of technical and other questions of the American and British treasuries," Morgenthau said.

It was considered likely that some new financial and monetary arrangements with the British will be discussed, inasmuch as the old tripartite agreement has gone out the window with capitulation of most of its participants to the Nazis.

BURIED IN NAZI RAID, GIRLS LIVE FOR WEEKS ON CANDY, LEMONADE

New York, July 11 (AP).—A number of girls trapped in the cellar of a bombed chocolate factory when German planes attacked Rotterdam May 14 lived on chocolate, biscuits, and lemonade until they were dug out weeks later, according to a British Broadcasting corporation broadcast heard here today.

The B. B. C. reported a statement released in London said wreckage left by the bombardment still is being cleared up seven weeks after the attack, and that the Nazi raiders took a toll of 30,000 lives. The Dutch legation in Paris announced May 19 that the death toll was at least 100,000. On May 23 it was reported that official German figures placed the dead at 354.

The B. B. C. said only three buildings were left standing in an area of nearly two squares miles, and that for three weeks after the Nazi air attack victims were recovered at the rate of 300 a day.

FINNS ACCEDE TO REDS, BLAST AALAND FORTS

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, July 11.—Acceding to soviet Russia's demands, Finland has bagun demilitarization of the Aaland Islands. Informed quarters said today that the Finns have been blowing up concrete gun emplacements and other heavy fortifications.

Russia originally had agreed to allow Finland to fortify the islands, and the Finns had begun strengthening them after conclusion of the Russo-Finnish war.

Strategically situated at the entrance of the Gulf of Bothnia, the islands control the route whereby Swedish iron ore can be shipped to Germany during the ice-free summer months. Dismantlement of the fortifications and reëstablishment of the status of the islands as defined by an international non-fortification treaty agreed to in 1921, is understood to be acceptable to Sweden.

RUMANIA BLOCKS DEPARTURE OF 50 BRITISH TANKERS

Seeks to Obtain Control of Oil Interests.

BUCHAREST, Rumania, July 11 (AP).—The pro-Nazi Rumanian navy threw its weight into the oil scales against Great Britain today.

Gunboats of King Carol's fleet mounted guard over 50 British tankers lying idle in Rumanian ports, to prevent them from sailing to more hospitable waters.

It was another move in the series of recent actions designed to forestall any British attempt to keep British-owned oil and other British property from falling into the hands of Hitler.

Last week numerous British oil men were ordered to leave Rumania, apparently as a precaution against possible attempt to wreck the British owned wells. Later a decree was issued forbidding the unauthorized sale in foreign countries of shares in Rumanian enterprises, thus blocking a reported British plan to keep British wells out of Hitler's hands by transferring title to Moscow.

Invitation to Visit Berlin.

Now, apparently, it is going to be impossible for the British to withdraw even their tankers from the German-dominated Danube area.

Foreign Minister Mihail Manoiliscu was reported in diplomatic quarters to have received an invitation to fly to Berlin to discuss Rumania's foreign policy—particularly in the light of Hungarian demands for the Rumanian province of Transylvania.

It was also reported Manoiliscu would ask German consideration for a plan whereby Russia would be asked to return the newly-ceded northern Bukovina to be set aside as a semiautonomous Rumanian state for 100,000 Germans now living in Bessarabia.

The foreign minister, government quarters said, would argue that Russia had no just claim in the first place on Bukovina and that the entire German minority problem in this section of Europe could be solved by its return.

Hungary Postpones Claims.

BUDAPEST, Hungary, July 11 (AP).—The precarious peace of southeastern Europe, hanging by a thread since Russia's Bessarabian grab, seemed assured of at least temporary continuance tonight. Hungary and Bulgaria again have postponed their territorial claims of Rumania, in deference to Germany's desires:

1. To maintain southeastern Europe on a full production basis for the Nazi war machine during the battle to conquer Britain.

2. To keep soviet Russia from using Danubian confusion as an opening for another snatch of strategic territory on the third reich's "living space" frontier.

The sudden switch about apparently came early Wednesday—about the time confident Prime Minister Paul Teleki and his Foreign Minister, Count Stephan Csaky were traveling to Munich, expecting Germany and Italy would indorse Hungary's dream of immediate acquisition of the province of Transylvania.

Today the Hungarian ministers returned to Budapest, their claims on Rumania shoved into the background by stern words from Adolf Hitler.

Bulgaria Confident.

SOFIA, Bulgaria, July 11.—Bulgarian newspapers today hinted that a "great event" is about to transpire for this country. Political circles expressed confidence that Bulgaria will obtain strong support from Germany and Italy for its territorial claims against Rumania. Gen. Nicola Jekoff, commander in chief of the Bulgarian army in the world war, will leave for Germany tomorrow accompanied by the German military attaché.

ARMY 75S BLOW 2 TANKS APART IN FORT LEWIS TEST

Fort Lewis, Wash., July 11 (AP).—The army now knows from first hand observation the effectiveness of 75 millimeter shrapnel shells fired point blank at a moving target.

Two world war tanks were blown to pieces in a demonstration by gunners of the 10th field artillery. Only two or three shots were required to put the tanks out of action. Artillerymen then pounded them to bits at their leisure.

Officers said that as far as they could recall this was the first time tanks had been used as moving targets.

The tanks were protected with armor plate five eighths of an inch thick, which proved ineffective. A projectile penetrated one of the tanks and exploded inside.

ASSURES BRITISH FRIENDLINESS OF RUSSIA GROWS

Reveals Move to Halt Aid to Nazis.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 11.—Great Britain was assured tonight that friendship with Russia was growing and that "constructive coöperation" continued with Turkey.

Richard A. Butler, undersecretary for foreign affairs, told the house of commons that the "policy of the British government has been and remains to improve and strengthen relations" with Russia and that the "success of this policy has appeared more likely since March."

At that time, he said, Russia "made a friendly approach to the government and proposed resumption of trade negotiations."

Hope to Remove Dangers.

"It is to be hoped," he added, "that discussions on which Sir Stafford Cripps [British ambassador to Moscow] is at present engaged may remove the danger of the soviet government working either economically or militarily against Great Britain in the interests of Germany."

Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax, in the house of lords, declared that Britain remains bound to Turkey "by the closest ties." He described the mutual assistance pact with Turkey as a "fruitful basis of constructive cooperation between us."

"I am encouraged to think we are showing ourselves capable of affording assistance and protection to our friends and allies in that part of the world," he declared.

Halifax said Britain never had pressed Egypt to declare war on Italy and asserted that reports to that effect were "enemy propaganda." He described Egypt's relations with Italy and Germany as not requiring war declaration, owing to the fact that fulfillment of the Egyptian alliance with Britain has been done without this.

Discuss Balkan Moves.

Strong British reënforcements in Egypt were there at the request of the Egyptian government, he said, and declared that it is "obvious they would conduct operations against Italy from Egyptian territory."

Before Viscount Halifax and Butler spoke, the Russian ambassador, Ivan Maisky, called at the foreign office where he had a long conversation with Halifax in which developments in the Balkans were reviewed.

The declarations by Butler and Halifax were seen in some circles as an effort to restore confidence in traditional Turkish-Russian friendship. It was believed that Russia is antagonistic to the axis powers and, with Turkey, serves as a natural buffer against any contemplated Italo-German drive into the rich Mosul oil fields of Iraq.

Senator Would Send Alien Criminals to Devil's Island

Washington, D. C., July 11 (AP).—Senator Robert R. Reynolds [D., N. C.] proposed in the senate today that the United States acquire "Devil's Island," the French penal colony off the coast of South America, as a place to confine alien criminals. He suggested that the island be accepted in part payment of France's war debt.

EIGHT REBELLIOUS SEAMEN DECIDE TO REJOIN DUTCH SHIP

Sandusky, O., July 11 (AP).—Christian Van Der Eyck of Rotterdam, master of the Dutch freighter Prins Willem II., today regained eight members of his rebellious crew of 20 which last week refused to take the coal laden ship to Montreal in fear of British internment. He reported their capitulation as United States immigration officers quizzed the seamen, jailed last Friday when Van Der Eyck complained to authorities of mutiny and threatened sabotage.

Twelve crew members will be deported to a Netherlands possession, John Biesiot, immigration inspector, announced after a conference with the 20 men in the county jail.

Fixing Saturday as a tentative sailing date, the skipper said that Netherlands consular officials in Montreal had assured him no crewmen would be interned in the absence of a specific request from him.

Pending, meanwhile, were attachments totaling $1,900 against the 2,500 ton vessel, filed by an attorney for the crew on its protest the sum was due in wages.

VINCENT ASTOR'S MOTHER REGAINS U. S. CITIZENSHIP

New York, July 11 [Special].—White-haired Lady Ribblesdale, the former Mrs. John Jacob Astor and mother of Vincent Astor, today was repatriated as plain Ava Ribblesdale in a steaming federal courtroom. In chorus with 250 other aliens she took the usual oath. Then in a separate oath, which the court clerk fleetingly administered unnoticed by the other new citizens, Lady Ribblesdale swore to renounce the title of nobility she gained in 1919 by marrying Britain's most picturesque peer.

Lady Ribblesdale is credited with the two prize matrimonial catches of her generation, Col. Astor, whom she divorced after 10 years, and Lord Ribblesdale.

Shortly after her divorce from Col. Astor, she shocked Queen Mary by wearing a close-fitting gown at a court ball. The next day the Queen cut her short in Hyde Park.

DELAY DECISION ON PLAN TO MOVE BRITISH CHILDREN

Statement to Commons on Tuesday Promised.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 11.—Plans for moving British children to safety overseas—in the dominions and the United States—were up in the air tonight, but there was a delay of any decision to abandon the scheme.

It had been expected that some statement on the plan would be made to the house of commons, today, but, instead, it was announced that on Tuesday Maj. Clement R. Attlee, lord privy seal, would clarify the status of the scheme.

Fears prevailed that abandonment of the scheme would result in a disappointing reaction in America. This was believed responsible for the delay of a move to drop the project as impracticable because of lack of ships, lack of convoy ships and the dangers of submarine infested waters.

Restrictions Removed.

Newspapers here give the impression that "American restrictions are standing in the way," but THE TRIBUNE has been informed that 50,000 children can be sent to the United States under the quota allowed Britain, a quota which is now wide open.

The fact that the government scheme to send children to the dominions has not even started seemingly is proof that the obstacle is not "restrictions," but the difficulties of safe passage.

There have been some suggestions in commons that the United States furnish both ships and convoys.

CHICAGO CONTINUES PLANS.

Chicago agencies coöperating in the program of finding temporary homes in this country for child war refugees from England announced last night that they would go ahead with their work pending definite word that British authorities had decided to countermand the project.

M. K. Reckord, nominated as chairman of the Chicago division of the United States Committee for the Care of European Children, said he had received word from Marshall Field III., national chairman in New York, to proceed. Reckord said he felt sure "Mr. Field had an understanding that children are coming or are now on their way."

Edwin H. Cassels, chairman of the child refugee aid committee of the English Speaking union, said that that organization would continue as long as there was any need for it.

Visas Not Exhausted.

Meanwhile Secretary of State Cordell Hull assured Chicagoans in a telegram that visas had been sought in Britain for only a small fraction of the 13,000 children who could leave there under quota by Aug. 1, and that relaxation of quota requirements was not necessary until the present quota had been approximated.

In New York, after a meeting of the national committee, Chairman Field said it would be unfortunate if Americans who planned to take care of foreign children became discouraged by rumors. He predicted that England and America would iron out technical difficulties.

One of the conferees was the Most Rev. Bernard J. Sheil, auxiliary bishop of Chicago, who said that plans were being made to care for the children of poor parents. Chicago, he asserted, would be ready to take care of its quota when the children arrived.

DE VALERA'S 'NO!' ON DEFENSE PLAN TOLD TO ULSTER

Premier Stands Firm on Neutrality Edict.

BY HUGH CURRAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DUBLIN, Ireland, July 11.—The parliament in Belfast today heard from the lips of Lord Craigavon, premier of Northern Ireland, what it has known for days, that Eamon de Valera, premier of Ireland, remains firm in his rejection of Ulster's offer of joint defense of North and South Ireland.

De Valera's persistent stand has been that Ireland must maintain strict neutrality, which his people would be prepared to defend. Fear has been expressed in Ireland that it would lose at least a measure of its independence if it went along all the way with Great Britain's defense plans. De Valera has been willing to join Ulster in a defense of neutrality only.

Warns of Dangers.

Craigavon asserted that De Valera's demand for subjection of the north to Ireland would mean the substitution of the republican neutral government for British citizenship and the Union Jack and removal of British troops from Northern Ireland, which, Craigavon said, was "unthinkable." Craigavon added that such a scheme would encourage enemy invaders to use the territory as a base against Britain.

Defense could only be assured, Craigavon asserted, by coöperation by Ireland, Northern Ireland, and Britain, and unless Ireland sought and obtained British military assistance it would be open to attack by Germany.

Ireland's Army Strong.

The final rejection of the scheme outlined by the premier of Northern Ireland marks the end of the efforts during past weeks to commit Ireland to a stand of belligerency against Germany.

Ireland's force is not negligible. All the regular forces and the reserves are on a war footing, supported by volunteers totaling 100,000. These are not the irregular and untrained bodies of the Black and Tan war, but highly efficient and armed. They are expected to give a good account, if and when called upon.

The question often asked, "Who is the enemy?" has been answered by De Valera thus, "Whoever comes first will be our immediate enemy." De Valera's hint is applicable to either belligerent. It is interpreted as stressing the already declared position of the country as neutral and its determination to resist any invader, whoever he may be.

WIFE OF PRESIDENT URGED TO HALT AID FOR YOUTH CONGRESS

New York, July 11 [Special].—Alfred M. Lilienthal, attorney and old foe of the American Youth Congress, made public today an open letter to Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt imploring her to "cease your support of the American Youth Congress" which, he said, has been clearly shown to be "a communist controlled and communist dominated organization."

Lilienthal asked Mrs. Roosevelt to issue a call for youth groups and youth-serving agencies to join in the formation of a "new constructive organization" in which various groups not now participating in the Youth Congress could be enlisted.

Washington, D. C., July 11.—As congress today sent a 4 billion dollar fleet expansion bill to the White House, it received a special committee report which asserted the eastern coast defenses of the United States are in "a deplorably weak condition."

Representative Vinson, naval affairs chairman.

The immediate acquisition and fortification of naval and air bases in Nova Scotia and Bermuda, territory under British control, was one of the far reaching proposals made in the report by a house military affairs subcommittee which has just completed a survey of coast defenses.

An air and naval base in Nova Scotia was urged particularly by the subcommittee, which noted that that area is the strategic point for an invading force to start its offensive.

Guns Called Obsolescent.

The report on coast defenses caused much discussion in congress. The survey had showed, the report said, that coastal gun batteries are obsolescent and should be replaced immediately. The northeast Atlantic region, with its densely populated manufacturing centers, is wide open to attack from the sea and from the air. The subcommittee, in addition to recommending modernization of coastal defenses, advised the creation of a mobile army corps of two armored divisions to be stationed at all times in New England.

In all, 10 recommendations were made for supplementing the present defense program. They were:

1. Immediate increase of the enlisted men and officer personnel of existing harbor defenses.

2. Immediate rehabilitation of serviceable guns, and construction of such protection as is possible for all batteries against bombs or bomb splinters. The report stated that the mechanism of elevating and traversing the guns appeared particularly vulnerable to bomb splinters.

New Air Fields Sought.

3. Improvement of existing air fields and construction of new ones for use of larger air forces. Landing fields should be of sod and indistinguishable from surrounding territory.

4. Speeding up of acquisition of mobile antiaircraft material, aircraft, motor torpedo boats of the navy, mines, fire control equipment and heavy, modern long range seacoast batteries.

5. Procurement of equipment and organization and training of personnel for fixing antiaircraft batteries of large caliber around large cities.

6. Organization and equipment as rapidly as possible of additional mechanized divisions of the regular army. At least one corps, consisting of two armored divisions with medium and mobile artillery, should be maintained at all times in the New England area.

Other Coasts Mentioned.

7. Training of personnel in mine planting.

8. An immediate study of camouflage with the idea of adopting the same to natural surroundings.

9. The acquisition and fortification of air bases and bases for the American fleet in Nova Scotia and Bermuda.

10. A program of progressive replacement of obsolescent guns and equipment to begin as soon as possible.

While the subcommittee toured only the eastern Atlantic coast, members said their knowledge of coast defenses elsewhere was such as to lead them to recommend this program for all coasts of the continental United States.

Changes in Navy Bill O.K.'d.

The fleet expansion bill, providing a two ocean navy of 701 warships, was made ready for President Roosevelt's signature when the house accepted minor senate changes without discussion or a vote. The senate passed the bill yesterday. The measure authorizes the increase of the present fleet to a mighty armada containing 35 battleships, 20 aircraft carriers, 88 cruisers, 378 destroyers and 180 submarines. Funds for laying down the keels of the new vessels are to be provided in the administration's new request for an extra $4,848,000,000 for the army and navy which was transmitted to congress yesterday.

The estimated total cost of the entire naval expansion program, including ships now being built, was placed at 10 billions of dollars by Senator David I. Walsh [D., Mass.], chairman of the naval affairs committee.

Both Houses Recess.

Among the minor changes made by the senate in the naval expansion measure accepted by the house was an increase of the authorization for gun factories from $50,000,000 to $65,000,000. Chairman Carl Vinson [D., Ga.] of the house naval affairs committee named Chicago, Milwaukee, and St. Louis as probable sites for three of these factories.

At least six years will be required to complete the program. Admiral Harold R. Stark, chief of naval operations has asserted. When it is finished, the navy will have sufficient ships to keep a fleet in both the Atlantic and Pacific to meet a simultaneous attack.

At the close of today's sessions, both houses recessed until July 22 for the Democratic national convention in Chicago. Consideration of Mr. Roosevelt's latest defense proposals, calling for equipment to put a force of 2,000,000 men into the field, was deferred until congress returns.

Interferes With TVA Bill.

The congressional recess interfered with the passage of a bill labeled by William S. Knudsen and Edward R. Stettinius Jr. of the national defense council as vital to the defense program. The measure will appropriate $25,000,000 for the Tennessee Valley authority to enlarge power plants to be used for the production of aluminum, one of the principal materials used in airplane production.

When Majority Leader Sam Rayburn sought unanimous consent to bring up this bill, Representative Donald H. McLean [R., N. J.] objected. Rayburn refused to invoke other methods of procedure to bring the bill to the floor, saying that he had promised at least 100 absent Democrats that the house would not consider any legislation except by the unanimous consent route.

Italy Concedes Loss of 151 Aviators in War on Britain

ROME, July 11 (AP).—Italy, neck deep now in war, listed heavy man power losses in air and sea today and combined them with claims of damaging bomb hits on the world's mightiest warship, Britain's 42,100-ton battle cruiser Hood, and the 22,000-ton British aircraft carrier Ark Royal.

Military headquarters said 151 Italian flyers were lost and 103 wounded in the first 20 days of war against Britain.

Italy's air chief, Gen. Francisco Pricolo, disclosed that a great part of the Italian aerial force of 300 planes which fought the British fleet in the Mediterranean early this week had come home damaged, with wounded aboard, and that three planes had not come home at all.

Admit Motorship Burned.

The burning and sinking of the Italian motorship Paganini, off Durazzo, Albania, June 28 was acknowledged, with the loss of 220 Italian officers and men. The cause was withheld.

The Italians said the Hood was bombed and set afire and the Ark Royal struck twice with bombs south of the Balearic islands Tuesday. This was about the time that other Italian and British naval units were fighting a hot, 6-hour battle in the Ionian sea.

[The British deny that any of their ships were damaged.]

The Revised Score.

The new and belated Italian communique announcing successful action against the Hood and Ark Royal revised the score of the developing battle of the Mediterranean as follows:

Italian successes claimed: Damage to the Hood and Ark Royal; a sinking "believed" to have occurred, "probably a battleship"; the sinking of a destroyer and bomb damage to an unspecified number of other warships, classifications not given.

Italian losses acknowledged: The 1,073 ton destroyer Zeffiro; a submarine; three planes and a British hit on a warship that killed 29 and injured 69.

JAPS REMOVE CARGO OF MUNITIONS, THEN RELEASE BRITISH SHIP

SHANGHAI, July 11 (AP).—The 3,000-ton British steamer Shenking was released by Japanese authorities today in an amicable settlement of an arms traffic dispute. The vessel was released after 794 packages of ammunition had been removed to Japanese naval lighters.

The Japanese seized the vessel on July 9 with a protest to British authorities that it was carrying munitions belonging "to a certain belligerent country" to Japanese-occupied territory.

British circles replied that the Shenking was carrying rifle ammunition from the French concession at Tientsin to the French concession here, and that the Japanese at Tientsin had approved the manifest and given the Shenking clearance papers.

BRITONS COMBAT BOMB FIRES WITH GARDEN SPRAYS

LONDON, July 11.—British householders, now forewarned what an incendiary bomb attack means, are scurrying to obtain that old-fashioned enemy of garden pests—the stirrup pump—which is something like an auto tire pump and sprays water from a bucket.

Experts have discovered that small German incendiary bombs composed of aluminum and iron oxide, which raiders have been dropping like hail, are aggravated by an ordinary hose but succumb in about five minutes to the fine spray fed from a water bucket. So great has been the rush for the pumps that London stores will not guarantee delivery under three months.

Authorities have requisitioned a number of pumps, and hold demonstrations nightly, forming squads among householders on every street to pounce upon any incendiary bomb the moment it falls.

Uruguay Gets Law Making Army Training Compulsory

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, July 11 (AP).—The chamber of deputies today approved a bill requiring compulsory military service. The senate already had passed it. Uruguay thus will become one of the few Latin American states requiring army service of its youth.

WAR DEPARTMENT WILL RECOMMEND TRAINING FOR ALL

Senators to Hear Its Stand Today.

Washington, D. C., July 11 (AP).—The war department went on record as favoring compulsory military training today, when Gen. George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, expressed the view that the armed forces could not be built up to "essential" strength by voluntary enlistments.

Marshall is scheduled to testify tomorrow before a senate committee on the Burke-Wadsworth training bill, and he indicated in talking to reporters that the war department would indorse it with "minor" amendments.

Wants Army of 500,000.

It was understood that the army chief favored an army of 500,000 men or more. The army now is working toward a goal of 280,000 enlisted men by Aug. 30.

The Burke-Wadsworth bill provides for eight months of compulsory combat training, but Marshall said the war department favored a longer period.

The senate military committee heard the compulsory training measure criticized today as an attempt to "Hitlerize" America, while the house military committee was told that it was needed because the country "was facing the greatest menace in all history."

Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate for president, contended before the senate group that compulsory training would lead "straight to militarism, imperialism, and ultimately to American fascism and war."

Assails Bill's Sponsor.

He referred to Senator Edward R. Burke [D., Neb.], sponsor of the bill, which proposes registration of all men between 18 and 65, as an admirer of Adolf Hitler and said that the Nebraska senator had described Hitler as "greater than Bismarck" in 1938, after a trip to Europe.

General John M. Palmer, retired army officer, told the house committee that "no modern nation is prepared for war unless it is prepared to utilize all its man power." He added that it might be necessary for this country to "exert all our power" to preserve American institutions.

Rep. James W. Wadsworth [R. N.Y.], co-author of the bill, said at the house hearing that an original proposal to pay $5 a month to men selected for military training would be revised upward to $21, basic army pay. He said this change was favored by the war department.

Two prominent Catholic churchmen testified in opposition to the bill before the senate committee.

Msgr. G. Barry O'Toole, of Catholic university, said compulsory training was an "attempt to impose patriotism by force."

Msgr. Michael J. Ready, general secretary of the National Catholic Welfare conference, criticized failure to exempt students for the priesthood and brothers of religious orders.

DUCE PRAISES NAVY FOR MEDITERRANEAN BATTLE WITH BRITISH

ROME, July 11 (AP).—Premier Mussolini praised the Italian navy's encounter with the British in the central Mediterranean saying the battle demonstrated the "Italian coast could not be approached with impunity." In an order of the day to the admiral commander's headquarters Il Duce said:

"Naval forces of Fascist Italy on July 9 victoriously sustained a first encounter with the British navy in the Mediterranean beyond Punto Stilo.

"The attempted maneuver of the English failed in the central Mediterranean and missed the objective at which it was aimed. The conscious valor of which you gave proof before a preponderant adversary has notified the enemy—with the concentrated salvos of our cannon—that the Italian coast could not be approached with impunity . . . the Italian people is proud of the result of this first battle. I give you with equal proudness my praise."

French Troops Return to Lyons; Germans Depart

LYONS, France, July 11 (AP).—A large force of French troops entered Lyons today. Thousands cheered and tricolors hung from all windows, replacing the swastikas which the German troops, now departed, had raised over the public buildings.

WOMAN FARMER UPHELD IN RIGHT TO MARKET MILK

Price Control Held Illegal in Test Action.

Racine, Wis., July 11 [Special].—The law under which the state department of agriculture and markets fixes wholesale and retail prices for milk is unconstitutional so far as it applies to farmers selling only the products of their own herds, Circuit Judge Fred L. Drury held in a decision here. The Supreme court has held the law constitutional, as it applies to commercial dealers buying the farmers' milk for resale, Judge Drury pointed out.

The decision was made in the case of Mrs. Alvine Gagnon, who has a dairy farm in Kenosha county and sells the milk produced to selected customers in Racine. The department of agriculture sought to enjoin her from selling milk. The judge refused to issue an injunction.

Too Many Licenses.

The argument of the state that the dairy industry was affected with a public interest, if carried to its conclusion, would make the independent farmer nothing but a memory, Judge Drury held. "Practically every product after leaving the farm," he noted, "enters the channels of business and if each became affected with public interest, the farmer would be requird to have as many licenses as he had products. If this were to come about, the so-called independent existence of the farmer would cease to be either a fact or a theory and would be nothing but a memory."

Peter J. Myers, attorney for Mrs. Gagnon, explained that the action developed because the milk from Mrs. Gagnon's Guernseys consistently contained and was sold with a higher butter fat content than the 3.8 percentage fixed by the state department for the standard price.

The argument of state officials that the lower fat content would be brought about by "blending" with milk of a lower fat content, Judge Drury declared, was a requirement that would make the dairy business so onerous, complicated, and expensive as seriously to imperil its existence.

Illegal If Arbitrary.

"It is common knowledge," the court said, "that the fat content from a herd varies from day to day. To comply with the law, the farmer would have to test milk every morning and change prices as often as there was a variation in the test.

"The real purpose of this action is to remove the defendant as a competitor to the dealers and to terminate what is undoubtedly regarded as unfair competition.

"Assumig that the milk industry has created a peculiarly close relation between the public and those connected with the business, price control, like any form of regulation in the interest of public welfare, is unconstitutional if arbitrary, discriminatory and unreasonable, and hence an unwarranted interference with individual liberty.

"The legislative purpose of promoting the interests of all farmers must be attained without depriving the individual farmer of his constitutional rights."

DEMONSTRATION LIFTS GIBRALTAR BAN, LET IN 12,000 FROM MOROCCO

LA LINEA, Spain, July 11 (AP).—British military authorities at Gibraltar today yielded to a public demonstration and finally permitted 12,000 refugees from Morocco, largely British, to disembark under four day permits, according to reports reaching this border town. The demonstration was reported to have been staged by civilians, soldiers, and police of Gibraltar. Authorities at first prohibited the disembarkment.

The refugees arrived aboard eight merchant ships from French Gibraltar, mainly from Casa Blanca.

GEN. FORD GIVEN ROSTER OF HOME DEFENSE LEAGUE

Sportsmen Rally to Third Line Reserve.

Lieut. Gen. Stanley Ford, commander of the 6th corps army area, yesterday formally accepted the charter membership roll of the Sportsmen's Defense reserve as a third line of defense for American homes in the event of a national emergency.

Gen. Ford was one of the first and most enthusiastic indorsers of the league when its formation was first announced in THE TRIBUNE May 18. Yesterday he expressed surprise with the response given the league by the nation's hunters, riflemen, trap and skeet shooters, and other sportsmen familiar with firearms.

The league was organized around a nucleus of Chicago sportsmen who believed that the experience of the nation's 7 million amateur marksmen should be coördinated for use in a national emergency.

Roster of 1,087 Members.

Walter C. Peacock, the league's president and well known Chicago merchant and sportsman, presented to Gen. Ford the membership roll. This list contains the names of 1,087 experienced marksmen. They represent 79 Illinois cities, villages, and hamlets outside of Chicago, and 26 states, the District of Columbia, and the Canal Zone.

"These men have pledged themselves as true Americans to be ready for civilian service in a national emergency," said Peacock. "The objective of the league at this time is to compile a list of sportsmen who may be counted on to serve in a civilian capacity in the defense of their communities should a national emergency demand such service."

"The response to our idea has been amazing. We planned this as an Illinois affair, but after the first few stories appeared in THE TRIBUNE we were deluged with requests for information and applications. Soon our mail was coming from almost every corner of the nation."

Calls List Valuable.

"This list will be of very great value to me," replied Gen. Ford. As commander of the 6th corps area and the 2d army, Gen. Ford's command extends over Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Indiana, Ohio, Kentucky, and West Virginia.

"I shall make the proper use of these names," Gen. Ford continued. "In looking over the roll I see that you have members in every state in my military area. That is good.

"It indicates how experienced men are facing their responsibilities. The league gives them an outlet and increases their potential value to the country. The principle underlying the league—giving the individual confidence—is the same underlying all activities. It is confidence based on experience.

"An organization such as this has many ramifications for good which are not confined to the individual's activities. They will become better citizens by having an objective. Their activities should increase interest in army recruiting."

Participation Is Voluntary.

Peacock stressed the voluntary aspect of the league. There has been no formal or active solicitation of membership or funds, he said. In every case where an applicant inclosed a contribution, Peacock said, he returned the money in the name of the Sportsmen's Home Defense league, the title under which the organization was incorporated.

"Since compiling the charter membership list," Peacock said, "we have had hundreds of letters requesting information. One of the most recent came from Cristobal in the Canal Zone, which expects to be a hot spot in case of an emergency. Most of the letters are from gun club officials who want to enlist their members."

KILLED AT GRADE CROSSING.

Kalamazoo, Mich., July 11 (Special).—Raymond Havermahl, 26 years old, was killed today when a freight train struck his automobile and carried it 950 feet.

CCC A RESERVOIR OF MANPOWER TO BUILD DEFENSES

Find Training Offers Fine Material.

At least 100,000 of the 265,000 young men now scattered thruout the United States and supported by government funds in camps of the Civilian Conservation corps could be transformed within a few weeks into first class soldiers, sailors, and marines for the nation's expanding armed forces. This belief was expressed yesterday by recruiting officials of the three branches of defense. The opinion was unanimous that this reservoir of manpower should be one of the first to be tapped for military purposes.

They pointed out that members of the CCC already have had some of the basic military training necessary for making good soldiers or sailors. CCC youths have learned army discipline under reserve army officers who command the 1,500 camps. They are accustomed to barrack life. They keep the regular hours required of a soldier, and their bodies are hardened by months of outdoor work.

Trained in Trades.

More important, a majority of these young men have been trained in trades and occupations that would make them invaluable to the armed forces, the officials said. Youths who have learned to be machinists, welders, and blacksmiths in CCC shops could step immediately into similar positions in military life.

Others who have become expert tractor operators could become tank pilots almost overnight. Still others trained in communications work would fit into integral positions in the signal corps, it was said.

The recruiting officials agree that at least 100,000 of the total strength of the CCC enrollees are eligible and fit for military service. The remainder, they said, would be unable to pass the physical examinations—much more rigid in the military forces than in the CCC—or they would be too young. The CCC takes boys from 17 to 23 years old, but they must be at least 18 years old for military service.

"Of course, we are not allowed to attempt to recruit from the CCC camps," said one army recruiting officer. "But, if it could be made possible, they would be a fine source of men."

Navy Would Like CCC Men.

Navy recruiting officers said they believed recruits from the CCC could be transformed into competent sailors in a shorter time than the average recruits from civilian life.

"The navy now needs between 20,000 and 25,000 more men," said one officer. "We could use all of the CCC recruits we could get, especially those trained in trades. Those who have learned during their enlistment in the CCC to repair automobile motors would fit in fine as aviation machinist mates on the airplane carriers. The other positions into which the CCC youth would fit are almost too numerous to count."

Marine corps recruiting officers were of the same opinion. They said the corps is seeking to enlist 8,000 more men to bring its strength up to 34,600.

REPORT CAMACHO MEN MARCH ON ALMAZAN ESTATE

Fear Mexico Is Heading Toward Civil War.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MEXICO CITY, July 11.—Several thousand supporters of Gen. Manuel Avila Camacho, administration candidate for president, tonight were reported to be marching on the estate of Gen. Juan Andreau Almazan, independent conservative candidate, at Coyoacan. Other groups of Camacho followers began attacking Almazan headquarters in the city.

The tangled presidential race became more involved and potentially explosive as election committees counted the votes cast in Sunday's riotous and bloody balloting. Both the Camachistas and the Almazanistas continued to make positive claims of sweeping successes.

Both Claims Bellicose.

The claims, hitherto guarded and qualified, were bellicose. Some political observers said that unless there is an unexpected shift in the course Mexico appeared heading toward civil war, with two presidents and two congresses attempting to function as the ruling elements within the country.

Only unofficial figures of the election results were available, but Almazan, who bucked President Lazaro Cardenas' hitherto all-powerful communistic political machine, announced:

"The vote affirms that I will take office as president next Dec. 1. We know that more than 150 of the 230 congressmen will be ours in the only legitimate congress to be installed Sept. 1, and we can assure the people of an incontestable majority in the voting."

No Word from Camacho.

There was no word from Camacho, but Vincente Lombardo Toledano, head of the Mexican Workers' federation [C. T. M.], the communistic union established by Cardenas, exhorted his labor union members as follows:

"Let us take the offensive. We are disposed to go the limit against the opposition because Avila Camacho is the legal president. On to the offensive. Viva revolution."

The counting of ballots today was as fraudulent and contrary to Mexican law as the violence and rioting in which more than 50 persons were killed and 500 injured thruout Mexico in Sunday's voting. The law provides that the ballots be counted by committees comprising judges and clerks from the polling places. But, as it was actually done, the Camachistas seized all the polling places prescribed by the electoral directors and prohibited the Almazanistas from entering.

The Almazanistas then withdrew in the face of squads of soldiers, heavily armed gunmen, and police carrying rifles and bayonets. Going to secret meeting places, they established their own counting groups. The result is that two sets of election figures were being prepared.

The Camachistas announced that their man was leading thruout the republic by a 5 to 1 margin and that in Mexico City, where the Almazanistas had absolute control Sunday, the Camachistas said that Camacho won, 173,851 to 36,426.

The Almazanistas had not finished their count late tonight and the only known figures are those referring to congressmen, which Gen. Almazan announced himself. These indicate that he was an easy victor thruout the nation.

Loretta Young of the films and Tom Lewis, whose engagement will be announced next week at a party.

Hollywood, Cal., July 11 (AP).—Loretta Young, 27 year old film star, proposes to marry Tom Lewis, 38, an advertising agency executive, in about a month. Friends disclosed that their engagement will be announced at a party Monday. Miss Young's 1930 elopement-marriage to Actor Grant Withers was annulled.

DEFENSE GUARD JOINS PATRIOTS IN COMMON AIM

Some of the men were thin, others fat. There were tall men and short men, men with mustaches and clean shaven men. Some were Republicans, others Democrats. There was a Goldstein, an Anderson, and an Offenberg, a de Guerre, a Jones, and a Scarpacci.

Thirty of these men, all between the ages of 35 and 45, donned their khaki uniforms last night and, in the drill room of the Army and Navy club at 600 South Michigan avenue, responded to commands of "For'rd march" and "Right dress" and "'tention." They constitute one of the three companies of the local National Home Defense guard, organized a month ago under the guidance of army reserve officers and the Army and Navy club.

106 Privates Enlisted.

There are, according to Lieut. Col. C. H. Williams, commander of the unit, 106 privates and 12 officers [all so commissioned in the world war] in the guard. Ninety per cent of them saw service in the last war; several are graduates of military schools. By next September, the membership is expected to swell to a full infantry regiment of 1,700 men and 119 officers.

"These men represent the slack in the country's potential defense," explained Lieut. Col. Williams, who served as an engineer in the air corps in 1917-'18. "They cannot join the branches of the regular army because of age limits. Thus they have enrolled for the sole purpose of preparing temselves for any eventuality, which will make them trained and experienced men, valuable in any phase of defense."

Engage in Weekly Drills.

Each of the three companies into which the guard is divided has one night of drill a week. All phases of infantry training are taught by reserve officers. Before being accepted, the men must pass physical examinations, swear allegiance to the United States, and prove their citizenship. No compensation is given; each man buys his own uniform, which costs $5.75.

Everyday occupations of the men are varied. Roscoe Jones is an attorney. Stanley Gross is an assistant on State's Attorney Courtney's staff. Capt. Harold Miller, adjutant, is an official of the Upholsterers' union. Louis Goldstein is a dentist. There are lecturers, engineers, physicians, opticians, and accountants. WAILING SIRENS, BLAZING GUNS! THE THRILL SHOW Finish Plans for Giant Spectacle Sunday.

BY WILLIAM MOORE.

Guns blazed and sirens wailed in Soldiers' field yesterday at the first full rehearsal of the dramatic battles between robbers and the law. The crime drama will be one of the most spectacular events presented by the city and park police at the third annual Chicago Police and Fire Thrill show in Soldiers' field Sunday afternoon.

Giant fire trucks roared around the field as final plans for the fire department's entrance in the grand opening parade were made by Joseph Mackey, second deputy fire marshal, and Edward F. Green, fire department inspector.

Capt. David Flynn, chief of the traffic division, led his mounted police, who take the parts of a hard riding sheriff's posse in a pre-civil war train holdup. Sergt. William Kuhlak, head of the mounted police, helped him direct the posse's chase.

Enact Crime Battle.

Chief Roger F. Shanahan and Sergt. Charles Kiefer sent the park police department's rolling fortress squad cars to establish a radio blockade in the 1940 bandit chase. The park squads joined with detective bureau squads coached in crime acting by Sergts. Philip Breitzke and William Balswick.

The drama came to a colorful close with the police squads storming their barricade, firing and hurling tear gas bombs. The crime fight is being directed by Chief John Prendergast of the city's uniformed police; Chief Shanahan of the park police, and Chief John L. Sullivan and Lieut. Kyran Phelan of the detective bureau. Speaking parts are being taken by Rupert La Belle, Herry Elders, Finney Briggs, Bob Blakesley, and Kathleen Fitzgerald of the radio.

The 1940 heroes of the police and fire departments will march in the opening parade at the thrill show. Winners of the Carter H. Harrison and Lambert Tree medals for valor will be given their awards in the presence of the crowd.

Honors to Heroes.

Fire Capt. Joseph Flahive of Squad 10 will receive the Harrison medal. Flahive, who lives at 4106 North Mango avenue, was the hero of the subway fire last July 21. He dragged one of his men two and one-half blocks thru the gas filled subway to safety after the man had become overcome by gas. The oxygen supply in Flahive's gas mask was almost exhausted when he came out of the tunnel at Chicago avenue and State street.

Policeman William Phillips of the Hyde Park station will be given the Tree medal. Phillips, who lives at 7326 Claremont avenue, was a rookie, 30 years old, when he noticed trouble in a tavern at 1124 East 69th street on April 19, 1939. He was on furlough, but he went in to investigate.

Three bandits were holding up the proprietor and patrons. The gunmen ordered Phillips to throw up his hands, and attacked him when he refused. He felled one of the robbers with his fist and then killed another in a revolver duel. The two who escaped the policemen's bullets were later captured.

Win Tribune Awards.

Both Phillips and Flahive won The Tribune hero award of $100 for their valor.

Florence Valiquet, national high school champion baton twirler last year, was chosen yesterday to lead the Board of Trade Post American Legion band in the opening parade. Miss Valiquet, who is 18 years old, lives at 745 West 87th street. She is a graduate of Calumet High school. Miss Valiquet was junior girls' champion baton twirler in The Tribune Music Festival of 1938.

The Rev. William J. Gorman, known thruout the nation as Chicago's fire department chaplain, will ride in the opening parade. The Rev. Mr. Gorman, "Father Bill" to the firemen, goes to all major fires, night or day, to minister to firemen who are injured in line of duty.

He has been the department's chaplain for 18 years. He can always be found in the thick of the fight, wearing a fireman's helmet and coat, helping the firemen in their work and aiding in directing it if need be, for he is recognized as an authority on fire fighting.

Wherever a fireman falls injured, "Father Bill" plunges thru the smoke and flames to offer spiritual comfort. Daily he visits hospitals to call upon the department's injured and sick.

Every arrangement is being made for the convenience of motorists who attend the fire show, which is expected to draw a crowd of 80,000. Traffic charts showing how to reach Soldiers' field and where to park will appear in a later issue of The Tribune.

The thrill show is sponsored by the Chicago police and fire departments and the park district, in cooperation with The Chicago Tribune. It will open at 2 p. m.

Seats—25 cents for adults and 10 cents for children—are now on sale at the public service offices of The Tribune in Tribune tower and at 1 South Dearborn street, at The Fair store, and at Gate O, the south gate of Soldiers' field. No seats are reserved.

Senatorial Style

GEORGE P. BAKER NOMINATED FOR AVIATION BOARD

Washington, D. C., July 11 (AP).—President Roosevelt today nominated George P. Baker, associate professor of transportation at Harvard university, to be a member of the civil aeronautics board in the department of commerce.

Subject to senate confirmation, he will fill a vacancy created by the appointment of Robert H. Hinckley to be assistant secretary of commerce.

The President also designated Vice Chairman Harllee Branch, Atlanta newspaper man and former assistant to the postmaster general, to be chairman of the Civil Aeronautics board.

MOVE TO DRAFT ROOSEVELT AND HULL PREPARED

New Dealers Bring Order from White House.

Mr. Roosevelt's alternative to Hull if the secretary of state declines the draft is a bit puzzling. It is reputed to be Associate Justice William O. Douglas of the Supreme court. Justice Douglas spent some years of his life in the far west but, actually hailing from Connecticut, he is as much an easterner as Mr. Roosevelt himself. So he would not balance the ticket geographically. But what is more important is that he is as much a New Dealer as Mr. Roosevelt and would not seem to fit into the President's plan to hold the conservative Democrats in line.

Senator James F. Byrnes of South Carolina is another vice presidential possibility who enjoys the favor of the President.

Others Out for 2d Place.

Other Democrats whose lightning rods are up to catch the flash of vice presidential fire are Senator Scott W. Lucas of Illinois, Gov. Lloyd C. Stark of Missouri, and former Gov. Paul V. McNutt of Indiana, now federal security administrator. Mayor Edward J. Kelly was booming Lucas yesterday for all he was worth.

"Lucas," said the mayor, "has become one of the important members of the senate. He is well thought of, is a good speaker, active in national affairs of the American Legion and comes from the great grain belt."

"Wouldn't that be offset by the attraction of Senator McNary's candidacy for the farmers?" the mayor was asked.

"Not at all," he retorted. "Lucas would have a far greater appeal to the farmers than the Republican candidate."

The most arresting intelligence brought from the White House had to do with the price Mr. Roosevelt contemplates exacting from his party for yielding to the draft. This project was discussed at a White House conference a few nights ago attended by the President, Secretary of Commerce Harry Hopkins and several other new dealers.

Orders Party into Line.

Mr. Roosevelt is described as waxing quite heated on the subject of Democratic opposition to his policies in congress. He wanted it understood that he did not purpose to go thru another four years of such party division, such outright rebellion of Democrats, or men who call themselves Democrats, against his program.

He also wanted it understood by his party and by the Chicago convention that he will not yield to the importunities to accept renomination unless some substantial assurance can be given him by the party leaders that such insurgency against his will shall cease.

There was discussion of how such pledges might be given. One suggestion was that the pledge might be embodied in a statement by the convention the purpose of which would be to array Democratic voters against the return to congress of anti-New Deal Democratic senators and representatives unless they publicly swear unswerving fealty to Mr. Roosevelt.

Brings Dictator Charges.

This scheme evoked wry smiles and dictatorship charges from anti-third term Democrats. They commented that Mr. Roosevelt, after entering the presidential primaries and deliberately seeking a third term, after beating down one after another of his rivals for the nomination and after getting the party into the position of admitting that no other Democrat can win the election—after doing all this, he now proposes to exact a party purge as the price of his condescension to run and save the party from disaster.

All the incidents of the day in the purlieus of the Democratic national committee and the headquarters of the quasi-candidates indicated that the approaching convention will be the most completely bossed in political annals—the antithesis of the late Republican gathering at Philadelphia where a candidate without political organization ran away with the nomination.

The delegates were beginning to arrive, the members of the Democratic national committee were on hand, the leaders from National Chairman James A. Farley down were in their places. But nothing was happening—that is, not in Chicago. What was happening was happening in Washington and the leaders and delegates were listening for the master's voice emanating from the White House that will tell them what to do.

Farley Holds His Secret.

Genial Jim Farley, an anti-third term man who has played a difficult rôle with unfailing discretion and urbanity, held a press conference flanked by Senator Robert Wagner of New York, who will head the resolutions committee, and the astute and resourceful Charley Michelson, who, more than publicity director, is the great strategist of the party.

Mr. Farley banteringly turned aside all efforts to pry from his bosom the great secret confided to him at Hyde Park. Once in a while a slip caused great merriment, as for example when he said on Thursday the convention will have the "nomination—the nominations," he quickly corrected himself.

The only question remaining for decision here is whether there shall be the formality of nominating speeches. Maybe when the roll is called on Thursday Alabama will just propose the renomination of Mr. Roosevelt and a stampede will do the rest. The other candidates don't know whether they'll get a chance to start.

Garner's Man Is Ready.

The Garner headquarters telephoned Wright Morrow of Houston, Tex., to be on hand to place the vice president in nomination but there was no certainty that Morrow ever would unburden himself of those laudatory remarks. Senator D. Worth Clark of Idaho is bound hither to place Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana in nomination "if Mr. Roosevelt doesn't run." Farley laughingly dodged the query whom he has selected to place him in nomination.

Farley heartily welcomed the news that the national committee had received a check from Mayor Kelly for $30,000, the balance of the $125,000 subscribed by Chicago for the convention.

Col. Frank Knox Sworn In as Secretary of the Navy

Washington, D. C., July 11.—Col. Frank Knox, Chicago publisher and vice presidential candidate on the Republican ticket in 1936, today was sworn in as secretary of the navy in President Roosevelt's office by Felix Frankfurter, associate justice of the United States Supreme court, an old friend. Knox left immediately after the ceremonies for his office in the navy department.

PLANK ON WAR IS EXPECTED TO ECHO PRESIDENT

Committeemen to Start on Platform Today.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Democratic national platform makers start to work today with indications that a plank on war and preparedness will be based on President Roosevelt's message to congress Wednesday. In this the President said, "We will not send our men to take part in European wars."

Senator Wagner.

Senator Robert F. Wagner of New York, who is to be chairman of the resolutions committee, which prepares the platform, has called a meeting for 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. At this session 16 to 20, members-designate of the committee, which will not be formed officially until the convention opens Monday, are expected to meet for a preliminary discussion. Some groups are to be heard at open hearings.

Wheeler Due This Morning.

Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana, who is to be a member of the resolutions committee, is scheduled to arrive this morning. At his headquarters in the Congress hotel it was said Wheeler would work for the adoption of a vigorous antiwar, nonintervention plank.

Wheeler has intimated that if such a plank were not nailed in he would bolt the party ticket. In Washington Wheeler declared yesterday that third party talk would disappear if the platform contained the President's pledge to keep American soldiers out of Europe's wars.

Telegrams from various groups thruout the country awaited Wagner at his hotel. They all contained proposals for planks.

Groups Seek to Be Heard.

Forty organizations have expressed a wish to be heard on the platform. They include antiwar groups, the American Federation of Labor, and the Congress of Industrial Organizations.

Phillip Murray, vice president of the C. I. O. and head of the Steel Workers' Organizing committee, is expected at today's session. Murray is a delegate at large from Pennsylvania. William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, is to appear at one of the hearings.

Among others who are to present arguments for planks are: E. A. O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau federation; Anita Pollitzer of the National Women's party, Paul Wolman of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and Representative Louis L. Ludlow [D., Ind.], author of a plan, thru amendment of the constitution, requiring a nation-wide referendum before a declaration of war.

Reports that a draft of a platform has been prepared or outlined at the White House circulated in the corridors of the Stevens hotel party headquarters. But none of the arrivals in Chicago so far would admit a copy of the draft was in his briefcase.

DELEGATE BONUS FOR SOLID SOUTH MAY BE PUT OFF

Plans to adopt a delegate-bonus plan in the Democratic national convention in order to give more representation to the "solid south" may be postponed until 1944.

A subcommittee charged with the question heard two witnesses yesterday, but took no action. The subcommittee is expected to recommend to the national committee today that since the current census will make some changes in the congressional strength of some states, no action should be taken.

Yesterday's witnesses—Gov. E. D. Rivers of Georgia and Mrs. Roland B. Howell, national committeewoman for Louisiana—put the claim of the south that it is almost solidly Democratic but does not wield a correspondingly important vote in the convention. Before the 1936 convention abolished the two-thirds nominating rule, the south held the veto power.

Various proposals have been made to give the south more votes. The principal one, called the Alabama plan, provides that each state casting a majority for the Democratic ticket in the preceding presidential election would be given a bonus of three delegates at large.

City Council Welcomes Democrats to Convention

Chicago's welcome to the Democratic national convention became official yesterday. The city council, in a resolution extending greetings to the delegates, called the convention of "great historical significance in the history of the city," and said: "All citizens should join in a spirit of hearty welcome."

NEW DEAL FRETS AND WILLKIE'S TO BLAME: STASSEN

Governor Talks to G. O. P. Advisers in Capital.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 11.—Reaction of Democrats to the nomination of Wendell Willkie clearly indicates that the administration is worried about the November election, Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota, chairman of Willkie's campaign advisory committee, asserted today.

Gov. Harold E. Stassen. [A. P. Wirephoto.]

The governor, who is 33 years old and who made the keynote speech at the Republican convention in Philadelphia, flew here for a meeting of the advisory committee in which G. O. P. strategy in the coming campaign was discussed. Stassen, who left by plane tonight for St. Paul, Minn., also conferred with the Vice Presidential nominee, Senator Charles L. McNary of Oregon.

He and McNary discussed the campaign in an informal, hour-long conference. McNary jocularly said afterward that he and Stassen held an "inquest" on the Philadelphia convention. The senator praised Stassen's keynote address as a masterly piece of work, and said he was impressed with the ability of the youthful governor.

Finds New Deal Worried.

Stassen told a press conference: "There is every indication that since the Philadelphia convention the administration is very much concerned, to say the least, about the outcome. Many of its moves show uneasiness."

One example, he said, is President Roosevelt's pledge to keep American soldiers out of a European war. That pledge, Stassen added, accurately reflected Democratic feeling since Willkie's nomination.

Another indication of administration jitters, Stassen asserted, was the statement by Chairman Guy M. Gillette [D., Ia.] of the senate campaign investigating committee that an inquiry would be made into telegrams urging Willkie's nomination during the convention.

[Later today Gillette announced that the proposed investigation had been dropped.]

Committee Is Advisory.

Stassen emphasized that his committee's functions will be strictly advisory, and will not take a direct or managing part in the Republican campaign. Broad recommendations agreed upon today by the group will be transmitted to Willkie and Congressman Joseph W. Martin Jr. of Massachusetts, chairman of the Republican national committee.

Altho voicing his conviction that issues rather than party labels will decide the presidential race, Stassen asserted that any discussion of issues must await the acceptance speech of Mr. Willkie in Elwood, Ind., his birthplace, about Aug. 1.

YOUNG G. O. P. CONVENTION TO ATTRACT 2,500

Decatur, Ill., July 11 [Special].—The vanguard of Republicans will arrive in Decatur tomorrow for the state convention of the Young Republican Clubs of Illinois. Approximately 2,500 persons are scheduled to attend the meeting.

Formalities for the convention will open at 1 p. m. Saturday. A dance for delegates is scheduled for that night. Sunday Dwight H. Green, Republican nominee for governor, and James Tucker, Indiana secretary of state, will be the speakers.

KELLY BARS PLAN TO BACK HIM FOR VICE PRESIDENCY

At the request of Mayor Kelly, who explained that he was committed to Senator Scott Lucas as a favorite son candidate, the city council yesterday withdrew without vote a resolution which had urged council members to rally support for nomination of the mayor as Democratic candidate for vice president of the United States. The resolution had been introduced by Ald. James J. McDermott [14th] and James B. Bowler [25th].

"I am not egotistical enough to think I could fill the office," Mayor Kelly said.

START RECHECK OF CENSUS DATA IN CHICAGO AREA

Follows Many Complaints of Slipshod Count.

A complete recheck of the Chicago census area, from Evanston to Gary, has been started as the result of numerous complaints. This was disclosed last night and admitted by George W. Schreech, area manager. The new survey is being conducted by census squad leaders and supervisors and is expected to be completed by July 20, Schreech said.

In Evanston it was charged that the census tentatively gave that city only 64,000 population and that the school census alone showed 69,000. In Gary it was charged that the official count was sketchy and in one instance an entire block was overlooked. Schreech said the latter complaint had not reached him officially but that such a thing could have happened.

Confusion over Boundaries.

"This type of oversight is not common," he continued. "However, in eight or ten instances, squads became confused over the boundaries of the territory they were to cover. In this way some areas were overlooked. It is to correct these things that rechecks are made."

In the last month the department of commerce at Washington, headed by Harry Hopkins, former WPA chief, has been bombarded with complaints.

On June 15 the department admitted that 13,942 of its 130,000 enumerators had not filed complete reports. Thousands of persons have written in to complain they were not visited by census takers. Dozens of chambers of commerce have charged that the nose counting in their cities was done in a slipshod manner.

900 Missed in One Town.

A Nebraska town of 12,000, informed that its population had dropped since 1930, invited all those missed by the enumerators to register their names. In 24 hours 900 had done so. At about this time the national census bureau virtually admitted the 45 million dollar count had been botched by appealing to all those who were missed to send in the necessary data; count themselves, in other words. The rechecking is being done at additional cost.

To add to its other troubles, it was learned in Washington, the census bureau is unable to decipher thousands of blanks which were turned in by incompetent enumerators.

Rat Extermination Project Voted by City Council

The city council yesterday authorized Oscar E. Hewitt, commissioner of public works, to spend $5,000 on a rat eradication project.

NEW Higher Anti-knock
Phillips 66

"Do I really and truly wanna know? . . . Nope! Betcha you don't, either.

"Betcha all this talk about new gasolines and octanes makes you yawn, too. Whadda us consumers care how many octanes there's in a gasoline?

"What we wanna know is: How many miles to the gallon? . . . Yes sir! and how much zip and power? . . . And don't forget, a motor that knocks on hills and heavy pulls is no booster for the gas that's in the tank."

Little man, you're right from start to finish. Be as skeptical as you like about the anti-knock claims for new gasolines.

But remember, at every Orange and Black 66 Shield, you get at regular price a gasoline which gives you practically the same anti-knock performance for which you previously had to pay two cents extra per gallon.

So judge by results, and we believe you will certainly feel that difference with your first tankful of NEW Phillips 66 Poly Gas. Driver after driver says that it's the greatest self-demonstrating gasoline he has ever used.

Your engine may not be missing, but you won't know what you may be missing in extra power, pick-up, and mileage, until you try the new, high anti-knock Phillips 66 Poly Gas.

COWBOYS WHOOP FOR WILLKIE AT CAMPFIRE FEAST

The Governor of Colorado Introduces Him.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Colorado Springs, Colo., July 11.—Wendell L. Willkie, Republican nominee for President, attended a cowhands' chuck wagon feast tonight in company with Gov. Ralph L. Carr, Wayland Brooks, Republican candidate for United States senator in Illinois, and Richard J. Lyons of Libertyville, Ill. They ate barbecued beef and sang songs with the cowhands under the stars around a great campfire.

Two thousand people had come out from town to sit in the stadium and watch Willkie. He was cheered many times as he made himself at home in this old western atmosphere. He was made a member of the Cowhands association and introduced as a young cowpuncher who had tamed a wild elephant and rode him out of a chute at Philadelphia.

"A New Foreman."

"He is a green hand on the range," said Gov. Carr, "but brothers, you should see him in action. Indiana has produced the best bronco buster in the United States. We are going to brand every voter in this country with an R, and have a new foreman after Jan. 1."

"After Jan. 1, 1941," said Willkie, "the chuck is going to be better and the range greener. Phone to me on the range of the Potomac at Washington after that date."

Brooks and Lyons were introduced as two boys from the Illinois roundup. Brooks referred to Willkie as the man of the hour in the United States.

"America today needs a leader," Brooks said, "who will defend not only Colorado but also the Atlantic and the Pacific, and who will preserve this kind of government and civilization for humanity. In every great crisis this free people have delivered the man to meet the emergency. In the last great crisis Illinois provided Abraham Lincoln. Now I am happy that Indiana provides the man, our next President, Wendell Willkie."

Address by Lyons.

Gov. Carr presented Lyons to the crowd. Lyons told of the eight year campaign in Illinois and how the New Deal majority had gradually been reduced.

"You can't imagine," he said, "what Illinois is going to do for Willkie. Never in the history of the United States have we faced so serious a crisis as now confront America. This is not a political campaign. It is a crusade for a return to some semblance of decency in the handling of governmental affairs."

Brooks and Lyons will remain here fishing at invitation of the governor. Willkie has asked Brooks to confer with him at luncheon on Saturday.

Good News from Landon.

Alf M. Landon of Kansas, who was planning his own campaign for the White House four years ago at this time, sent an encouraging letter today to Willkie, assuring him that he had caught the imagination of the American people. This is a mysterious political phenomenon, which the good and able Kansas governor was never able to perform and which seems to rise Venus-like out of the deep sea of opinion and the conditions of the times.

Landon is one of the important party leaders who is expected to visit Willkie at this mountain resort during the next two weeks, when the nominee will be gathering and digesting opinion of all shades for the purpose of his acceptance speech decisions.

Reports 82 Per Cent Favorable.

Writing from Topeka to "My Dear Wendell," Landon said:

"A traveling salesman on whom I have depended a great deal for the last 12 years for reports on public sentiment in this section of the country has just told me that out of 118 interviews in the Democratic section of Missouri, 82 per cent were favorable to you. There is no doubt that you have caught the imagination of the American people."

The traveling salesman's interviews were not with people high in business or politics but with the plain people that one meets in the course of ordinary automobile travel.

Willkie "rested deliberately" in his hotel suite today. He was up early and had a swim in the pool and went for a drive to the Will Rogers Shrine of the Sun, a memorial built on the slope of Cheyenne mountain which rises across the lake from the Willkie sun porch.

Pleased Over Hatch Bill.

Passage of the Hatch bill governing campaign activities and contributions pleased the Republican nominee.

"I began to advocate the passage of that act in a speech in Minneapolis on May 11 last," he said.

This was the date which he also sets for his first serious consideration of the Presidential race. He had made an address before a newspaper publishers' association in Washington and the reaction had been so favorable that he had been invited to go to Minnesota and address the Republicans. There the Presidential boom, which had been urged upon him by Oren Root and others in New York, really took hold of his own imagination.

Willkie said, "Just say I laughed," when he read the proposed amendment to the Hatch bill applying the political ban to employés of privately owned utilities. He does not think that his former presidency of a utilities concern is going to figure much in this campaign. His own investments in utilities are small. President Roosevelt, he says, owns more utilities stock than he does.

Seating Arrangement for Democratic Delegates

1,849 TO TRAVEL 2,973,674 MILES TO PICK NOMINEE

Delegates' Trips to Cost $150,000.

BY THOMAS MORROW.

One thousand, eight hundred and forty-nine delegates will travel a total of 2,973,674 miles to attend the Democratic national convention opening Monday in the Chicago Stadium. They will pay $151,815 in transportation, food, and lodging costs for the privilege of selecting a party nominee.

On the basis of $4 a day for food—and many Democrats will eat more than this if past performances mean anything—the delegates will run up a food bill of $36,980 for the convention period. Round trip railroad fares will cost approximately $87,100, and a minimum hotel bill will be $27,735.

Six Come from Hawaii.

Long distance travel champions are the six delegates from Hawaii, who will cover close to 8,400 miles to cast their votes and get back home. Six Alaskans will make a trek of approximately 7,000 miles, and delegates from the Virgin Islands and Puerto Rico will travel some 5,000 miles each.

The largest delegation will be that from Texas. This state will use 132 delegates to cast 46 votes and to take part in Garner demonstrations and other tasks which may present themselves. Mississippi is bringing 108 delegates to see that the state's 18 votes do not go astray.

The seventh Mississippi district alone, embracing Vicksburg, Natchez, Jackson, and Yazoo City, is bringing 54 delegates to deliberate the placing of two votes allotted the district. Each delegate will be charged with the responsibility of one twenty-seventh vote.

Seating arrangements announced yesterday showed that the Democratic management had failed in its effort to limit one vote to one delegate. The 1,849 delegates will cast 1,094 votes.

Illinois Gets a Good Spot.

The front row directly in front of the speakers' rostrum went to the District of Columbia and California. Illinois and New York drew commanding positions in the center. Mississippi, with its unwieldy delegation, was placed in the far corner, just off Warren avenue.

A survey of early arrivals at delegation headquarters in various hotels showed a marked absence of federal employés. The Hatch bill, an act to "prevent pernicious political activities," bars pay rollers from political activities. More than 50 per cent of the delegates to the Democratic convention at Philadelphia, Pa., in 1936 were postmasters, marshals, revenue collectors, and United States attorneys.

Reservations at the Blackstone hotel revealed that Postmaster General Farley, Mayor Kelly and party, Jesse Jones, and Alice Roosevelt Longworth will be neighbors.

John Hamilton Present.

At the Palmer House, John Hamilton, former Republican national committee chairman, will rub elbows with Democratic delegations from North Carolina, Ohio, Louisiana, and other states.

President Robert J. Dunham of the Chicago park district, obtained the first tickets from Oliver A. Quayle Jr., treasurer of the Democratic national committee.

Dunham turned over a check for $30,000, last payment on the city's $125,000 convention guarantee, and received tickets for 4,000 seats. They included 1,000 on the mezzanine, 1,500 on the first balcony, and 1,500 on the second balcony. These seats, it was said, will be used by the Kelly-Nash organization.

A tentative list of delegations and the votes they will cast follows:

MILK WAGON DRIVERS VOTE DOWN NEW WAGE PROPOSAL OF DEALERS

Fifteen hundred members of the Milk Wagon Drivers' union, at the end of a stormy meeting last night in Carmen's hall, voted against acceptance of a new wage contract proposed by the Chicago milk dealers. They preëmptorily overrode a suggestion by officers that a referendum on the proposal be held Sunday.

This action made it certain that the differences of the drivers and dealers will go to arbitration next Monday. It was agreed at the end of a drivers' strike, May 26, that arbitration should be resorted to in the event negotiations failed. The arbitration board is composed of Paul Potter for the dealers, Thomas Haggerty for the union, and the Rev. Dennis J. Dunne, pastor of Holy Cross Catholic church, the impartial member.

The dealers asked that the men accept a base pay scale of $32 a week, with a guarantee of $40 a week total earnings. Routemen were to be paid 10 per cent on all collections over $100 a week, except wholesale drivers, whose commission rate would be 5 per cent. The drivers were to be guaranteed a maximum 54 hour week. Speakers at the meeting said the cut from the old basic scale of $52 would mean a loss of about $16 a week per man and that they would get a better deal in arbitration.

KNIT REPUBLICAN CITY FORCES FOR FIGHT NEXT FALL

Unity of Primary Rivals Is Party's Goal.

While Chicago Democrats are swelling the crowd in the Chicago Stadium next week the Cook county Republican organization will be hard at work coördinating and strengthening its machinery in preparation for the fall election campaign.

John T. Dempsey, county chairman, said yesterday that with the county, state, and national G. O. P. conventions now matters of history the detailed task of knitting together the factions that fought in the primary is being started.

Dempsey said also that he is now busy choosing the personnel of several important subcommittees of the county committee that the county convention authorized him to appoint. Each of these will include representatives of all the groups that opposed each other in the primary.

Down to Organization.

"In some wards there were as many as three or four groups contesting for primary honors," said Dempsey. "It is politically desirable that all groups in each ward consolidate under a single leadership. The theory is that the county committee, thru the elected ward committeemen constituting it, conducts the fall campaign. Wherever that is possible we hope to unite former contending groups under the committeeman.

"Such consolidations or mergers sometimes are difficult to accomplish after a heated primary but we have had considerable success in this direction and believe we'll have a closely welded organization covering the entire city in a short time."

Seek Downstate Unity.

Werner W. Schroeder, the new Republican national committeeman, and State Chairman Ben L. Berve left Chicago yesterday to spend four days conferring with party leaders in southern Illinois. Last night they attended a reception at Fairfield, the home of James V. Heidinger, congressional nominee in the 24th district.

There will be a meeting for them this afternoon at Harrisburg where State Committeeman John W. Spence will be in charge. This evening they will attend a meeting in the court house at Marion where Committeeman Fred B. Herbert of Murphysboro will preside.

Schroeder and Berve will end this week's travels in time to attend the biennial state convention of the Young Republicans at Decatur tomorrow night and Sunday.

It was announced that James M. Tucker, secretary of state of Indiana, who is 33 years old and was the only Republican elected to state office in Indiana in 1938, will be a principal speaker at the Decatur meeting. He will address the convention Sunday afternoon.

Raps Reds at Hamilton Club.

At the 50th anniversary dinner of the Hamilton club in the La Salle hotel last night, George F. Barrett, Republican nominee for attorney general, said that the G. O. P. campaign "Is a crusade to preserve America for Americans and to take our government out of the hands of people who owe their allegiance to a composite foreign flag."

Barrett displayed what he said was a list of 563 alleged communist sympathizers "Who are on the federal payroll at Washington."

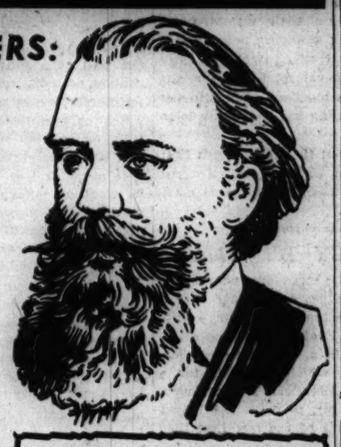
BRAHMS'
Symphony No. 2 in D Major
5 Double-Faced 12-Inch Records — 10 Recordings

DISTRIBUTION HEADQUARTERS:
65 EAST LAKE STREET
14 NORTH FRANKLIN STREET



TODAY, Friday, July 12th, you can get Johannes Brahms' Symphony No. 2 in D Major, the eleventh of twelve symphonic recordings available under this Chicago Music Appreciation Offer. The depth, orderliness, and perfect timing between form and feeling that mark the great classic style are beautifully developed in Brahms' second symphony. In perfect musical language he combines gentleness and sweetness with great power.

You get this composition complete for $2.18 in 5 double-faced 12-inch records. You would pay twelve dollars for this same composition, recorded by the same orchestra under the direction of the same conductor, with the names of the orchestra and conductor on the records. Distribution continues today, Saturday and all of next week, and as long as the supply lasts.

An Electric
RECORD PLAYER

Realizing that many families have no means of playing records, an electric record-playing attachment has been provided by the manufacturers at bare cost of production. This record-player, attached to your radio, enables you to play all sizes of records through the loudspeaker of your radio. The attachment is completely electric, needs no winding, and operates on AC current. No similar instrument has ever been offered before at so small a cost.

HOW THIS GREAT MOVEMENT WAS ACCOMPLISHED

You get the opportunity to take twelve of the world's greatest musical masterpieces into your home at an almost incredibly small price due to the following achievements:

(1) Some of the world's greatest orchestras and conductors waived their royalties.

(2) America's foremost music manufacturer reduced charges and profits to what that organization considers the barest practical operating minimum.

(3) America's foremost newspaper promotion organization, the Publishers Service Company, organized and conducted the campaign for many of the nation's most prominent newspapers and music societies.

(4) In Chicago, Publishers Service is conducting the campaign in behalf of the Chicago Society for Music Education, a non-profit organization which will receive the sums from the sale of the records, and after payment of all charges will distribute the remainder among the four co-operating Chicago musical organizations, the Chicago Symphony Orchestra, the Chicago Opera, Ravinia Festival and Chicago Women's Orchestral Association.

(5) One symphony or symphonic masterpiece is distributed on Friday of each week. Distribution of each symphony continues throughout the campaign as long as the supply lasts.

THE WAR CANDIDATE AND HIS PARTY.

Mr. Roosevelt has made it impossible for the Democrats to nominate him and then deny that their party is the war party. Mr. Roosevelt not only is preparing for this war, he has already gone to war so far as he can alone. That is not a rhetorical statement. It is the statement of a fact.

The way to stop Mr. Roosevelt's war is to stop Mr. Roosevelt. If the Democratic party doesn't, it's the war party. Mr. Roosevelt's acts are not merely unneutral. He is not even, in the new phrase, a nonbelligerent. He is a belligerent.

In his message to congress asking for more money for the armed forces—he wants 14 billion dollars—he said: "We will not send our men to take part in European war." That may be expected to reappear in the Democratic platform. It will be intended to dodge the record and deceive the people but the platform will mean nothing if Mr. Roosevelt is the candidate. A third term means a war term. It means the nomination of a man who has been going to war for nearly three years. He is now in one.

Twice as head of the American government he promised two of the belligerents in Europe that his government would put all its military resources except men at their disposal.

At Charlottesville, Va., he said: "We will extend to the opponents of force the material resources of this nation." That was one answer to the appeal of France in extremity. A few days later there was another response, this time to the last appeal for help. Reynaud asked for "clouds of airplanes" from America. Ambassador Bullitt had informed the state department in Washington that German troops were inside the gates of Paris.

Mr. Roosevelt cabled to the French premier in Tours: "I wish also to reiterate in the most emphatic terms that, making every possible effort under present conditions, the government of the United States has made it possible for the allied armies to obtain during the weeks that have just passed airplanes, artillery, and munitions of many kinds and that this government so long as the allied governments continue to resist will redouble its efforts in this direction."

When a government, as a government, furnishes airplanes, artillery, and munitions of many kinds to a nation at war, it is itself at war in reality with the nation against which this material is to be used. Mr. Roosevelt did not say that the private traders of the United States were exercising their rights under international law to furnish supplies to belligerents which would buy them. That procedure would conform to the letter of neutrality. No. Mr. Roosevelt said the American government was giving this assistance and that if France would hold out it would redouble its efforts to put all the material resources of this country at the disposal of France and Great Britain.

We often recall the remark of our civil war ambassador, Charles Francis Adams, in London to the British foreign minister, Lord Russell, when two Clyde-built commerce destroyers were about to slip away to complete the destruction of American shipping: "It is needless for me to remind you that this is war." What Mr. Roosevelt has done in putting his bellicose words into belligerent acts is in still greater degree war.

Those Clyde-built destroyers had been built by private firms, as had the Alabama. The supplies Mr. Roosevelt has been giving France and Great Britain come in part from our own arsenals and were government property. He invented or adopted the device of sending the war materials of the American navy and army back to the factories to be sold to the belligerents. The navy sent its planes; the army sent its guns. American civilian pilots were permitted to fly the planes into Canada when it was desired to ship them from there. In international law this is the act of a belligerent.

The commander in chief of the American army and navy ordered that American army and navy material be supplied to the belligerents. Mr. Roosevelt can't declare war on Germany and Italy but he can invite war and he can make war, and he has done so. He asks for 14 billion dollars to procure the planes, guns, and ships needed, as he says, for American defense, but he has shipped to Europe supplies out of our insufficient stores.

He appointed as secretary of war a Republican, Henry L. Stimson, who the day before he was nominated for that position made a speech in New Haven, Conn., in which he advocated the sending of American munitions in American ships, under the convoy of our own navy, and the opening of all our ports to the British and French navies for repairs, refueling, and other military uses. Mr. Roosevelt indorsed that policy by making its advocate the secretary of war.

Mr. Wilson, before he was renominated for the second term as the man who had kept America out of war, had already promised the allies the military assistance of the United States if the central powers would not make peace. He promised his own country to keep the peace. The people reelected him because they thought he would not send men to Europe. He already had conditionally promised to do so. But none of Mr. Wilson's overt acts prior to April, 1917, had been of the nature of Mr. Roosevelt's in the last 10 months. He hadn't sent the supplies of the American army or navy to France or Great Britain. He had not publicly pledged that the American government would put the resources of the nation at their disposal. The supplies the allies got here came from private traders. Mr. Roosevelt has pledged and given governmental assistance.

If he is renominated by the Democrats, it is for the purpose of carrying on the war in which he already is engaged. The expenditures he is making are not for the defense of the United States; they are against the time when an American expeditionary force will be dispatched to fight again somewhere in Europe, somewhere in the far Pacific, or somewhere in South America. The army of 2 million men for which he asks supplies is an army for invasion. If the Democratic party nominates a man who is already at war, it makes itself the war party and no words in its platform can deny that.

MAJ. WILLIAMS RESIGNS.

Maj. Alford J. Williams has resigned the marine corps reserve commission which he received shortly after he left active service in the navy air force seven years ago. In his resignation he wrote that he believes he can best serve his country without military affiliation.

What Maj. Williams undoubtedly meant was that without the ties of service discipline, he will now be free to speak his mind. While he despairs, apparently, of obtaining a hearing within the armed services, he may make his message heard by the civilian population.

While he was in the navy Maj. Williams won the world's speed championship for this country. He was a leader in the development of aerial acrobatics. He is, as his achievements demonstrate, one of the country's best pilots.

At least a year before Col. Lindbergh discovered the strength of the Nazi air force—and was denounced as a Nazi sympathizer for telling his story in Great Britain and the United States—Maj. Williams brought the same warning back from a trip to Germany. Like Col. Lindbergh's, his warning was ignored.

There is a parallel between Al Williams and the late Col. Billy Mitchell. Both had unbounded faith in air power. Both were as brilliant as they were erratic. Both propounded their views with force and conviction, and in so doing antagonized stodgier minds in the armed services. And both suffered for their frankness, Mitchell by a court martial that stands today as a blot on the record of the army; Williams, by a retirement that, if it was not forced, will undoubtedly be regarded with great relief in the navy, which is bitterly opposed to his pleas for a separate air defense department.

Military discipline is a great institution, but it is only a means to an end. That end is victory in war. Small minds have no difficulty in accommodating themselves to this discipline. Brilliant minds frequently do. When discipline cannot accommodate itself to the use of those brilliant minds, it becomes an impediment instead of an aid, and cannot fail to arouse distrust in the mental quality of our armed forces.

MR. HULL DOESN'T KNOW.

For several days Mr. Hull in the state department has been telling inquiring reporters who asked him about British and French naval activities at Martinique in the French West Indies that he did not know what was going on and had been unable to find out altho he was trying. This is strange. Is there no intelligence service in the United States government which can inform the state department of affairs in our front yard?

Even on his own Mr. Hull, it would be thought, could send Mr. Welles, the traveling undersecretary, as far as the British and French embassies. They probably know what their warships are doing. There has been a sweeping naval patrol of American waters, a neutrality patrol, ever since the war started. The naval intelligence might know something about a blockade of Martinique if there is one or impending battle if there is to be one.

Mr. Hull knows all about the Netherlands East Indies and writes notes about them. Strange that he is in the dark when the event is close to our own West Indies.

INEFFICIENCY BY LAW.

A recent decision of the wage-hour administration in Washington provides a reminder that it is against the law to hasten this country's military preparation. An A. F. of L. union, representing the men employed in a dredging operation, had signed a contract which provided for a work-week of more than 42 hours. The men were willing, and, in fact, eager, to work the longer week, particularly in view of the fact that they were employed on a job related to the national defense. Nevertheless, the contract was declared invalid.

It is difficult to believe that the country will tolerate such interferences much longer. There are still many millions of unemployed, but for much the most part they are unskilled. Every enterprise of any importance requires its quota of skilled men. When their hours are arbitrarily shortened the result is not the creation of work for those out of employment but the slowing down of production all along the line.

This is particularly true in the munitions industries. There is a shortage of competent craftsmen in the metal trades and with the best will in the world it cannot be corrected for some years to come. If the army and navy are to receive their new equipment rapidly and in adequate volume, the restrictions on hours of work must be relaxed.

NATURE'S AIR ALARMS.

[Illinois State Journal.]

A contributor to the State Journal says that what the country needs is a goodly supply of crested screamers. The crested screamer is a Brazilian bird which hears an airplane 10 miles off and immediately begins to scream.

"Thus it provides a cheap and satisfactory private air alarm system," the contributor explains. "The screamer is celebrated in the works of the Brazilian poet, Nao Gonzaloes, whose tribute, very freely translated, is as follows:

"A wonderful bird from Brazil
For defense fills exactly the bill,
But they are quite rare;
If you can't get a pair
Their value, of course, becomes nil.

"Director Ernest Untermann of the Milwaukee zoo, which has two crested screamers, has some comfort, however, for those who can't get any," the contributor adds. "He says guinea hens are almost as good." If this is the case, how many guinea hens are available in central Illinois for our protection?

DELUSIONS ABOUT SNAKES.

The fear of snakes is instinctive.

This cannot be proved. Children whose minds have not been influenced by the stories and phobias of their elders are not afraid of reptiles. It is an acquired, not an instinctive, fear, altho subconscious racial memories and snake complexes may be woven into it. When you see a burly male foursome abolishing a harmless little garter snake with mashies and niblicks, you may suspect that it is even an ignoble fear.

Whisky is a cure for snake bite.

Quite the contrary; experiments have shown that alcohol in small doses increases the rapidity of the poison's absorption, and in large doses it aids the poisoning by weakening the heart action. Whisky is only useful to counteract the shock of fear in snake bite cases, especially when the snake is nonvenomous.

Rattlesnakes will sometimes commit suicide by striking their fangs into their own bodies.

Wrong again. All available evidence indicates that snakes are immune to their own venom. This myth is based on the fact that a snake, in its death agony, often lashes out in all directions, and may catch a fang in one of its coils.

The hoop snake takes its tail in its mouth and rolls across country like a wheel.

This is a widely spread North American myth. No one ever saw a snake rolling around in this manner, unless he was suffering from delirium tremens. The fabulous hoop snake is also said to have a poisonous horn or sting at the end of his tail, a wound from which is fatal. No snake has a poison sac or piercing weapon on its tail.

The milk snake sucks milk from cows.

An American barnyard myth, and sheer bucolic nonsense. The so-called milk snake [Lampropeltis triangulum] lurks in barns as a mouse catcher. Perhaps it may have been observed, now and then, drinking milk that had leaked from a cow's udder.

PORTRAIT OF A LADY.

you say the thing is finished—ready now to be taken—unveiled before my friends a pretty picture of me I'll allow the magic of your brushes surely lends a sweetness and serenity I never knew I had as tho you'd drawn a veil across my face to cover all the heartache . . . that's too bad and not the way I wanted it to grace the blue and ivory pattern of my wall it should portray a sullen mocking ghost reminding him who sometimes comes to call just what it was about me pleased him most a smile upon my mouth you should have placed an ugly scar slashed cruelly bright and red—upon my eyes and delicately traced a film of disillusionment should spread but then . . . this peaceful pastel tinted mask betrays no secret . . . leave it as it is so I can tell myself (if I should ask) a part of me was never really his

The Yellow Kid at the Dill Pickle.

Your references to the Dill Pickle club have sent me off on a nostalgic bender. . . .

I remember one night when the Yellow Kid was addressing the irreverent forum in Tooker place. He often hung about the Dill Pickle with his partner, Doc Buckminster, when the two of them weren't being wanted somewhere for a con game. Doc, who had the manner of a banker and the soul of a thug, played the double rôle of captain of industry and strong arm man in the partnership's easy money schemes.

Getting back to the lectern. . . . The Kid carefully warned his audience that his latest invention was to be produced by a closed corporation—that no stock was available to the public. Then he went on to explain the invention. It was a machine that would take a fertile egg, develop and hatch it almost at once by means of a special ray which would also stimulate an instantaneous growth of the chicken, and . . . In short, this machine would convert a new laid egg into a fried chicken in something less than an hour.

There was a roar of appreciation when he had finished. Then, and this gives us an inkle on why we have Yellow Kids, several people came up and asked if the invention was an actual one, when production would start, and if the public was absolutely barred from the ground floor.

Archie the Cockroach II.

Don't Forget Lillian Russell.

The letter "L" is strong magic in names. Look at Julius Cæsar, Napoleon, Hitler, Mussolini, and Churchill. Therefore may we point out that Wendell Lewis Willkie has it on Franklin Delano Roosevelt, five "L's" to three?

LYING ON THE GRASS.

The singing blades of grass lean tall
Against the trees, against the sky,
And all is equal, large or small,
From where I lie, from where I lie.

A pageant moves across the blue,
Beyond the grass, beyond the trees,
And all about things strange, things new,
Are not the least, the least of these.

Kind Fate, O let me keep this heart,
With childlike joy in simple things,
And let me ever be a part
Of Life that breathes and smiles and sings.

Kathy.

Origin of "Hip, Hip"?

I wonder whether the Word Detective [July 5] knows the origin of the cheer, "Hip, hip, hurrah"?—"Hip, hip" was originally "hep, hep," the battle cry of the Jew baiters of the middle ages. "Hep" is composed of the first letters of "Hierosolyma est perdita" [Jerusalem has fallen]. Maxellus.

[It is true that "hep" is an obsolete form of "hip," as an exclamation; but tracing its origin to the initial letters of three Latin words is merely a medieval scholastic notion, labeled unsound by the Word Detective.]

How's this for a triple play?—One of the Line's contribs was out of a job. We said, "Try So-and-So." She did, sending in an application in verse. He didn't give her a job, but passed her rhymes on to another column in another paper, which published them. CHARLES COLLINS.

DIFFICULT SWALLOWING—FROM LACKING VITAMINS.

NOW and then physicians encounter patients [mostly women] who state that food just will not go down. They go thru the motions of swallowing but the material returns into the mouth. Occasionally this is due to hysteria born of fear, worry, or apprehension. The cause may be similar to that which brings on a profuse flow of saliva. This symptom often accompanies nervousness which—in turn—may be responsible for marked drying of the oral cavity. Termed globus hystericus [a ball in the throat] no reasonable explanation was advanced until it was observed that many of these persons were anemic. Promptly upon the correction of the blood—with the use of iron and hydrochloric acid—improvement began.

Now comes the suggestion that—in some instances, at least—this manifestation may be due to a lack of vitamin B. Jankelson reports a series of subjects in which the administration of B by means of injections of liver extract and thiamin chloride into the muscles, and nicotinic acid by mouth, relieved the condition completely.

One of his patients—a girl of 22—had been following a reducing diet of her own devising. She had lost 40 pounds in weight but the after effects were anything but desirable. Persistent pains in both the legs and arms were clear indications of neuritis of the B deficiency type. To add insult to injury, for several weeks she had found swallowing almost impossible. Hospital care was then advised because even liquids could not be ingested. Naturally, she was exceedingly weak, her tissues were dry, and she was unable to use the lower extremities. Under intensive vitamin B therapy she made a speedy recovery. Her difficulties on taking food disappeared within a week and all pains vanished within three weeks thereafter.

Another one of his cases—a woman of 55—complained of burning pain in the stomach area with the feeling as tho she had a lump in the lower portion of her chest. The distress was much worse when she attempted to take solids or cold liquids and she developed a profound fear that something would lodge permanently in the gullet. In consequence, she confined her diet to soft edibles and milk.

An examination of the gastric contents showed no free hydrochloric acid and here again B complex brought relief. Within three weeks she was able to take ordinary foods without the slightest discomfort. The burning sensation passed away when the acid was taken at mealtime.

Examples of this sort could be multiplied extensively. Suffice it to say that many will not show the typical blood depletion—formerly thought to be the basis of the disorder. It is entirely reasonable to assume that some of the factors that brought about the drop in the hemoglobin [red coloring matter] may have the same starter—namely, the shortage of a particular fraction of B. In the absence of hydrochloric acid or of iron—even tho B be present—it may not be absorbed.

No age is exempt as the ailment will occur in young, middle aged, or older women. Careful study seemed to point to the fact, however, that we are dealing strictly with a nutritional failure—one that may influence health profoundly. In all cases cited by Jankelson all possible causes were eliminated except an inadequate amount of this essential.

It should be clear that there is no justification in following a reducing program which may lead to disaster. Emphasis is placed repeatedly upon the necessity for maintaining a balanced menu. While the calories must be less than the body requires, thus obliging it to use up its own store of foodstuffs [fat], nevertheless the vitamins must be included—all of them. If bold starvation must be the rule in order to force adipose tissue to slip away, the only safe plan is to include starches and proteins plus minerals and vitamins in the daily rations. Otherwise the individual is treading on dangerous ground.

Of course, with any trouble relating to the passage of food into the gastric pouch, all sources of trouble should be investigated. For the most part, however, the condition may be traced to some lacking element such as B, iron, or the natural acid of the digestive secretion.

COLD SHOWERS.

L. B. writes: I frequent a beach which provides only cold showers. I claim it is harmful—after spending some hours in the sun—to get under a cold stream of water. Would it be better to take a warm shower at first and then gradually make the spray cooler?

REPLY.

Much. Strong physiques can withstand cold showers. Those persons who are less vigorous risk injury.

DARK STOOLS.

J. S. writes: What causes tarry stool?

REPLY.

Blood should be suspected and tested for. On the other hand, many become unduly frightened as certain drugs such as iron or bismuth may give much the same appearance. The presence of blood may be simulated by several vegetables—for example, beets. In case of doubt consult your family physician. There are reliable chemical checks for even minute hemorrhages.

ANTITOXIN TESTS.

F. N. N. writes: You recommend the prompt use of antitetanus serum in puncture wounds. Is it safe to administer it in the case of a boy of 11 who suffered severely from asthma until he was ten years old?

REPLY.

He should be tested for sensitivity with a relatively small amount. Your physician will know how to do this. If a reaction is observed, graduated doses may be employed.

TODAY IN HISTORY

July 12, 102 B. C.

Julius Caesar born in a family that claimed descent from Venus, the goddess of love. At 19 he was forced to leave Rome for political reasons. During the voyage he was captured by pirates. When the pirates failed to applaud the poems and essays he read to them, he promised that he would some day hang them. Following his release thru ransom, he chartered some ships and carried out his promise.

THE GREAT MYSTERY ACT SEEMS TO BE HAVING TROUBLE GETTING THE SPOTLIGHT

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Address Voice of the People, THE TRIBUNE.

PLAN FOR A LARGER ARMY.

Dickerson Station, Md., July 8.—As to the proposed increased army: So far, only proposed. In the last recruiting drive, and in the corps area including interventionist New England and New York, 300 or so volunteers. Not 3,000, still less 30,000. Not a chance, under present conditions, of the two or three hundred thousand volunteer recruits desired.

The other alternative, as publicly discussed, is conscription. But not a chance of its passage by congressmen adjourning presently for reelection in November.

Such is the problem of American defense. What is the solution? Curiously enough, it is simple. And may be made immediate:

Congress to enact the requisite measures to provide for some given number of army divisions [perhaps 20]. Such divisions to receive some distinguishing name—let us say, "Defense Divisions." These troops to be armed in the most efficient manner for defensive land warfare.

Congress to provide that enlistment in such a defense division shall obligate the citizen enlisting only to service in the continental United States; and at the same time free him from liability to conscription for any other service.

Congress further to provide that each soldier, in his term of active service in a defense division, shall be vocationally tested; and shall be given a thoro education and apprenticeship for the civil occupation for which he proves best fitted. His civil education to be combined with his military training. All at high pressure.

So much for home defense. For overseas service there would be, of course, the navy and marine corps. Finally, the present army enlisted personnel would make up into perhaps 10 or 12 regular divisions. About as many men as England had in France [in 1940].

GORDON STRONG

[who recruited a battery of artillery in 1897-'98, and a regiment of engineers in 1916-'17].

NEGROES FOR THE ARMY.

Chicago, July 9.—THE TRIBUNE is interested in demanding that those who are on relief and single should be placed in the army.

There is a large group of people in America whose sons are unable to get into the army to any extent worthy of mention.

Recruits of Negro blood are not wanted at present. If you are interested in building up the army thru using the people available why not say a word about giving due place to American citizens of the Negro race? JOHN UPCHURCH.

THE PRESIDENT'S SECRETS.

Chicago, July 8.—Will some one please tell me how President Roosevelt could possibly expect our vote of confidence in the coming election?

He refuses to confide in us. He has dodged the result of Sumner Welles' conferences abroad, the revelations contained in King Leopold's letter, Secretary Woodring's reasons for his resignation.

He told Farley his stand on the third term issue but will not tell us, who deserve to know. Must we be compelled to play hide and seek with the decisions of our elected government? K. P. K.

A LONDONER WANTS TO KNOW.

LONDON, June 28.—Who or what is preventing America from entering the war? The time is past for considering whether America should participate or not. In the minds of the vast majority of American people that question is settled. The most important duty of every American citizen at this moment is to seek out and expose all those who are delaying or hampering full American participation in the war.

Measures "short of war" are insufficient. The war for freedom cannot be won on a limited liability basis.

G. E. LEE.

THE WEEKLY TRACTION TICKET.

Chicago, July 9.—In discussion of the proposed traction ordinance, a modern fare system, essential in a modern traction system, should be considered. The weekly pass now in use on Chicago's "L" lines and on numerous street car lines in other cities, if placed in effect, will eliminate the issuance of thousands of transfers and unnecessary delay at "L" ticket windows, will speed up loading of street cars, will increase riding in non-rush hours, proving profitable to traction line as well as convenient to passengers to whom daily payment of fares and handling and stamping transfers is a nuisance. PASSENGER.

A NEGLECTED SIDEWALK.

Chicago, July 9.—A dangerous condition exists in the cement sidewalk on the property adjoining ours to the south [Baltimore avenue and 91st street]. This condition has been called to the attention of the police here without any action being taken.

We hope the publicity you will give this will bring a quick bit of action before some one is seriously injured.

P. J. RUBEY CO.

WHAT ABOUT FIRE ESCAPES?

Chicago, July 10.—In view of the recent holocaust at State and Ohio streets, how many rooming houses without fire escapes are owned by exempt politicians and who is responsible?

At a recent fire in a row of rooming houses on La Salle near Superior street, the fire department was forced belatedly to use its big extension ladder to reach a small blaze. S. O. L.

CIGARETS AT HINES.

Chicago, July 8.—In your Voice column a veteran writes that at Hines hospital on the 4th he was without cigarets. Such is not the case. The Spanish War Vets, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and the American Legion all furnished cigarets. Also the hospital on the dinner tray furnished cigarets. AUGUST A. PALMKE, Past Commander, Wm. McKinley Camp, No. 6, Ward F, 358, Hines Hospital.

FATHER OF ISOLATIONISTS.

New York, July 8.—Any American who is pro any foreign nationality is not a true American patriot. Every slur thrown at isolationists is an insult to George Washington, the father of the nation and the father of all isolationists. Many thanks for your patriotic stand.

OPAL ESSANT.

THE "YOUTH" VIEWPOINT.

Chicago, July 8.—Your editorial, "Mrs. Roosevelt's Fifth Column," shows a profound stupidity on your part.

You accuse Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt of helping communism because they have encouraged the youth of this country to unite, speak its mind, and stand for its rights, but it is you and the likes of you who are the dangerous criminals.

The first paragraph of your editorial contains enough incriminating evidence against you to put you behind bars for the rest of your living days. Haven't you learned from the horrible experiences in Europe that the downfall of the now conquered countries was caused primarily by a gross underestimation of the enemy? Then why do you speak of youth and youth congresses with a tone that reeks with indifference, nonchalance, and even some haughtiness? If youth is so unimportant, why have Hitler, Mussolini, and Stalin catered to it?

When and if this country needs to fight against a possible invader it will not be last year's crop of generals with outmoded "secret" plans of defense, backed by a handful of greedy and jealous multimillionaires who will safeguard our democracy. It will be the youth of America, provided they think that America is still worth saving and that they have some assurance that they will not be giving their lives so that, next generation, another handful of capitalists will start the same thing all over again.

MARY LOU LARSON.

WANTS WEST SIDE PICTURES.

Chicago, July 8.—You recently printed a diagram of the north shore Outer drive; earlier one of the South Shore drive. How about showing a picture of the west side? Have your photographer ride the Douglas Park L and take pictures of the garbage in the alleys from Marshfield station to Western avenue. Beautiful view.

Mayor Kelly should take that ride instead of going to the Nazi picnic.

WEST SIDER.

MAYOR SAYS HE DIDN'T SEE THE FLAG.

Chicago, July 5.—Of all childish tricks! To take it out on Mayor Kelly because in honor of the German consul their flag was displayed—for, it seems, only a brief while.

Mayor Kelly has been fair and square all down the line. He has thousands of friends in this city who resent this excuse to find fault with him. He has attended the Polish gatherings when their flag was displayed, etc. As we are not at war with the German people why this ignorant chatter about so small a matter? I trust THE TRIBUNE prints this!

BROKER'S COMMISSION.

Chicago, July 10.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Last year all of the members of a real estate firm were convicted for swindling. Prior to their arrest, they loaned us $100 to add to the down payment on a home we bought.

1. In the meantime another firm took over the deal and that is how we were able to save the money we paid down. The other firm closed the deal for us to every one's satisfaction. Now the man that dealt with us and loaned us the $100 has been released from jail and wants us to pay the loan

We have not the money to pay out now and we would like to know [2] if they can put a lien on our house or sue us for this money. F. M.

1. You do not make clear whether the first brokers had undertaken to serve you, nor whether by their default you were forced to compensate the second brokers.

2. They are entitled to take judgment for the amount you borrowed unless you can prove some defense by set-off or otherwise. Such a judgment would be a lien.

REDS IN LATVIA ADMIT ILLEGAL SOVIET GUIDANCE

Plots to Stir Up Revolts Acknowledged.

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, July 11.—Four telegrams approved by the first session of the Latvian communist party and by soviet officials here have been sent to soviet leaders in Moscow. In them is the frank admission that communists do "underground work" to overthrow governments of the countries in which they operate.

The messages were sent to Josef Stalin, the Russian dictator; Georgi Dimitrov, general secretary of the executive committee of the communist party; Vyacheslav Molotov, premier and foreign commissar, and Klementi Voroshilov, war commissar.

Under Orders of Moscow.

Their admissions tend further to confirm revelations made by this correspondent that foreign branches of the communist party, including the American communist party, work under Moscow's orders and leadership.

The telegram to Stalin stated:

"Comrade: On this joyous and festive day this Riga organization of the communist party meets openly and legally after many years of underground work, fighting for the liberty of the laborers of Latvia.

"We send you, dear Comrade Stalin, a burning communist greeting. Together with the names of the great teachers, Marx and Engels, together with the name of the unforgetable Comrade Lenin, your name inspired us for the difficult and illegal struggle in the past and encourage us anew.

Says "Chains" Broken.

"Now that the chains of reaction are broken, the fight for a new life and new victories begins. We promise you, dear Comrade Stalin, that the Riga organization of the Latvian communist party always keeps to the road pointed out by you, the leader of the world proletariat, the organizer of the world-wide victory.

The telegram to Dimitrov said:

"Comrade Dimitrov: After many years of illegal activity and having met for our first legal meeting, the Riga committee of the L. C. C. [Latvian communist party] has decided to warmly greet you as the flaming and fearless fighter for the cause of laborers, the leader of the communist internationale. In our struggle, when it was illegal, we tried to keep the banner of the communist internationale high.

See "Final Victories."

"We shall raise it now even higher, since our party has become the leader and organizer of the wide masses of the Latvian laborers. Under the famous and victorious flag of the communist internationale we shall proceed further toward new and final victories."

The messages to Premier Molotov and War Commissar Voroshilov also were replete with fulsome praise of the communist doctrine and leaders. They likewise stressed the underground activity of the soviet organizations.

To Molotov, the Latvians said, "In your person the Latvian communist party thanks laborers of the U. S. S. R. for the fraternal assistance which secured for us the new and happy life."

Send "Hot" Greetings.

Voroshilov was acclaimed in a telegram which said, in part, "to you, the leader of the heroic Red army which is carrying liberation to the workers of the entire world, we send our hot communist greetings."

Of these four telegrams, the second one, addressed to Dimitrov, chief of the communist internationale, is the most significant. After many months of retirement, the communist internationale is again appearing in Moscow policies as an instrument to help the Russian expansion in Europe.

Dimitrov, like Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels, German propaganda minister, disappeared from the public eye when the German-soviet nonaggression pact was concluded last August. Now the Russian has reappeared as one of Moscow's imperialists, who are intent both upon extending Russia's frontiers and fomenting a world revolution.

The tiny groups of communists in the three Baltic countries never would have emerged from their hiding places, of course, had not the soviet government sent the Red army in on a mission of occupation.

Senate Sends Hatch Measure for Clean Politics to President

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 11.—Without a dissenting voice, the senate today approved and sent to the White House the Hatch clean politics bill, forbidding pernicious political activity by state machine pay rollers who distribute federal funds.

The bill was sent to President Roosevelt for his signature when the senate concurred in minor amendments adopted by the house before it passed the measure yesterday by the overwhelming vote of 243 to 122.

President Roooseveit is in no position to veto the bill, for when he signed the Hatch act of 1939 with expressed reluctance he said congress should be consistent and extend its principle to employés of state agencies financed in whole or in part by federal funds. The Hatch act of 1939 outlawed pernicious political activity by federal job holders, and the new bill extends the prohibition to all state employés concerned in any way with the spending of federal money.

Opponents' Strategy Fails.

Altho Mr. Rooseveit repeatedly professed approval of the second Hatch bill, most of the administration leaders in the house opposed it. They resorted to every available stratagem to kill the bill in the house judiciary committee, which once voted to table it under scandalous circumstances, Chairman Hatton W. Sumners [D., Tex.] announced that the bill had been shelved by a secret ballot, consisting of anonymous slips of paper dropped in his hat, but when the members were polled later a majority of them claimed they voted for the measure.

Relentless blasting away by Senator Carl A. Hatch [D., N. M.], author of the bill, and Representative John J. Dempsey [D., N. M.], its sponsor in the house, finally dislodged it from the judiciary committee and sent it triumphantly thru the house. The New Mexico legislators were aided immeasureably by Wendell L. Willkie, Republican presidential nominee, and Republicans in congress, whose support of the Hatch bill put the New Dealers on an embarrassing spot.

Willkie not only indorsed the bill, but specifically approved a senate amendment inserted by the New Dealers for the avowed purpose of alienating Republican support. This amendment limits the amount of political contributions that can be made by any one person in any one year to $5,000.

A house amendment, also sponsored by New Dealers for the purpose of sabotaging the bill, limits the amount of money that can be received and spent by any political committee during any calendar year to $3,000,000. Altho this will curtail the financial activities of both the Democratic and Republican national committees, it will not affect the aggregate of campaign expenditures, since any number of Willkie or Roosevelt for President clubs can be organized and each state committee can spend up to $3,000,000 if it has that much.

A Blow to 2 Per Centers.

The most violent opponents of the Hatch Bill when it was before the senate in March were Senator Sherman [I'm a rubber stamp] Minton of Indiana and Senator Scott W. Lucas of Illinois, both representatives of democratic state machines which levy assessments of 2 per cent [sometimes more] on the salaries of state employés. These two 2 per cent senators were absent today when Senator Hatch moved to concur in the house amendments, which the senate did with very little discussion.

The two main provisions of the bill are:

1. No officer or employé of any state or local agency connected with any activity financed in whole or in part by loans or grants from the federal treasury may use his authority or influence for the purpose of coercing other employes or affecting the results of an election.

2. No such officer or employe shall take any active part in political management or political campaigns. [Excepted from the latter provision are governors, lieutenant governors, mayors of cities, heads of state or municipal departments, and all elected officials.]

The penalty for violation of these provisions is removal from office or employment.

3,000 JOBHOLDERS IN ILLINOIS TO FEEL HATCH ACT

Labor Unit Hardest Hit by Politics Ban.

At least 3,000 Democratic jobholders in the state administration will be barred from political activity if President Roosevelt signs the Hatch clean politics bill, which was passed in Washington yesterday by the senate.

Department heads in the state house at Springfield made the Illinois estimate yesterday. The ban on politics would hit all employés whose salaries are paid wholly or in part with federal funds. They would be prohibited from engaging in political campaigns. Violations would be punishable by five years' imprisonment and a maximum fine of $5,000.

Labor Department Has Most.

The state department of labor, in which 2,200 persons are employed, would be the hardest hit under the Hatch bill. Officials declared that about 1,700 of these—most of them in the division of unemployment compensation—would be affected. They are scattered in offices thruout the state with an especially large pay roll in Chicago.

This division keeps books on employer payments and dispenses compensation to those eligible to receive it.

Fletcher C. Kettle, superintendent of the division of old age assistance in the department of public welfare, said he believed all of his 1,100 employés would be blanketed under the political ban.

Matches State Funds.

These pay rollers are paid from both state and federal funds, since the federal government matches state contributions toward assistance to the indigent. Like the unemployment compensation division, this branch of the government has offices thruout the state.

In the state health department about 300 of the 600 employés would come under the Hatch bill, it was estimated. They are professional and technical workers paid from federal funds made available thru the social security act to supplement the work of the state department.

A few employés of the highway division in the department of public works and buildings may be affected because of the federal grants for road improvement.

Private Contractors Do Work.

However, it was pointed out that all road construction in which federal funds are used is let on private contract, and only a few pay rollers are connected with it in a supervisory capacity.

One of the questions raised in discussions in the state house on the effect of the bill concerned the 10,000 members of the Illinois National Guard. Members of the guard receive $1 per night for drilling one night a week, and additional pay during the yearly encampment at Camp Grant.

Since the drill pay comes from federal funds, it was debated whether guardsmen would have to refrain from any sort of political activity.

REVEAL FINDING OF BOMB NEAR CONVENTION SITE

Philadelphia, Pa., July 11 [Special].—Police disclosed today that a crude time bomb was found here on June 24, the opening day of the Republican national convention, in a central city building said to be used by communists.

They contradicted, however, the statement of New York police that several bombs were found here while the convention was in session, and denied a newspaper story printed here June 27 that detectives had uncovered "a widespread red bomb plot."

The bomb found on the convention's opening day was discovered by the police radical squad in a raid on The Workers School, which Lieut. Albert A. Granitz said was communist operated.

Two men were arrested and held in $3,500 bail each on charges of sedition and possession of the bomb. The prisoners, who denied the charges, were identified by Granitz as Adolph Heiler, 36 years old, an attorney, and Bernard Rush, 30, a salesman.

APARTMENT CLERK ROBBED OF $10.

A hatless bandit got $10 yesterday in a holdup at the Canterbury Court apartments, 1220 North State street. Thomas Ryan, night clerk, was the victim.

BAR ASSOCIATION AGAIN HOLDS UP TAX FIX REPORT

The board of managers of the Chicago Bar association at its weekly meeting yesterday again took no steps to make public a report from a subcommittee on the "fixing" of personal property assessments in Cook county. The subcommittee's report was made more than a month ago.

The subcommittee's investigation was made following the disclosure by County Assessor John S. Clark in February that two employés in his office had tried to fix 1939 levies of 250 corporations. Clark halted the attempted fixes in time to prevent frauds.

It has been reported reliably that the bar association's board is undecided whether to publish the subcommittee's report in full or to make revisions. Clark has urged that all the findings be brought into the open.

DICE GAME PARTS TWO PALS; PUTS ONE IN HOSPITAL

For a long time Russell Roske, 24 years old, 5830 Sangamon street, and John Gelde, 58, of 6826 Aberdeen street, were friends. Last night, while they were shaking dice for drinks in the saloon of Joseph Matkus at 6000 Carpenter street, the friendship ended.

Roske accused Gelde of cheating. Gelde, angry, smashed his beer glass on the bar. Then, with the jagged remains of it, he slashed Roske's neck. The injured man was taken to the Englewood hospital, where he was given a blood transfusion in the hope of saving his life. Gelde and Matkus were arrested.

LAKE DIVERSION BOOST SOUGHT AS HEARINGS OPEN

Monte M. Lemann.

Monte M. Lemann, special master appointed by the United States Supreme court, yesterday opened hearings on Illinois' plea for an increase in the diversion of lake water from 1,500 to 5,000 cubic feet a second until December 31, 1942, when additional sewage treatment facilities will be in operation.

Presentation of Illinois' case was begun by William Clausen, assistant to Attorney General John E. Cassidy, who also was on hand. Six other states are to be heard.

The Illinois plea is based upon the state's contention that, because of lack of current in the Illinois waterway, obnoxious odors and unhealthful conditions are created by the dumping of partially treated sewage into the river from the west side sewage treatment plant at Laramie avenue and 39th street.

Horace P. Ramey, assistant chief engineer for the sanitary district, testified that a Public Works administration board of review last spring approved a study recommending additions to the southwest treatment plant at Stickney, which would permit final treatment there of the sewage partially processed at the west side plant.

"It will take two and one-half years, however, to complete the project," Ramey estimated.

FAMILY TO SEEK COURT'S MERCY FOR ANNENBERG

Cite Ill Health, Severity of Sentence.

Moses L. Annenberg, Philadelphia publisher, will make one last effort Monday to avoid serving three years in a federal penitentiary for income tax evasion, it was learned yesterday.

He has been granted another day in court by Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson for a hearing on his motion for probation. At this hearing, for the first time since the inception of the case, Annenberg's wife and several of his daughters are expected to make pleas in his behalf. They are reported to have appealed for the chance to speak directly to the judge. Annenberg also may take the stand.

Convicted of Tax Fraud.

Annenberg was sentenced July 1 on his plea of guilty to a charge of evading $1,217,296 taxes for 1936. He is due to surrender and begin serving the prison term on July 22.

It was reported both in the United States courthouse here and in Washington, D. C., that the department of justice already has completed arrangements for him to be sent to the federal penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa. This is only a few miles from Philadelphia, where Annenberg, once a penniless immigrant boy, reached the height of his power and prestige as publisher of one of America's oldest newspapers, the Inquirer.

In all cases of imprisonment the United States attorney general or his aids select the institution in which the prisoner must serve. Formal announcement of the decision with regard to Annenberg is being withheld, it was said, pending the final ruling on the motion for probation.

Annenberg's attorneys filed with Judge Wilkerson yesterday a brief supporting this motion. It was accompanied by affidavits of seven physicians asserting that imprisonment may have serious consequences for both Annenberg and his wife.

Tell of Ailments.

Annenberg, who is 64 years old, was described as suffering from sinus and throat infections and a serious internal ailment. His wife was said to be suffering from heart disease.

"We do not contend that Annenberg's age and ill health should relieve him of punishment for the crime to which he has pleaded guilty," the brief stated, "but we do submit they are factors which should be given consideration on the question of degree of punishment."

The brief argued further that the sentence was unduly harsh in view of all the circumstances in the case. Seldom, it said, has a defendant in an income tax case received so long a term on a plea of guilty.

Cite Other Cases.

The brief listed numerous notable income tax cases, showing the amount of punishment ordered in each. The cases of Al Capone, his brother, Ralph, Jack Guzik, and Boss Tom Pendergast of the defunct Kansas City Democratic machine, were included.

In 14 of these, the sentences were one year and a day or less, it was argued. Only six of the defendants got sentences of more than two years and those only after trials before juries. One of the heaviest sentences on a guilty plea prior to the Annenberg case was 15 months imposed on Pendergast, according to the brief.

Annenberg's personal tax liability was set by the government at more than 5 million dollars. The 65 corporations under his control were charged with owing approximately 3 millions more. Annenberg already has agreed to pay the government 9½ million dollars including interest in the next seven years, to settle all claims back to 1923.

Divorces Musician

VIVIAN VANCE.

Albuquerque, N. M., July 11 (AP).—Vivian Vance, New York and Hollywood actress, was granted a divorce today from her musician-husband, George Koch of New York City. Miss Vance, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Jones of Albuquerque, married Koch in New York in 1933. The decree was granted on grounds of incompatibility. Her most recent Broadway appearances were in "Kiss the Boys Goodbye" and "Skylark."

LOAN OFFICIAL SUED FOR $24,764; FRAUD CHARGED

Two suits to recover $24,764 he is accused of fraudulently appropriating were filed in the Superior court yesterday by the Chicago Discount corporation against Samuel E. Steinberg, missing president of the company. State's attorney's police have been seeking Steinberg for the last month to question him concerning an alleged shortage in his accounts estimated at $47,000.

One suit charged Steinberg with converting $16,514 to his own use since June, 1939. The other alleges that he appropriated $8,250 on June 29, 1936, after making an entry in the books to indicate that a note for that amount had been given him by his brother, M. L. Steinberg, who is described as "a person of no financial responsibility." The brother is reported to have been on WPA.

The estimated shortage was reported on the basis of an audit by John Phillips, assistant state's attorney, of the blue sky division. The Discount corporation, which deals in mercantile notes and automobile financing, asks a judgment containing a malice count, so that Steinberg may be jailed if he does not pay.

MIKE CARROZZO'S CITIZENSHIP EYED BY U. S. AGENTS

Hint Grounds Exist for Voiding Rights.

Developments in Mike Carrozzo's current difficulties with the government are being watched with interest by the bureau of immigration and naturalization, it was learned yesterday.

Government officials hint there might be ground for asking the District court to revoke Carrozzo's citizenship privileges if it can be shown he knowingly violated the laws of his adopted country during the five year probationary period prior to granting his final papers in July, 1937.

Carrozzo is president of the International Hod Carriers' and Common Laborers' District council and holds dictatorship control over 25 Chicago locals with a total membership of 15,000. He was indicted with nine other union officials last month on charges of conspiracy to violate the Sherman antitrust act by restraining the use of ready mix concrete in this area.

At Liberty on Bond.

Conviction carries maximum punishment for each defendant of one year in jail and a fine of $1,000. Carrozzo and the others are at liberty on bonds of $1,000.

The alleged conspiracy began in March, 1935, according to the indictment. This was more than two years before Carrozzo swore to the spotlessness of his character and thereby qualified for naturalization.

It is known also that Carrozzo, who is reputed to have an income of more than $200,000 per year, has been under investigation for several months for alleged income tax evasions dating back to at least a year before he was granted final papers.

Tries To Settle Tax Bill.

In a belated effort to settle his tax bill with the government, it has been revealed, Carrozzo has paid nearly $500,000 in back taxes since 1933. Reports on the alleged shortages have been forwarded to Washington and the attorney general's office is said to be considering approval of a proposal to take criminal action against him.

Fred D. Schlotfeldt, head of the immigration bureau, declined yesterday to discuss the matter or to predict what bearing convictions in either case—antitrust or income tax—might have on Carrozzo's status as a citizen. The bureau contemplates no action, it was learned, until prosecutions by other governmental branches have been completed.

Carrozzo arrived in this country in 1909 but did not file a petition for citizenship until 1926. His attempts to get final papers were blocked by the immigration bureau for almost 11 years. Twice he was forced to withdraw and start over again.

Liner America Will Go Into West Indies Service

New York, July 11 (AP).—The new $17,000,000 liner America, largest merchant ship built in the United States, will be placed in the West Indies cruise service, the United States Lines said tonight. The 27,000 ton vessel will make her maiden voyage from New York Aug. 10. The ship is at Norfolk, Va., being fitted out.

WOMAN LEAPS OFF ROOF AFTER HOURS' THREATS

Crowd Watches; None Summons Help.

After clinging to a rooftop nearly six hours and threatening to jump, an elderly woman plunged three stories into Washington boulevard early today as a police squad arrived to attempt a rescue.

The woman, identified as Mrs. Anna Kroll, 55 years old, was in a critical condition at the County hospital and not expected to live. She had been a tenant for three months on the third floor of the building at 2123 Washington boulevard, from which she leaped.

Crowd Watches in Street.

Tho Mrs. Kroll appeared on the roof at 7 p. m. and shouted to people in the street that she intended to jump, no one called the police. Guests of the Vel Mar hotel, 2120 Washington boulevard, spent most of the evening watching her. At times the crowd in the street numbered 100 persons. Still, no one notified authorities.

Shortly after midnight Policemen Thomas Stapleton and George Tapling of the Warren avenue station called at the Vel Mar to obtain a signature to a robbery complaint. Seeing Mrs. Kroll on the roof, they notified Lieut. Walter McGoon and the fire department. McGloon and a squad arrived a few minutes later.

As they alighted in front of the house Mrs. Kroll shouted:

"If you come any closer I'll jump."

Leaps as Police Approach.

McGloon and his men hurried toward the front steps. At this instant the woman stepped off the roof, shouting, "I want to die!" as she fell.

Police found the door to her room barricaded and were forced to smash their way thru a partition. Other lodgers stated they had tried to force their way into the room earlier, but that Mrs. Kroll told them she would end her life unless they desisted.

Inside the room police found a bottle of soured milk and a sack of stale rolls. There were several medicine bottles. In Mrs. Kroll's purse was found 2 cents.

Fire Sweeps Hospital; 1 Killed; Number Injured

Cincinnati, July 12 [Friday] (AP).—Fire swept a building housing 30 patients and employés of St. Francis hospital early today, and police reported one person was killed and an undetermined number injured in evacuation. Firemen carried occupants of the building down ladders from second and third floor windows. Firemen believed the blaze started in a basement laundry.

ZOO CHIEF BAITS A TRAP AND GETS A NEW SPECIMEN

Officials of Brookfield zoo and Brookfield police disclosed yesterday how they had baited a trap which led to the arrest of two thieves who had stolen almost $1,500 worth of clothing and valuables during the last two weeks from cars of out of town visitors in the north parking lot of the zoo.

Edward Bean, zoo director, arranged with Chief of Police Chester Crosby of Brookfield to park a large car in the space and bait it with his own clothing, furs belonging to his wife, and some articles borrowed from his daughter, Mary. George Spiedel, chief of zoo police, kept watch. Nothing happened until July 5. Then Spiedel saw a young man open the door lock with a screw driver and start carrying clothing to another car parked near by.

He was arrested and identified himself as Louis Raggio, 19 years old, of 108 North 21st avenue, Melrose Park. Raggio confessed, naming Angelo Raymond, 19, of 134 North 20th avenue, Melrose Park, as his accomplice in other thefts. Several hundred dollars' worth of loot was recovered in their homes. They were held to the grand jury Wednesday in $2,000 bonds by Police Magistrate Robert Hladik of Brookfield, charged with larceny, and posted bail yesterday.

HITS MAN, DRIVES BACK FOR A LOOK, LEAVES HIM DYING

Uses Spotlight to Inspect Victim in Street.

Brighton Park police last night were seeking a callous hit and run motorist who fled after turning the spotlight of his automobile on his victim who lay fatally injured on the pavement at 34th street and Ashland avenue early yesterday.

The victim, Stanley Stefans, 42 years old, 2913 West 101st place, was taken to the county hospital. He died later. Witnesses said Stefans was carried 40 feet on the bumper of the automobile before he fell off.

The driver, according to witnesses drove on for a block, turned and came back, flashed the spotlight on Stefans, and then sped away.

Chicagoan Killed in Dakota.

Harvey A. Nordeen, 43 years old, 5633 Bernard street, a draftsman, and his wife, were in a serious condition yesterday in a hospital in Pierre, S. D., as a result of injuries received Wednesday in an accident near there which cost the life of their son, Harvey A. Jr., 16.

Mrs. Maria Findlay, 52, of 2235 Warren boulevard died last night in the county hospital of injuries incurred Wednesday when she walked against the automobile of Acting Lieutenant Joseph Granata of the park district police. Witnesses said she crossed Jackson boulevard at Damen avenue against a red light and appeared to have been blinded by rain.

Harry Jacobs, 40, colored janitor at 705 Rush street, died in Passavant hospital of injuries incurred when he was struck by a Chicago Motor Coach company bus at Michigan avenue and Huron street. The driver, Edward Miklas, 2216 Palmer street, said Jacobs fell in front of the bus.

Dies After Car Crash.

L. G. Smith, 45 years old, Westmont business man, fell dead in his Aurora home yesterday two days after an automobile crash in which he appeared to have escaped unscathed. Smith's car overturned on route 30, near Aurora, slightly injuring Mrs. Smith and their son, Leon, 7.

Sarah Lypscomb, 50, colored, of 4948 Indiana avenue, was killed last night when struck by an automobile at 50th street and Michigan avenue. The driver, Willie Batts, colored, was held for the inquest.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 440 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 332 were killed in Chicago, where 11,776 were injured in the same period.

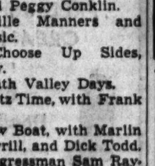
Today's Features

ON W-G-N.
[Central Daylight Time.]

Elissa Landi and Phillips Holmes, noted stage and screen stars, will be heard in another exciting episode of W-G-N's new dramatic series, "Wings for America," at 7 p. m. The program, written and produced by Blair Walliser, in addition to revealing the activities of fifth columnists in the United States, will provide an intimate glimpse into the workings of a modern newspaper and a radio station. Tonight's story deals with a fifth column plot to blow up a Milwaukee industrial plant. Miss Landi takes the part of Lorna Carroll, a reporter for THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, who is aided by Riley Davis, a Mutual Broadcasting system news commentator, played by Holmes. Supporting them will be an all-star cast of Bret Morrison, Lester Podewell, Marvin Mueller, and William Green. "Wings for America" is an audience studio show.



Blair Walliser.

Cartune-O, the popular quiz show played by the listeners at home as well as by those in the audience, will be presented at 8:30 p. m., a new time. The program, formerly scheduled on Thursday nights, will be offered each Friday hereafter. Featured are Bill Anson as master of ceremonies and Harold Stokes and the W-G-N Dance orchestra. Dorothy Brandon, young singer, will be the guest soloist this evening.

Another program in the popular series of open air concerts from the band shell in Grant park will be presented on W-G-N and Mutual from 9:30 to 10 p. m. Tonight's concert will be given by the W-G-N orchestra under the baton of Henry Weber, with Marion Claire as soloist.

FIX TRIAL JURORS TOLD OF DRINKING AT JUDGE'S PARTY

State Attacks Testimony of Defense Witnesses.

Just who did the drinking at Judge William J. Lindsay's birthday party last Dec. 8, how much was consumed by certain guests, and how long the party lasted, occupied the attention of a Criminal court jury yesterday as testimony ended in the trial of Attorney George Crane and three co-defendants on charges of fixing a vote fraud jury.

The matter of tippling came up when the state offered rebuttal evidence following the testimony of one of the defendants, James Creed. Creed, now superintendent of city dumps, was personal bailiff to Judge Joseph Graber, who presided at the vote fraud trial which resulted in the acquittal of Sam Orlando, Democratic precinct captain of the 11th ward and Joseph Vinci, Orlando's political helper.

Tells of Birthday Party.

Marvin Olson, an ex-convict, had testified that on the night of Dec. 8 he met Creed in the 18th ward Democratic headquarters where, he said, he was given instructions about fixing two women members of the jury. Creed, supported by the testimony of Judges Lindsay and Graber, said he was at the birthday party and didn't leave until 9:30 or 10 p. m.

In rebuttal, Gus Bartels, an investigator for the state's attorney's office, said he was at the party from 5 until 6:30, that Judge Graber was there for no more than half an hour, and that Creed never appeared. Bartels admitted that during his hour and a half stay he consumed "at least" nine highballs.

According to another birthday guest, Assistant State's Attorney James A. Brown, Judge Graber left at 7 p. m., while Creed was never there at all. Brown said he had only two drinks and that Bartels left under his own power.

Dined With Judge Lindsay.

At 8 p. m., said Brown, the party broke up and he and Judge Lindsay went out for dinner. Defense witnesses said the party continued until 10 o'clock.

Another date in question was Dec. 12, on which night Olson said he had another conference with Creed. Creed insisted that he had been at a private party in the Morrison hotel bungalow with several judges, including his birthday host, Judge Lindsay had testified previously that he left this party about 2 a. m.

"Judge Lindsay and I left the party at 10:30," said Assistant State's Attorney Robert Donigan. "Then we went to a south side café until 2 a. m. The reason I'm sure of the time is that the boys played a practical joke, inviting me to speak and then walking out on me."

Attorney Denies Conspiracy.

Earlier in the day Attorney Crane took the stand and made a detailed denial that he talked with any of the jurors, as charged by state witnesses, or that he conspired in any way to obstruct justice.

The last defense witness, Lester J. Roberts, 903 West 35th place, a Municipal court clerk, told of visiting a saloon at 25th place and California avenue on Dec. 15. Two of the vote fraud jurors, Mrs. Lillian Connors and Mrs. Martha Aumond, said Attorney Crane had met them there that night to give them bribes.

Roberts said Crane was not there, but that instead he and a friend became friendly with the two women, bought them drinks, and eventually went to Mrs. Connors' home. They left two hours later, Roberts said, when he learned the women were on the vote fraud jury.

Closing arguments will be made today. Judge James F. Fardy, who is presiding at the trial, is expected to hold a night session in order to complete the case before tomorrow.

LIGHTNING HITS HOMES ON NORTH AND WEST SIDES

A number of houses on the north and west sides were struck by lightning during an early morning storm yesterday. Among them were homes at 726 North Hamlin avenue, 1057 North Monitor avenue, 250 North Hamlin avenue, 2850 North Campbell avenue, and 6050 North Rockwell street.

The electrical display was accompanied by heavy rains in parts of the city. In the loop 1.86 inches were recorded in a few hours, while the University of Chicago reported only .48 of an inch in the same period. The surface lines reported that 18 viaducts on the west and north sides had been flooded.

Lake Calumet Dike Project Is Given Council Approval

The construction of an earthen dike across the north end of Lake Calumet on a line with 110th street, to provide space for a city dump and ultimately make 140 acres of new land, was approved yesterday by the city council. The work is to cost $25,000. Oscar E. Hewitt, commissioner of public works, said the area to be filled in might be used ultimately as a south side airport.

SEIZED IN FRAUD CASES; SAYS HE'S EX-KLAN LEADER

Edward Y. Clarke, who said he once was a kleagle of the Ku Klux Klan in Georgia, was seized yesterday in his room at 4700 Kenmore avenue on charges of failing to pay a $600 hotel bill, cashing a $76 worthless check, and failure to repay $600 borrowed from a Chicago woman. Detectives said Clarke had told the woman, Mrs. Minta McCloskey, 1023 North Kedvale avenue, that he was soon to inherit 3 million dollars. The legacy story also was used to obtain credit at the Blackwood hotel, 5200 Blackstone avenue, they added.

Police and detective bureau squads had been seeking Clarke since last September. Clarke, who is 62 years old, offered to waive extradition and return to Atlanta to face the worthless check case, but it was indicated he first will have to answer the Chicago charges.

MAYOR TO SEEK MORE TIME IN BUILDING SUBWAY

The city council yesterday authorized Mayor Kelly to ask the Public Works administration for a six months' extension to June 1, 1941, of the deadline for completing Chicago's 46 million dollar subway system. The mayor said such an extension would permit a wider range of competitive bidding and result in construction economies.

Philip Harrington, subway commissioner, told the council that 60,000 feet or 74 per cent of the subway tunnel has been bored. Forty per cent of the tunneling under loop streets, the most difficult part of the job, has been completed, he said.

The council approved a contract for $36,744 to connect the freight tunnel system of the Chicago Tunnel company, where it was cut by the city subway at State and Illinois streets.

W-G-N BRINGS TOM BROWN OF RUGBY TO LIFE

Film Stars Score Hit in School Day Classic.

The absorbing Rugby classic, "Tom Brown's School Days," was brought to life last night over W-G-N and the Mutual network in the second broadcast of the In Chicago Tonight series.

For half an hour legions of "Tom Brown" enthusiasts were captivated once more by this tale of adventure. The broadcast was a radio preview of the R-K-O movie adaptation of Thomas Hughes' noted novel. Sir Cedric Hardwicke, distinguished British actor, and Freddie Bartholomew, 16 year old English movie favorite, portrayed the same rôles they took in the movie, soon to be released.

Stars Make Characters Live.

Sir Cedric gave a sympathetic portrayal of Dr. Thomas Arnold, the visionary headmaster of Rugby, who fought to rid schools of tyranny and introduced ideals which today form the basis of democratic school systems thruout the civilized world.

Freddie gave a crisp, incisive interpretation of the rôle of East, Tom Brown's school friend.

For the rôle of Tom, played in the movie by Jimmy Lydon, Producer William A. Bacher of W-G-N called in Donald Kraatz, a Chicago "veteran" of radio at the age of 14.

Supporting Cast Splendid.

The chief performers were supported by an exceptional cast, including Bob Tellison and Virginia Payne. The W-G-N orchestra set the mood for the school scenes, using an adaptation of the movie score. This was lent by the R-K-O studio thru whose coöperation the radio preview of the movie was presented. Francis Coughlin wrote the radio version.

Next Thursday Comedian Ken Murray, Corinna Mura, noted Spanish song stylist, and Patty Clayton, singing discovery of W-G-N, will be presented on In Chicago Tonight.

4 OF FAMILY DIE IN MURDER AND SUICIDE TRAGEDY

Mount Carroll, Ill., July 11 [Special].—A family of four was dead today in what authorities said apparently was murder and suicide. The dead were Glen Sack, 29 years old, an unemployed maintenance engineer; his wife, Florence, 29; a daughter, Beatrice, 11, and a son, Glen Jr., 13.

Their bodies were found in the family car in a gas filled garage near the home of Sack's mother. Mrs. Sack and the two children had been shot. Sack, who sat behind the wheel as tho he had intended taking them for a ride, held a revolver. He was dead as a result of the fumes from the car's motor.

Sack had worked for several years as a maintenance employé at the Frances Shimer girls' college here but gave up his job a few weeks ago in the hope of getting a better one at the Savanna ordnance depot. He didn't get work there, however. He and his family had been living at the home of his mother, Mrs. Fred Sack Sr.

MARION CLAIRE SOLOIST AT W-G-N PARK CONCERT

Marion Claire, star of the CHICAGO TRIBUNE Symphonic hour on W-G-N, will be soloist with the W-G-N orchestra, directed by Henry Weber, when it presents a concert in Grant park at 8 o'clock tonight, under the sponsorship of the Chicago Federation of Musicians and the park district.

Marion Claire.

Part of the concert—from 9:30 to 10 p. m.—will be broadcast by W-G-N and the Mutual network. Miss Claire's first selection will be the aria "La Mamma Morta" from Giordano's "Andrea Chenier." She will then sing Marx's "Last Eve He Brought Me Red Roses."

During the broadcast portion of the concert Miss Claire is to sing a medley from Romberg's "Blossom Time," including Schubert's Serenade, Ungeduld, and Song of Love. The orchestra will play Smetana's symphonic poem, "The Moldau."

Other numbers of the orchestra are Brahms' Symphony No. 4; the introduction, Dance of the Apprentices and the Procession of the Mastersingers from Wagner's "Die Meistersinger," and the prelude and Liebestod from "Tristan and Isolde."

A PLEA TO WARM HEARTS: FILL UP FREE ICE CHEST

Funds Protect Health of Needy in Summer.

BY IRENE STEYSKAL.

Once again, for the 27th season, THE TRIBUNE is appealing to the generosity of its readers to help carry on the free ice fund.

This fund, supported by the pennies from children's shows as well as by the donations of philanthropists, helps to safeguard the lives of countless children, invalids, and aged men and women in the city's needy districts—families too poor to buy ice.

Averts Tragic Food Losses.

A quart of milk turned sour may mean nothing more than a moment's annoyance to the housewife, operating her home on an ample budget. But to the family without ice and the mother without money to buy more milk it means the anguish of seeing a little baby go hungry.

Here are typical needy families visited by a welfare worker of the United Charities yesterday and given coupons for free ice:

A family of eight undernourished children whose mother is ill. The doctor has ordered 8 quarts of milk a day. Ice is needed to keep the milk fresh.

Ten Living on $17 a Week.

A family of 10 living on a weekly income of $17. Until her health failed the mother scrubbed office floors at night. All the children, including a baby less than a year old, appeared undernourished.

A family of eight whose mother is confined to bed with heart disease, diabetes, and a skin ailment. Ice packs are required constantly. The family is too poor to buy ice.

One dollar will buy a week's supply of ice for families such as these. Contributions may be sent to the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., Tribune square. All will be gratefully acknowledged.

HIGHWAY CHIEF ASKED TO CHANGE RULING ON LIGHTS

The city council adopted a resolution yesterday asking Ernst Lieberman, chief state highway engineer, to reconsider his decision withholding approval of Chicago's proposed $619,000 street lighting program, to be financed from motor fuel tax funds. Lieberman said last week he would approve only half of the projects because he did not believe the entire program could be completed in one year. Ald. George D. Kells [28th], chairman of the traffic committee, told the group he believed Lieberman would reverse his decision.

6. A certain young couple wanted to get married, but felt they didn't have enough money saved. The young man's salary was $25 per week. So his sweetheart suggested that he give her 10 cents out of his next Saturday's pay check and then keep doubling the amount on each succeeding week. He gladly agreed, saying maybe they could get married in six months at this rate. But how long did he keep up his payments to her before they exceeded the amount of his weekly pay check?

BOWEN ORDERED OUSTED FOR PART IN MANTENO CASE

Welfare Chief Fined $1,000 by Court.

A. L. Bowen, state director of public welfare, was ordered removed from office and fined $1,000 yesterday for gross omission of duty in connection with the typhoid epidemic at the Manteno state hospital last year which cost the lives of 60 persons.

A. L. Bowen.

The sentence was imposed by Judge James V. Bartley of Joliet, sitting in the Kankakee county Circuit court at Kankakee. Bowen was found guilty on June 27 in a bench trial. He was tried first last February by a jury which was discharged after 96 hours of disagreement. Judge Bartley was then called on to decide the case on the basis of testimony given at the first trial.

Motion for Stay Allowed.

Judge Bartley allowed a motion by Chalmer C. Taylor, defense counsel, for a 60 day stay of execution, pending arrangements to appeal the conviction. Bowen, who is 70 years old, was permitted to remain at liberty on his original $5,000 bond.

At Springfield, spokesmen for Gov. Henry Horner, who is ill, said they expected no change would be made in the administration of the welfare department, pending action by the higher courts. After Bowen was indicted last fall Gov. Horner praised Bowen and said he was "shocked and astounded" at the indictment.

"As far as the records show, Mr. Bowen led a useful life," said Judge Bartley after announcing the penalty. "This experience [the Manteno epidemic] was very unfortunate for him, but it was also unfortunate for many others as well.

Cites Defendant's Age.

"Of the harm that was done no one but God can see the end of it. The only extenuating circumstances are the age of the defendant and the tremendous amount of work he took upon himself. The statute provides a fine not to exceed $10,000, but I see no reason to impose a large fine."

When Judge Bartley found Bowen guilty he said he agreed with the contention of State's Attorney Samuel Shapiro of Kankakee county that the epidemic was caused by polluted water at Manteno and that Bowen had ignored repeated warnings by the state health department that the water was contaminated.

As state welfare director, Bowen is in charge of 28 public institutions. A veteran in state welfare work, he served under five governors, both Democrat and Republican.

FLYING SERVICE TO AUSTRALASIA TO START TODAY

Los Angeles, Cal., July 11 (AP).—Spanning of the "last ocean" to receive regularly scheduled commercial airplane service will start tomorrow when a Pan-American Airways flying boat departs for Australasia.

Starting at its eastern terminus in San Francisco, a 42-ton four-motored Boeing plane—of the same type as that which began trans-Atlantic service last year—will fly to Los Angeles as a port of call before beginning the long trip over the Pacific to Auckland, New Zealand. Of the world's oceans, the South Pacific alone remains without some sort of airmail or passenger air service.

The New Zealand route—by way of Honolulu, Canton Island, New Caledonia—was first projected in 1934. Originally scheduled to touch American Samoa, it will go instead by way of Canton Island, which is administered jointly by the United States and Great Britain. New Caledonia is a French possession.

A COLD LUNCH GETS WARMEST WELCOME NOW

Here's How to Beat the Soaring Mercury.

The lunch that gets the warmest reception in hot weather, is a pretty cool affair.

It may contain a hot dish, beverage or soup, but it will be sure to have a cool, unwilted appearance. And if it's to be popular with the lunch getter, its preparation must not be a hot job, either. In addition it must contain plenty of nourishment, vitamins, and minerals, particularly if there are children to be fed.

Fruits, milk, and vegetables will be major ingredients in most summertime lunches. Fruits or a flavorsome milk drink or pudding will take care of dessert in short order; and many times the main dish will be a simple vegetable or fruit salad. Hot dishes, prepared on top of the stove, and soups also will cut down on the time spent over a hot stove. Children like a filling sandwich lunch which they can eat out in the back yard and call it a picnic.

Pudding Mixes Save Time.

Prepared pudding mixes are a timesaver in summertime. Tapioca and cornstarch puddings can be made in quantity. They keep well in the refrigerator if tightly covered and they may be varied by using different fruit sauces, by folding in nutmeats, shredded coconut or whipped cream; by serving between layers of cookies, or by varying the garnish. Cookies, large batches of which can be made at one time, also save baking time.

Cream soups, either canned or made of vegetables that happen to be on hand, are easy to make and a good main dish for a simple lunch. Hot dishes which require baking are best avoided when the thermometer soars. But any main dish that can be prepared quickly on top of the stove is quite in order. Canned and ready prepared foods are a timesaver.

The following easy-to-prepare lunches were built around a simple pattern of main dish, salad or sandwich, dessert and beverage.

SIMPLE HOT WEATHER LUNCHES.

I.
Cream of Spinach Soup
Tomato and Bacon Sandwiches
Berries with Cream
Frosted Graham Crackers
Milk

II.
Baked Bean [canned] Sandwiches
Cabbage, Carrot, and Pineapple Salad
Orange Milk Shakes
Oatmeal Cookies

III.
Salad of Melon Slices, Canned Pineapple, Peaches and Berries [or other fruits in season]
Lettuce Sandwiches on Whole Wheat Bread
Butterscotch Cornstarch Pudding between Vanilla Wafers
Iced Tea or Fruit Juice

IV.
Scrambled Eggs on Broiled Tomato Halves
Celery Carrot Sticks
Buttered Toast
Melon Halves
Milk

V.
Creamed Salmon and Asparagus [or peas] on Toast
Cabbage Slaw with Peanut Dressing
Gingerbread with Rhubarb Sauce
Milk or Iced Tea

VI.
Tomato Cups Filled with Cabbage, Raddish and Carrot Salad
Grilled Cheese Sandwiches
Prune Whip
Milk

VII.
Creamed Vegetables in Noodle Nest
Sliced Tomatoes
Rennet Custard with Pureed Apricots
Coconut Bars
Gingerale Tea Punch

VIII.
Cream of Potato and Green Onion Soup
Lettuce, Tomato, and Carrot Salad
Chocolate Cornstarch Pudding
Milk

IX.
[For a Back Yard Picnic.]
Thin Hamburgers and Tomato Slice on Buns
Sour Cream Cabbage Slaw
Plums, Peaches or Other Fruit in Season
Bottled Chocolate Milk

ORANGE MILK SHAKE.

2½ cups orange juice
1 cup grapefruit juice
1 cup evaporated milk
1 cup water
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon almond extract
Sugar to taste
1 cup cracked ice

Combine and shake until well mixed.

CABBAGE SLAW WITH PEANUT DRESSING.

2½ cups shredded cabbage
1 hard cooked egg yoke
2 tablespoons vinegar
Salt, sugar to taste
4 tablespoons coarsely chopped peanuts

Combine egg yoke, vinegar, salt, and sugar and toss with shredded cabbage. Sprinkle with coarsely chopped peanuts.

GINGER ALE TEA PUNCH.

Make a very strong tea, using about 2 teaspoons of tea leaves to 1¼ cups boiling water. Dissolve in it about 1 cup sugar and add ¾ cup orange juice, ½ cup lemon juice, 1 quart ginger ale, and a few orange slices. Serve over ice.

Cooking Vegetables.

In cooking vegetables to preserve food value, the following tested methods, in order, are best: Baking, steaming, pressure cooking, boiling in the skins, boiling whole, boiling vegetables cut lengthwise, boiling vegetables cut crosswise.

Spring Vegetable Dish

Whole baby carrots, a creamy mushroom sauce, and a garnish of chopped parsley, chives, and radishes make up this attractive spring vegetable dish. To prepare the sauce, simply heat 1 can condensed cream of mushroom sauce with ½ cup milk. Then pour over the freshly cooked carrots and heat for 3 or 4 minutes longer. Turn into a vegetable dish and when ready to serve, garnish with 2 tablespoons chopped parsley, 1 tablespoon chopped chives or green onion tops, and 2 radishes, sliced thinly.

HOW TO PREPARE ITALIAN SQUASH IN WHITE SAUCE

The cucumber-like zucchini or Italian squash is available now and here's a good way to serve it that will make it stretch to give everybody a taste.

SCALLOPED ZUCCHINI.
1½ pounds zucchini
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup water
8 slices bacon
2 tablespoons bacon fat
3 tablespoons flour
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup evaporated milk
½ cup grated cheese
Onion
1 cup buttered crumbs

Wash and slice squash. Cook with teaspoon of salt in the cup of boiling water. Cover. When tender, about fifteen minutes, drain and save liquid. Pan fry bacon until partly done and make a white sauce of the 2 tablespoons of bacon fat, flour, ¼ teaspoon salt, milk, and liquid strained from squash. Place zucchini and cheese with a little grated onion in layers in buttered casserole. Pour white sauce over top and cover with bacon strips and buttered crumbs. Bake in moderate [375 degree] oven until crumbs are brown, about twenty-five minutes.

PORK KIDNEYS PROVIDE FAMILY A TASTE THRILL

Broil Them and Serve with Tomato Sauce.

Pork kidneys are a good summertime meat choice. Rich in vitamin B, iron and phosphorous, they are tasty and wholesome. Cook pork kidneys quickly but be sure they're well done. Broiling is a good method. Allow one kidney per person.

Soak pork kidneys in cold, salted water for about one hour. Split and cut out any hard tissue. Marinate in well-seasoned French dressing for 30 minutes. [This step may be omitted, but the marinade adds to flavor and tenderness].

BROILED KIDNEYS.

Brush the prepared pork kidneys with melted butter and place in preheated broiler, about 3 inches from heat. Broil for 15 to 20 minutes, or until well browned and done, turning once. Serve with lemon, catsup or broiled tart fruit or tomatoes.

PAN-BROILED KIDNEYS.

Cut prepared kidneys in 1-inch pieces, or leave in halves. Brown in melted butter in a heavy skillet over moderately high heat. Serve with tomato sauce.

TOMATO SAUCE FOR KIDNEYS.
[Enough for 8 pork kidneys].

¼ cup diced onion.
3 tablespoons butter.
2 tablespoons flour.
1 cup tomatoes, canned or juice.
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce.

Brown onion lightly in butter. Stir in flour, blending until smooth. Add tomatoes, stirring constantly until thickened. Simmer gently. When thick, add Worcestershire sauce and serve immediately over broiled kidneys.

2 PUNCH RECIPES THAT LOOK GOOD, AND ARE COOLING

It's flavor that packs the wallop in a fruit punch, but appearance is important, too. Here are two tempting coolers that look good and taste better.

CRANBERRY PUNCH
[Serves 20]

1½ cups sugar
2 cups canned cranberry sauce [1 can]
3 cups boiling water
½ cup lemon juice
½ cup pineapple juice
1 quart gingerale
1 pint raspberry ice
Pineapple wedges
Maraschino cherries
Mint leaves

Rub sauce into the sugar, add boiling water and stir until blended. Add fruit juices and strain thru a fine sieve. Chill. Add gingerale and serve over ice with pineapple, cherries, mint leaves, and raspberry ice as garnish.

RASPBERRY LIME PUNCH
2 cups sugar
3 cups boiling water
1 cup red raspberries
1 bunch mint leaves
2 cups lime juice

Dissolve sugar in hot water and chill. Add berries, crushed with mint and lime juice. Chill. Strain and pour over cracked ice. Garnish with additional whole red raspberries and mint leaves.

Earthenware Dishes.

Earthenware dishes are likely to crack and to craze more readily than china or porcelain because the body and glaze of the earthenware do not expand and contract at the same rate with heat.

THE WINNER by 3 to 1 WITH CHICAGO WOMEN FOR SPARKLING WHITE WASHES

AMERICAN FAMILY SPEED FLAKES WIN BY LANDSLIDE! OVERWHELM ALL OTHER SOAPS IN INDEPENDENT CITY-WIDE POLL OF HUNDREDS OF WOMEN

On the North, South and West sides of Chicago—hundreds of women who do their laundry at home—were interviewed by a well-known independent research organization. And asked which washday soaps they chose for (1) whiteness, (2) safety, (3) best results in washing machines! Here's their choice!

✓ FOR WASHING WHITE
American Family Speed Flakes won by more than 3 to 1 over nearest competing soap.

✓ FOR WASHING SAFELY
American Family Speed Flakes won by more than 5 to 1 over nearest competing soap.

✓ FOR WASHING MACHINES
American Family Speed Flakes... won by more than 3 to 1 over nearest competing soap.

Switch To The Winner Don't Wait A Day!

FROM all sides of Chicago, the women's votes are in!... Naming the soap they choose above all others for getting clothes sparkling white and bright in the hard water of this area.

For whiteness in washing—these practical housewives gave first honors to the new improved American Family Speed Flakes! Voted them the winner for getting clothes sparkling white by more than 3 to 1—over any other soap! Gave these flakes even more votes than the strong granulated soaps for washing snowy white!

Winner For Safety Too

Besides, in this independent city-wide survey—American Family Flakes were the outstanding favorite for safety too. In fact, women gave these sensational flakes more votes for washing white with safety than all other soaps combined... Than all granulated soaps, chips and powders put together!

Don't forget—these housewives were all practical women, like yourself. Giving their plain, honest opinion from their experience in meeting their own washing problems. Virtually the same problems you face week after week. Think over their opinion—and ask yourself if you aren't missing something in not trying these safe, gentle flakes yourself!

Recently these flakes have been wonderfully improved. Now made tissue-thin—so they suds up almost instantly! No "mysterious" new chemicals added. These flakes are simply marvelously rich in soap content. And actually safer for delicate washable colors and fine fabrics than strong granulated soaps. Safer for your hands, too.

So get American Family Speed Flakes and try them next washday. Like hundreds of other women, you'll thrill to see your white shirts look their whitest!... Your whole wash come out fresh, sweet-smelling, color-bright and snowy white!

NO WONDER CHICAGO WOMEN RAVE ABOUT NEW AMERICAN FAMILY SPEED FLAKES THEY SIMPLY CAN'T BE BEAT BY ANY OTHER SOAP TODAY FOR WASHING CLOTHES DAZZLING WHITE WITH SAFETY

THE WINNER WITH ME, TOO!

Hundreds of Chicago women voted American Family Flakes the winner for best results in washing machines! Gave them more votes than the next 12 soaps combined.

1. FASTER:
New American Family Flakes makes suds more than twice as fast as average of 10 of the largest selling "washday" soaps (flakes, granulated, chips) tested in our laboratories.

2. RICHER:
These flakes give up to 33% more suds than many modern granulated soaps... up to 70% more suds than many cheap chips tested. Big soap savings for you.

IT'S HOME GROWN VEGETABLE TIME AT YOUR GROCERY

Fresh Garden Produce Is Reasonably Priced.

BY MARY MEADE.

The home grown vegetable season is in full swing, and while imports stand for something in dress, it's the home grown label that counts in fresh vegetables.

The offerings of local and nearby gardens dominate the market now. Even sweet corn is coming from southern Illinois, the first tender ears having arrived this week.

Green beans, bunch beets, broccoli, cabbage, cauliflower, green onions, radishes, squash, spinach, and other greens, including Swiss chard, endive, leaf lettuce, and romaine, are home grown products. Some of the cucumbers and tomatoes on the market are Illinois products. Celery comes from Michigan and dry onions from Iowa.

All Reasonably Priced.

The home grown vegetable season is quality to be a matter of state pride. All the home grown products are reasonably priced.

Several vegetables bear lower price tags. Green beans, cauliflower, celery, green corn, cucumbers, potatoes, and dried onions are cheaper.

Carrots still are rather high priced, and asparagus is so near the end of its season that the quality is now only fair. Outside of these two, almost any vegetable available might be considered a good buy. It's too early for green corn to be low priced, however.

The fruit basket is full to the point of upsetting these days. And even small-sized melons take up a lot of the space in that bargain basketful. All melons are cheaper this week. Most of the watermelons are now coming from Georgia. They're pretty generally available and most any watermelon fancier would call the price right. Fat, juicy cantaloupes and honeydew and honeyball melons are good buys.

Berry Prices Steady.

There's not much change apparent in the price of berries. Blueberries, blackberries, raspberries, gooseberries, and strawberries are available. Raspberries are moderately priced and of fine quality. Strawberries are small but of good quality and quite reasonable. They are not as widely available as they were a few weeks ago and will soon be gone.

Nice peaches are available. In addition to the Hiley Belle freestone peaches which began to arrive last week, there is now on the market an early variety of Elberta peaches. Peaches are getting cheaper each week.

Cooking apples—the kind grandmother made into those famous green apple pies—are reasonable enough. Yellow transparents and Duchess varieties are available. Plums and apricots are selling at moderate levels. Plums are of good quality and are suitable for preserving and for table use.

The cherry season is winding up. Sour cherries are hard to find, and sweet ones are not as widely distributed as a week ago. The pineapple season is practically over, and only a few found their way to Chicago this week. California seedless grapes are arriving in increasing quantities and are selling at somewhat lower prices this week-end.

Canned Goods Sales On.

While the luscious displays on the greengrocers' shelves will tempt you to become a vegetarian and fruitarian you'll not be able to get along without a few other groceries. And tho fresh items are bargain priced everywhere, canned goods sales are still here. They're good sales, too. Ready prepared and baked goods also make the bargain lists in these hot days when nobody wants to spend more time than is necessary in the kitchen.

The general tendency in meats is toward higher prices. Of all beef cuts rib roasts have been least affected by the upward trend. Pot roasts are featured in some stores, however. You'll find a few good buys in veal and lamb shoulder roasts.

Cold cuts and luncheon meats are perhaps the most widely advertised meat special of the week. And every store seems to feature poultry. Broilers and fryers are right in season.

THIS CELERY SEED DRESSING IS JUST RIGHT FOR SALAD

Fresh-from-the-garden salads never appear too frequently on the summer menu, for the dressing, as well as the ingredients, always can be varied. Try tossing together fresh, leafy greens or crisp, raw vegetables with this snappy, well seasoned dressing.

CELERY SEED DRESSING.
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon celery seed
1 teaspoon onion juice
¼ teaspoon dry mustard
¼ teaspoon paprika
3 tablespoons granulated sugar
⅓ cup vinegar
1 cup salad oil

Mix salt, celery seed, onion juice, mustard, paprika, and sugar. Add enough vinegar to make a paste, and then add remaining vinegar and oil. Beat until thick, and pour into a jar. Cover and chill in the refrigerator until ready to use. Dressing will keep several weeks.

Cherries in a Shortcake

Cherry shortcake—you can make it now with fresh cherries and use the recipe later with canned cherries. Use a rich biscuit shortcake and frozen or sirup packed canned cherries as they come from the can. To use water packed canned cherries add 1 cup sugar to each No. 2 can and simmer 2 minutes, stirring to dissolve sugar. Add one-half to three-fourths cup sugar and 3 tablespoons water to 3 cups fresh, pitted pie cherries and simmer for about 2 minutes, stirring to dissolve sugar. The cherries should be cold and the shortcake warm. Serve with plain or whipped cream.

Soviet Offers Rewards for Gold Deposit Discoveries

MOSCOW, July 11.—Big rewards were offered today by the commissariat of nonferrous industries to persons discovering new gold deposits. Premiums will vary according to the yield of ore from 3,000 to 100,000 rubles.

The soviet exchange rate is 5 rubles to 1 American dollar. Professional geologists employed in hunting gold and platinum will receive premiums on their discoveries. It was urged that groups of amateur prospectors be sent to the gold bearing regions.

The Fate of the Darmenys

By Elizabeth York Miller

[Copyright 1940 by News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

SYNOPSIS.

Madge Darmeny, knowing she has but a few months to live, gathers her family about her so she can select the most deserving heir, unbeknown to them. Amelia Pennyfather, a distant cousin, lives with her, but Leda, Madge's own niece, is her nearest relative. Next in line are Frank and Geoffry, her husband's nephews. Leda is married to Frank but is in love with Geoffry, who is Madge's favorite because he continuously plays up to her. Frank has an 8 year old daughter, Betsy, by a former marriage. Shirley Westall, Madge's secretary, has been given charge of Betsy while they are all staying at the Darmeny estate. Madge, anxious for Geoffry to settle down, suggests he marry Shirley, and he, becoming tired of Leda, approves of the idea. Shirley, devoted to Betsy and knowing of Leda's and Geoffry's affair, sympathizes with Frank and soon finds her sympathy turning to love. Frank sees the sweetness of Betsy's mother in Shirley and finds himself falling in love with her. Neither declare their love for each other, but Shirley repulses the advances of Geoffry, which infuriates him. Leda goes into a number of fits of rage because she is jealous of Geoffry's attention to Shirley. Madge at last sees things in their true light and decides to change her will. Amelia eavesdrops and hears of Madge's illness and of the new will. She tells Geoffry, and he steals Madge's keys to her safe and reads the old and new wills. In the old version, he would inherit the estate. In the new one, Frank will get the bulk of things. The new one has not yet been signed. Geoffry goes on a rampage, meets Frank in the woods and tells him he will get Shirley as he got Leda. Frank knocks his teeth out, goes home and confronts Leda with Geoffry's accusation. Leda admits to both Madge and Frank her love for Geoffry. Geoffry has gone to the dentist in the city and Madge waits up for him that night to have a talk with him. He arrives late and is insulting to Madge. She gets upset, asks him to get her her medicine. He, knowing Barnes, the solicitor, is due the next day to have Madge sign the new will, gives her an overdose which kills her. Amelia, eavesdropping, hears Madge cry out "You've killed me!" She is too afraid of Geoffry to tell on him, as he threatens to commit her as insane. The death certificate is signed as heart failure.

INSTALMENT XLI.

PECULIAR BEHAVIOR.

Even Alfred Barnes, who had his time and attention fully occupied with more important matters, was soon obliged to take some notice of Amelia Pennyfather's peculiar behavior.

There was a great coming and going at Beechbourne Park during the next few days. Mr. Barnes spent most of his time at Madge Darmeny's desk in her study, with the telephone almost a fixture in his hand.

They were leaving everything to him, as he intended they should do. Madge had wanted him to see her thru this last stage of her earthly pilgrimage.

Meals were regularly served but not regularly attended by the immediate family. Betsy was spending a lot of time with Shirley at the Westall cottage. Geoffry, restless and apprehensive—as well he might be—made the dentist his excuse for frequent absences. Leda was an uncertain quantity. She might or might not appear at lunch or dinner, but she never came down to breakfast. Frank, however, was fairly constant, and there were Schofield cousins and other relatives arriving, some of whom were staying in the house.

The servants had their hands full, with never an idle moment from dawn until late at night. Gibson, like Alfred Barnes, was constantly on the telephone, operating from the switchboard in the alcove off the lounge hall.

Now, if ever, would have been Miss Pennyfather's chance to prove how really useful she could be, but she failed to take advantage of it. Again and again some trifling question would crop up which she could have answered at once, but which, lacking her availability, Alfred Barnes had to waste valuable time in finding out for himself.

It was always the same: "Miss Pennyfather is keeping to her room, sir. She seems to be rather poorly."

It seemed she was having hardly anything to eat. He wondered if she were ill and if anybody were looking after her.

"I don't think she's ill, sir," Gibson said. "Low in her mind, perhaps. But Miss Pennyfather is a little difficult, if I may say so."

"Dear me," observed Mr. Barnes. "I suppose she's feeling this very keenly."

"I don't know, sir, I'm sure. Hm-m—it did occur to me, or rather I slightly agreed with what Mr. Geoffry Darmeny remarked to me this morning. He was asking about Miss Pennyfather, too, and when I told him how she was behaving he said he'd noticed for some time she was going mental. That was how he put it, sir, and I may say it gave me a turn because lately I'd been wondering, myself, if that was what it was."

Amelia Pennyfather was no charge on Alfred Barnes, except as Madge Darmeny had accepted her as a responsibility, but he felt that he would have to look into the matter.

"You see, sir," said Gibson, "there was that time she said somebody had shot at her in the Beechbourne woods. There was never any proof, except a hole in her hat. And there are those that think she might have made the hole herself with that little gadget Miss Westall uses for cutting pages for the loose-leaf ledger."

"I'm terribly sorry about this," Mr. Barnes said. "Of course, it may be only a temporary disturbance, but perhaps we'd better have Dr. Jelks look her over. I'll tell you what, Gibson, you go up to her room and ask her if she'll see me. Say it's important, or I wouldn't trouble her. I'll come up, myself, to save her the trouble of coming down, if she prefers."

In answer to his summons, Amelia appeared at the door of the study so stealthily that Alfred Barnes was not aware of her presence until she informed him with a cough, and then he was so startled that he jumped.

She looked like an apparition, clad in her fantastic mourning attire, and she seemed incredibly old and shrunken since last he had seen her. Her face had that peculiar waxen appearance usually associated with a corpse's and her eyes were fluttering and furtive.

"Er—come in, Miss Pennyfather," Mr. Barnes said, as heartily as he could manage. "The funeral is tomorrow, you know, and there are so many things I wanted to speak to you about."

He got up and indicated a chair for her to take, but Amelia did not move from the doorway, and she kept to the farther side of it.

"I couldn't," she said in a stifled voice. "Madge died in there. She died in that very chair you're sitting in. I don't know how you can do it."

"Aren't you being a little absurd?" he asked testily.

"Call me anything you like. I'm used to people snubbing me and saying I'm a silly old fool, and whatever else comes to their tongues. Even Madge got out of patience with me sometimes. But I won't set foot in this room. If I did I should probably drop dead—just as she did. Because that was the way she died—of a stroke to her heart that came all of a sudden, and I'm not paying any attention to the voices that keep telling me it was anything else."

"I don't think I should, if I were you," Mr. Barnes said uneasily. Amelia was making him feel terribly uncomfortable.

"That's what I told Geoffry. I said, 'They're all lies.' I think I frightened him. He said I ought to have my head examined. That was a nice thing to say, wasn't it? And me always so fond of him!"

She had frightened Alfred Barnes too.

"Well, sometimes people get badly upset when they've had a shock. Madge's death has been a sad blow to all of us, Miss Pennyfather. Perhaps it would be a wise thing for you to see a doctor."

"No—that I absolutely refuse to do," Amelia interrupted firmly. For once, there was nothing wavering about her. "I know doctors. They can worm anything out of you, and I don't intend to give away my secrets. Besides, they're not entirely mine. They concern . . . others."

Alfred Barnes sighed. Amelia Pennyfather was somebody's problem and might prove eventually to be his. But if she had gone a little mental—and she certainly sounded like it—she was probably quite harmless. He'd say offhand that she didn't need to be locked up. Tho you never can tell. Mania is usually progressive.

"What was there you wanted me to do, specially?" she asked. Her voice sounded quite normal, now.

"O, nothing—nothing, really. I only thought since there are so many people staying in the house, you might help a little in looking after them. And sometimes things crop up you could assist me with."

"What's Leda doing, and that Westall girl?"

"Miss Westall is keeping the child away from the house until tomorrow afternoon, and Mrs. Frank Darmeny, like you, seems to have gone into retirement."

"Where's Frank and Geoffry?"

"Geoffry went to London again today, and Frank's somewhere around, but he doesn't know any of the little, personal things. However, it doesn't really matter. Are you intending to come to the church? The service is set for 2 o'clock."

"I wasn't sure about that," said Amelia. "Ladies of the family don't usually go to funerals."

"Not in our young days they didn't, but sometimes they do now. I only wanted to know. I think you must try to put in an appearance at the reading of the will, tho."

Amelia moistened her lips and her eyes glistened.

"Yes——" she said. "Yes, I want to be present when that's read. Madge remembered me kindly, I know. She told me she had, after I lost my life's savings in that Cocos Island's thing. I'm what they call a beneficiary, aren't I?"

"I'm afraid I can't discuss that subject with you until the proper time comes," Alfred Barnes said.

She didn't sound a bit insane now; she sounded peculiarly and odiously like her old self.

He wondered how Madge could have borne her with such patience, and for so long.

Frank believed that he had come to some sort of an understanding with Leda.

She, who had wanted Madge Darmeny to die, was now taking her aunt's sudden passing as hard and almost as peculiarly as Amelia Pennyfather.

There was, apparently, no accounting for Leda.

She had had no further outburst after that scene at breakfast the morning following Madge's death; and, of course, that could have been caused by a combination of shock and remorse.

Had she a conscience, after all?

IN GOOD SOUP, THYME IS OF THE ESSENCE

Some Sage Advice on Use of Spice.

BY RUTH COOK.

Spices are perhaps the most romantic of all cooking ingredients. The history of many a battle and many a map change is closely tied to the story of spices.

But nowadays spices are pretty much taken for granted—so much so that the modern homemaker doesn't always make as much good use of them as she might. In other countries and in other times when there was much less of a variety of foods available, spices were depended upon to break the monotony of the same old daily menu. The modern menu maker in this country has such a wealth of vegetables, fruits, and other foods from which to choose that she needs spices only for added flavor.

Opportunity for Experiment.

Meats give the cook an opportunity for experimenting with spices. Much of the variety in meat cookery comes from heavily spiced sauces or a light spicing of the meat itself.

A bayleaf or two along with a couple of onions has been responsible for many a cook's fame for being able to make an inexpensive cut of meat taste like a chef's specialty.

Certain spices traditionally "belong" with certain meats. Such combinations include mint with lamb, sage with pork, and cloves with ham.

Many Other Combinations.

There are many other combinations, less familiar, but equally taste-tempting. Following is a list of spices with the meat cuts, poultry, or fish to which they are suited.

ALLSPICE: Use whole for pickled meats, such as sauerbraten and hasenpfeffer; in gravies and in the water in which fish is boiled.

BAY LEAVES: One or two give excellent flavor to pot roasts and stews.

CARAWAY SEEDS: Sprinkle over fresh pork, kidneys, and liver before cooking.

CAYENNE: Just a pinch will give "pep" to barbecue and other sauces.

CELERY SALT: Add to stews, pot roasts, and stuffings for fish.

CHILI POWDER: You can't make chili con carne without it, and a pinch will improve any meat cooked with tomatoes.

CLOVES: Try whole cloves with fresh pork cuts, as well as with ham.

CORIANDER: Rub the ground spice over pork roast before baking. This spice is widely used in sausage making.

CURRY POWDER: For all curried dishes.

FENNEL: Use in pickling fish; this is a Scandinavian cookery trick.

GARLIC: Rub cut clove of garlic over steaks, lamb chops, pork or beef roasts before cooking, or sprinkle with garlic salt.

MARJORAM: This member of the mint family is delicious with lamb.

MUSTARD: Use the seed, dry mustard powder, or prepared mustard with any meats.

PAPRIKA: This spice gives color as well as its name to paprikash and paprika schnitzel.

PEPPER: Use whole in stews and pot roasts, ground as seasonings for roasted and broiled meats.

POULTRY SEASONING: This combination of spices and herbs improves the flavor of stuffings whether for poultry, fish, or meat.

SAGE: A little sage is delicious with pork and other roasts. It finds its way into most sausages and is a popular stuffing spice.

SAVORY: Combine it with sage, thyme, and similar herbs for poultry stuffings and as a seasoning for roasts.

SWEET BASIL: Turtle soups require a little of this spice. It is used mostly to season the tomato paste that is a part of Italian spaghetti.

THYME: Use it in stews, meat soups, and stuffings.

Board of Health Approves Change in City Milk Code

The board of health voted yesterday to recommend to the city council that the Grade A milk ordinance be amended to permit the use of uninspected milk in food products, such as cheese, baking goods, candies, and soups. Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, board president, said that where milk is cooked in the process of preparing the food it is not necessary for it to meet Grade A inspection standards.

For Quickly Prepared Meal

Quick meals can be prepared in a jiffy when there's a can of sugar cured pork on the pantry shelf. Try serving slices of this savory meat with a tempting fruit salad next time unexpected guests arrive in time for lunch or supper. It's sure to be a pleasant meal.

2 GELATIN DESSERTS COOL AS BEVERAGES, JUST AS REFRESHING

This lime flavored gelatin dessert has the clear, sparkling appearance of a cool beverage and it's just as refreshing! It's especially attractive when served in parfait glasses, with a garnish of fresh mint leaves.

LIME SPARKLER DESSERT.
[Serves Six.]

1 package lime flavored gelatin
¼ cup boiling water
1½ cups dry ginger ale

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Cool until it begins to thicken, then add ginger ale slowly. Chill immediately until it becomes thick again. Place in parfait glasses. Chill until firm and garnish with mint.

Another delicious summer dessert is this raspberry pudding. Cubes of clear gelatin and sponge cake offer a pleasant contrast to the creamy smoothness of the mixture.

RASPBERRY PRINCESS PUDDING.
[Serves Six.]

1 package raspberry flavored gelatin
1 cup boiling water
1 cup cold water
½ cup cream, whipped
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup sponge cake cubes

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water; add cold water. Pour three-quarters of this mixture into shallow pan to depth of one-half inch. Chill until firm and cut into cubes. Add salt to remaining liquid gelatin and chill until it begins to thicken. Beat until thick and frothy. Fold in whipped cream, cubes of sponge cake, and clear gelatin. Pour into mold and chill until firm. Cut into slices to serve.

SOVIET OBJECTS TO COSTLY TASTE OF WINE TASTERS

MOSCOW, Russia, July 11 (AP).—Wine-tasters on the payroll of the main Soviet wine trust are showing too much enthusiasm for their work. The result, the government newspaper Izvestia complained today, is that their activities are costing the soviet treasury too much: About $400,000 annually.

Some of the wine-tasters, asserted Izvestia, have carried their professional exuberance to the point of organizing "collective tasting parties."

Women World Wide
by Ruth DeYoung Kohler

ELEANOR ROOSEVELT ROOSEVELT and Edith Wilk Willkie might easily become a 1940 campaign issue—that is if the Democratic national convention, in session here in Chicago next week, renominates Franklin Roosevelt for a third term.

Virtues—many of them—can easily be credited to each, but about the only thing they have in common is the similarity between their maiden and married names. Mrs. Roosevelt retained the same name when she married her distant cousin. Edith Wilk had to add only a syllable to make her name Willkie.

Ruth De Young Kohler.

As first lady and possible first lady they represent two distinct schools of thought concerning the mistress of the White House. Mrs. Roosevelt appeals to those who believe that the first lady has a greater duty to the nation than simply presiding over the large house at 1600 Pennsylvania avenue in Washington. This group admires her unceasing energy, her manifold interests, her speech making, and her hand shaking.

On the contrary there are those women—and men, too—who believe that a first lady's interests should be almost entirely her family and the multitude of activities that go to make up a day in the White House. To the followers of this latter school of thought Mrs. Willkie, wife of the Republican presidential nominee, cannot help but appeal.

She is gracious, friendly, but in no way self-assertive. She is small, fragile, pastel, but with the ability to cope with any situation as it arises. She was trained as a librarian but now her interests are her family and political history—and, of course, her husband's campaign.

Classic is her answer to the question, "Do you believe that a first lady should travel extensively and make speeches?"

"Yes," replied Mrs. Willkie, "if she has the ability."

THERE was a day when the American electorate balloted for a President and didn't worry about the qualifications or availability of the candidate's wife. When George Washington was made our first President no delegation was sent to Mount Vernon to interview Martha. All that people knew about Mrs. Andrew Jackson was that the general once killed a man for slandering her.

Today, however, it is axiomatic that every Presidential candidate is judged not only by his own power and ability but also by the qualities of his wife. How will she look in the White House?

MRS. ROOSEVELT'S plans for the Democratic convention week ahead are unannounced. As I said in my broadcast, it is reported that she will attend only if the third term mystery resolves itself into a reality and the President comes to accept renomination.

But thruout the week—in fact from tomorrow on—there will be plenty of Democratic women here in town to take the spotlight. Five hundred will come as delegates and alternates. Eighteen of the most prominent are members of the women's advisory platform committee.

Frances Perkins, who presides over the labor department, tops the list. On the basis of this appointment of a woman to the cabinet, two women ministers to foreign countries, and women to several boards and commissions the Democrats make an appeal for the feminine vote.

To the argument the Republicans make answer that "woman's advancement in public office has not progressed more noticeably or forcefully under the New Deal impetus than would ordinarily be expected in the natural evolution of a progressive movement within eight years." Women have been given a large number of appointments as postmasters but again the Republicans answer, "In 1921 women represented only 11 per cent of the total number of postmasters. In 1930, after nine Republican years, women made up 20 per cent of the postmaster total."

In the senate the only woman is a New Dealer—Hattie Caraway of Arkansas—but in the house there are only three Democrats and four Republicans. The Democrats are Mary Norton of New Jersey, Caroline O'Day of New York, and Mrs. Thomas S. McMillan of South Carolina.

THERE is rumor, perhaps provoked only by hope, that Mrs. J. Borden Harriman will come home from abroad before the Democratic convention closes. The only foundation for this rumor is based on the fact that Hitler has ordered the American consulates in Norway—the country to which Mrs. Harriman is minister—Belgium, Holland, and Luxemburg closed by July 15. There is the possibility that she will take the Clipper ship and arrive here before the Democrats disband.

Conventions enjoy Daisy Harriman, for she is spirited at 70—full of wit—and always smartly attired. This time she would be a real heroine, with first hand accounts of her flight from Oslo with King Haakon and the royal party just before the Nazi hordes.

MRS. FARLEY, wife of the most politically minded man in Washington, is coming to Chicago, altho she has little use for politics and Washington society. During the last several years, instead of living in Washington, Mrs. Farley has remained in New York and devoted herself to music and the theater in addition to her three children.

AMONG all of these Democratic women next week in Chicago perhaps the two most active will be Elizabeth Conkey, the convention hostess, and Mrs. Thomas F. McAllister, who presides over the Democratic women's division. Mrs. Conkey is a veteran politically, but never before has she had such a long guest list and it's up to her to keep all of these guests comfortable and happy without ruffling her brow.

In comparison with Mrs. Conkey, Mrs. McAllister is a newcomer to politics, but both agree that only thru politics can women get at the roots of problems and achieve results. This is the reason that Mrs. Conkey gave up a club career and Mrs. McAllister sacrificed hours in the Junior league for the New Deal arena.

"The 1940 national convention in Chicago comes at a time of world crisis," says Mrs. McAllister. "Our responsibility is grave. Our job is to help nominate the right candidates and to help formulate a platform which meets the challenge to democracy at a time when democracy is threatened."

This is practically the same thing that Miss Marion Martin, head of the Republican women's division, said on the eve of the G. O. P. convention. Both Mrs. McAllister and Miss Martin are right. The point is for the electorate to choose wisely between the candidates for the revival of economic prosperity and the protection of the American way of life.

Daytime Dress, Simple but Appealing

Summer daytime dress in decisive black and white printed crepe is simple in silhouette but youthfully appealing with soft shirrings in bodice and front of skirt. Unusual color contrast is provided with a gros-grain belt and underhem facing of cerise.

Cotton House Coats Perfect Hot Day Garb

BY REA SEEGER.

Crisp, cool cotton house coats to achieve a fresh nonwilting appearance for the sultriest temperatures come in candy stripe dimities and very feminine floral prints. Separate coats have a decidedly languishing effect with a floor sweeping flounce, a slim streamline, elbow length sleeves, and a bit of decorative smocking high at the shoulders. They're simple but not dull.

The red and white affairs are particularly effective. The stripes are thin as a thread, the background white, and from across the breakfast table the cost will look delicately pink. The same thing comes in blue and white, too.

Duets of cool cotton feature a white gown trimmed simply with bands of printed crinkled organdy, like the cotton house coat. These delectable pairs use satin ribbon and narrow white lace for trim, pink on the sky blue and blue on the pink. Ribbon is used for belt and elbow trim. They all look as cool as frappé, tub with commendable equanimity, and the color stays flattering and cool after weeks of wear.

These are not the strictly tailored house coats nor are they too fussy with frills. What makes them so ideally the summer solution with which to block sticky humidity is their airy, pastel charm and almost filmy coolness.

Even after tubbing they stay crisp. Lots of dainty color combinations, as well as solid colors in soft pink and blue, are obtainable. The separate coats are around $5; the duets are double the sum.

Fashion photograph. . . . A black and white print can't be equaled for cool smartness for summer weather. Here is the new daytime dress of simple design, using the clear cut black and white pattern then highlighted with the tie belt and underfacing of hem in cerise.

Weddings Announced

Announcement is made of the marriage last Monday of Miss Marian Leonie Brummel, daughter of Mrs. Henry C. Brummel and the late Mr. Brummel, and Charles A. Barnett. Mr. Barnett is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Barnett of the south side. The ceremony was a small one at 5 o'clock in the afternoon in the chapel of St. Mary of the Lake church. Mr. Barnett and his bride have gone to Canada on their wedding trip. They will make their home on the north side.

The marriage of Miss Adelaide Josephine Geuss to Michael B. Cycon will take place at 4 o'clock on the afternoon of July 21 at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Geuss of Evanston. After a wedding trip in Wisconsin Mr. Cycon and his bride will be at home in Evanston.

Parents, Cadets of Citadel to Meet This Evening

A meeting has been called for 6:30 p. m. today at 35 East Wacker drive of cadets, their fathers, alumni and five faculty members of The Citadel, Charleston, S. C., military college. The gathering will be in the offices of Dr. W. M. Smith Sr. of the class of 1889, and will be in the interest of the school which was attended last year by 27 Chicagoans. The five faculty members are here doing graduate work at the University of Chicago and Armour Institute of Technology.

Call of Distant Places Heard by Vacationers

BY JUDITH CASS.

ALASKA, Bermuda, Canada, Hawaii, New Mexico, and the northwest, in alphabetical order, if not in order of popularity, are luring vacation-minded Chicagoans. Five Winnetka subdebutantes are waiting impatiently for the first of August when they will say good-by to the north shore for a month's holiday in the northwest. Chaperoned by Mrs. Roger K. Ballard, they will go to the Beartooth ranch at Columbus, Mont., for four weeks of riding and relaxation.

The young travelers, all seniors at the North Shore Country Day school, are Nancy Graff, Polly Goodrich, Evelyn Coolidge, Judy Adams, and Betty Conway. Also in the group will be Mrs. Ballard's daughter, a debutante of two seasons ago, and possibly two or three other young women.

Mrs. Thomas A. Connors and Sons Go West.

Tommy and Henry Connors and their mother, Mrs. Thomas A. Connors, are other western travelers. They departed by motor this week to spend six weeks away. The boys are hoping to come in close contact—but not too close—with bears and wolves.

Alaska bound are the De Forest Hulburds, their daughter and son, Marie Louise and Charles, and John Shedd Schweppe. They are departing today for Prince Rupert Island, B. C., where they will board a chartered yacht for a cruise farther north.

Mrs. Taylor Strawn and her daughter and son, Louise and Taylor, are spending six weeks at Crabb Lake, Wis., in the Hulburd cottage. Mrs. Strawn and Mrs. Hulburd are sisters.

The junior Albert Blake Dicks and their daughter, Helen, have departed for Bermuda to spend the remainder of the summer at their new Bermuda home, Inwood, in Paget. Mrs. Gilbert E. Porter III. and her three daughtrs, Edith, Mary, and Anne, also have gone to Bermuda. They are occupying the guest house on the Dick property.

Mrs. Robert C. Orr and her daughters, Miss Adair and Miss Nancy Orr, gave up their plans for a summer holiday in Bermuda. They went to Virginia Beach, Va., instead, to remain until July 25.

Junior Byron S. Harveys Are Going to Santa Fe.

The junior Byron S. Harveys, who had a camp at Desbarats in Ontario last summer, are going to Santa Fe this year. They and their two children depart next Thursday to spend the rest of the summer at La Fonda hotel in the New Mexican city. The Stewart Harveys and their three children also are in Santa Fe for the summer, having gone there early in June.

The George Senseneys, who moved last spring from an apartment to a house in Astor street, are going to Desbarats late this month for a visit with Mrs. Senseney's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest H. Noyes. Mr. and Mrs. Noyes opened their place at the Canadian resort early this week.

There can be no doubt of the increasing popularity of Honolulu and the Hawaiian Islands. Scores of Chicagoans will be greeting each other there this summer. En route west are the Freeman Hinckleys and Mrs. Hinckley's daughters, Miss Eleanor and Barbara McClurg; Mrs. John S. Coonley, Mrs. Lon C. Hill, her daughter and sons, Miss Georgette, Lon Jr., and Owsley; dozens of honeymooning couples, and a group of 18 members of the Geographic society of Chicago, who will sail next Monday from San Francisco in the Mariposa.

Hinckleys to Go Later to Maine Summer Home.

The Hinckleys sail in the Lurline from San Francisco. Upon their return after three weeks in Hawaii they will go directly to their summer home in Prout's Neck, Me. Barbara McClurg will return to the Ethel Walker school next fall for her last year. Mrs. Coonley will remain in Honolulu with members of her family until next September. Mr. Hill is at the family ranch in Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. John Alden Carpenter have left their summer home at Beverly Cove and have gone to Bar Harbor, Me., for a visit while their house

Looking at Hollywood
By John Chapman

Hollywood, Cal., July 11.—It is anybody's guess whether Darryl Zanuck is now sorry or still satisfied that he let Shirley Temple go. Little Miss T.'s final Fox picture, "Young People," has just been shown and looks to the trade like another success.

Shirley Temple.

It is a solidly, inoffensively hokey film in which Shirley, Charlotte Greenwood, and Jack Oakie, vaudeville hoofers, make a bunch of Jerks out of a lot of Yanks. They conquer a sourpussed New England town and wake it up. In it Miss Temple shows no sign of having reached an awkward age, whatever that may be. She's quite a big girl now but her charm and stuff have grown, too. She is a trouper now, and not a prodigy.

The probable real reason for her release was the money she was getting—something over $150,000 a picture. It may be that nobody else will pay her that much, but it seems certain that, after "Young People," she will keep right on making movies.

Twentieth Century-Fox will get undeserved and unasked credit for a sentimental masterstroke in Shirley's farewell. In the course of the picture she and her foster parents, Greenwood and Oakie, bid farewell to an audience because they are quitting the stage for a New England farm. This sequence had preview customers softly weeping, to think that dear little Shirley wouldn't be around any more. Good stuff—but a happy accident. This scene just happened to be in the story.

Ending reports that Henry Fonda was to be in this picture or that one, Director Henry King informs that Fonda will have the title rôle in "Chad Hanna," Walter D. Edmonds' story of old-time circus life. Tests for other rôles begin immediately, and shooting stars Aug. 19. . . . King has just returned from a tour of the country in his own new plane. After he finishes a picture—"Maryland" was the last one—he likes to hop around, calling on dealers and exhibitors. . . . Director John Ford will soon take the exam for the rank of commander in the naval reserve. He's a two-and-a-half striper, or lieutenant commander, senior grade, now. . . . James Roosevelt is due back soon to resume training with Woody Van Dyke's marine reserves. . . . Frank Condon, the writer, is seriously ill and is facing an operation.

I crossed the icebound Mississippi river this morning to see Jane Withers make some location shots in "Youth Must Be Served." They built the Mississippi on the Fox lot for "Brigham Young"—which, by the way, is getting ten days of retakes. A simple job, the river was. Just put some white stuff on what used to be the golf course and some papier maché banks and dead trees on the other side and you have it. It raises quite a dust when you drive over it, but on the other side is the girls' camp for Miss Withers' film.

Jane had quite a time of it. A hillbilly girl who never bathed, she is showered and soaped-up and then thrown into the swimming pool at this girls' camp. They had to make five takes, which meant a lot of soaping and throwing. First take was spoiled when a new bomber built for England flew overhead and ruined the sound track. Next take was spoiled by a transport plane. The third time, Jane fell face down in the pool, and when she came up she had a mouthful of water and couldn't give the proper dialog. Takes 4 and 5 okay.

Jane, by the way, is still going to school four hours a day on the lot, when it's vacation time for most kids.

More fun! The Warners have been looking for six babies for important rôles in "Four Mothers," which starts shooting next week. Babies get old very quickly in this climate and you almost never can use one from an old picture. To get new ones you send for a lot of mothers with infants and a director makes faces at the infants and picks the ones he likes best. . . . This title cycle is getting me down, so how about a picture to end 'em? "Four mothers-in-law at Edison, the hotel somewhere down around the Argentine where they all fell in love."

Elsie, the cow, was to arrive in style today for an R-K-O film and was to be greeted by a lot of motion picture journalists. I'll report on it in detail later unless some public spirit citizen shoots me first.

Heigh-ho! The recently separated Hedy Lamarr's next film will be called "Come Live with Me." . . . Ben Hecht, who is author, director, and producer of "Before I Die," will also sneak himself into the picture in the rôle of a bum.

July 12, 1940.

Universal Day—A splendid day for helping the Red Cross or community charities. Help some one.

Harmonizing numbers—Number 1 harmonizes with number 5, so if you are in a 1-year, the 5-days will be good days on which to push new ideas and make contacts. If you are a salesman or do any work which brings you before the public, a 5-day is the best day of the week to sell either yourself or product, and this is especially true if you are in a 1-year.

Rodzinski Again Gives Stirring Time to Ravinia

Concert at Ravinia park Thursday evening, July 11, 1940, by the Chicago Symphony orchestra, Artur Rodzinski conducting. The program:
Overture to "Oberon".....Weber
Symphony No. 5, E flat major....Sibelius
Choreographic Poem, "The Waltz".....Ravel
"La Mer" ["The Sea"].....Debussy

Artur Rodzinski, at the peak of his form, turned Sibelius' fifth symphony into one of the most striking experiences of the Ravinia season last night. It was one of the best performances the Cleveland conductor has ever given here, stirring and charged with immense vitality, yet logical and coherent.

It would be difficult, if not impossible, to make out a case for the Sibelius fifth symphony as a great piece of music. But in its pizzicatos and tremolandos for the strings, its insistent, biting use of the woodwinds, and its final extended brass fanfare, it possesses all the ingredients of emotional excitement, provided the conductor can draw these diverse elements together into a cogent unity. The interest and the excitement of the symphony do not lie primarily in the nature or quality of its themes, but rather in the composer's whole external manner of address to his audience.

Mr. Rodzinski's triumph was not that he understood and projected the extrovert aspects of the work, for any conductor with Mr. Rodzinski's experience and technical command could do this. The unique feature of the performance lay in the conductor's discovery of a single, concentrated, mounting emotional line. The music was revealed with all the oneness and irrevocability that Tuesday night's Brahms so largely lacked. The orchestra responded magnificently to such commanding leadership.

Weber's overture to "Oberon" was brightly and effectively played. In the introduction, however, a curious lack of definiteness, engendered by pianissimo playing amounting almost to affectation, was disturbing.

For some unrevealed reason, Mr. Rodzinski departed from the announced order of his program, playing Ravel's "The Waltz" before Debussy's "The Sea." But even tho "The Waltz" is more brilliantly orchestrated, the change was effective, for the audience heard by far the better work at the close of the concert. The Ravel work was rather aggressively and unyieldingly conducted. "The Sea," tho lacking in fineness of texture, was musically more rewarding.

Park Concertgoers Once More Undergo 'Arctic Wave Ordeal

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Glenn Cliffe Bainum has been rained on hard. Last night it looked and felt for a while as if he were to become the first Grant park conductor ever to be snowed on.

As it happened the snow held off, but Mr. Bainum and his band were compelled to present their concert under conditions not generally associated with summer music making. Waste paper and popcorn boxes whirled in the arctic wind, white caps rose on the lake, and black clouds scudded close overhead. A few hundred devotees sat out in the bleak audience area slowly freezing to death.

Like all of Mr. Bainum's concerts the one last night offered unusual and carefully chosen music competently and musically performed. There were such things as the "Coronation of the Muse" from Charpentier's "Louise," the overture to Rimsky-Korsakoff's "Maid of Pskov," and excerpts from Coleridge-Taylor's "Hiawatha."

Lilyan Sachs, soprano soloist of the evening, offered among other things the aria, "Pace, Pace, Mio Dio" from Verdi's "Forza del Destino." Her finely focused voice, the admirable musical line which she preserved, and the general dignity of her performance won a good round of applause from her half-frozen listeners.

Afternoon Frock for Sheers

MISS' AFTERNOON FROCK.

Sheer fabrics have a certain formal elegance which makes them especially suitable to afternoon social affairs. This pattern was designed with sheers in mind. Both printed and plain sheers may be used, and the sketches illustrate the charm of both. The waistline sector is the outstanding feature of this style, which is designed for slimsters only. Worn with a large, floppy hat and impeccable accessories, this frock may go to the most exacting places and win honors.

Style No. 3373 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20. Size 16 requires 3⅝ yards of 39 inch material, with 3 yards of edging.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

Thru the LOOKING GLASS

Every hostess whose house is deluged with summer week-end visitors should take a look at the attractive and inexpensive miniature trunks which a shop has obligingly filled with the things that so many guests forget. The visitors should take a look at it, too. One would make the most intelligent and appreciated kind of a bread-and-butter gift to the woman whose house is often open to guests.

The little trunk is quite realistic, in beige with brown straps. It's of sturdy paper. Inside it's lined with blue, polka dotted in white. In the top tray are a face cloth, a tooth brush, a bottle of antiseptic mouth wash, tooth paste and even tooth powder.

In the bottom of the trunk you'll find a tin of talcum powder, a bottle of hand lotion, a little cake of soap, a jar of cold cream and a jar of deodorant cream. What more could the guest want? Or the hostess, who wants to make sure that her guests are provided with everything that might contribute to their comfort?

This is astonishingly inexpensive. And unlike so many gift items described as novel, it's useful.

A brown suitcase was the inspiration for another little gift idea for the traveler. The package is a perfect little reproduction of a suitcase, even to the clasps, handles and colorful labels. Open, it reveals a bottle of cologne in bouquet fragrance. The cologne is exactly the kind with which a traveler likes to relieve the heat and weariness of a journey, a scent that's faintly sweet and decidedly refreshing. ELEANOR NANGLE.

Adviser Tells Couple to Turn Isolationist

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Here's a young couple married four months, the young wife 21, the husband 23. They both work. Their combined income, as the young wife tells it, "is not the best in the world, but something that many a young couple would be glad to have." They room and board with the young husband's parents, who are the world of kindness to them, considerate, never interfering, and remaining entirely apart in the large house.

The bride's mother isn't contented to let things drift along as they are going. She begins plying a malicious trade in undermining the character of the young husband. She passes mean little digs, according to her own daughter, about how cheap they are, never bringing her a gift or anything. She continues her premarital practice of telling her daughter that she'll live to regret the day she ever married "that cheap fellow." That he wasn't earning enough when they married, and the small diamond he gave her are favorite subjects of her attacks.

A mother who pursues such a course of attempted home wrecking of one of her own, we think, is due for a tar and feather treatment. She's an incredible parent. Victim of a mad, insane form of jealousy inspired by a vicious underlying character, the woman is a danger element each time she and the young pair meet. Were we in the young wife's place, we'd let a lot of time elapse between meetings, and then we would go alone to see her.

The fact that the pair is living with the husband's people and accomplishing the miracle of congeniality probably burns the vicious one's soul. In any event, as long as she attacks the young husband on such grounds as those presented by her daughter, the greater distance the young couple and she keep, the better.

Front Views and Profiles By June Provines

Lighter Side of the War News.

M. W. Fodor, speaking at the Council of Foreign Relations yesterday, told of the request of the proprietor of a famous restaurant in Brussels, where a number of war correspondents were gathered for dinner the first day of the German invasion of Brussels.

"Would you gentlemen do something for me?" he asked. Upon their assent he explained: "We have a large supply of excellent caviar on hand. Might we serve it to you? We don't want it to fall into the hands of the Germans."

NAMES IN QUESTION.

Could Hamilton's Mary Poppins—
Tho she sounds so drolly wholesome—
Be an undeclared sequel to the Heliza (same name) of Johnson and Olsen?

And how did Aldous Huxley,
The choice of the few,
Become so phenomenally popular,
Viz: Aldous and Heaven, Too?

And does the movie marquis merger,
Reading Dr. Cyclops-Popeye,
Mean that Balazan, Katz, and Homer
Have decided to ally?
—Virginia Lamb.

Articulation.

A Freeport, Ill., typist who was unable to decipher some writing sent to her to be typed, telephoned the chemist who sent it:

"Please, won't you articulate when you write so I will know what you're saying?"

Getting Away.

A prominent Springfield family, the Peter Grahams, motored to Chicago to get away from their home town for a few days and to visit relatives who own and operate an apartment house on Sheridan road. As they alighted from their car the first thing their eyes lighted on was a large billboard adorned with a picture of Abraham Lincoln and a sign reading: Visit the Lincoln Shrine. In and Around Springfield. Lincoln's Spirit Lives Eternally in Illinois.

Little Carpenter.

A 7 year old who is spending the summer with his family in the Indiana dunes was given a child's version of a carpenter's apron, complete with pockets and tools. He saw some carpenters at work on a building and immediately the lad donned his apron and applied for a job.

"You have to have suitable credentials before you can be a carpenter," he was told. "You have to bring us a letter saying you are qualified as a carpenter."

The little boy went away, to return later with a letter his 11 year old brother had written for him. When one of the men laughed as he read it, the lad demanded it be read aloud to him. The letter:

"To Whom It May Concern:

"This is to certify that Philip Neuman is a member in good standing of the fifth column and an ardent Nazi. HITLER."

Perhaps now the title of the French national anthem should be changed from the Marseillaise to the Mesalliance, suggests Maurice Lazare.

Sally's Guests See 2 Thrilling Games at Wrigley Field

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

The boys and girls who won invitations to our first party of the season certainly got plenty of what they like best! They saw nineteen innings of exciting baseball out at Wrigley Field where the Chicago Cubs and the Boston Bees played a double header yesterday afternoon, and the youngsters loved every minute of it.

The sky was threatening when the first game started and before long the rain chased us out of the box seats which were courteously provided for us, but we moved back under shelter and quickly settled down to munch hot buttery popcorn until the play resumed.

The Cubs took the first game with a score of 8 to 2, and the youngsters had a chance to see their old favorite, Gabby Hartnett, do the catching. They also saw an exciting home run, and cheered wildly every time the home team increased the score.

The Boston Bees turned around and stung in the second game, and after an extra inning, won the game, with a score of 2 to 1.

It was a thrilling afternoon of swell entertainment, and one I'm sure 100 boys and girls who were my guests won't forget for a long, long time!

at the Cove is being reconditioned after a recent fire.

Dancing on the terrace at the Tavern club tonight—if it doesn't rain—will be a lively group of members still in town. Joseph T. Ryerson, a summer bachelor; Ednyfed Williams, and Robert W. McKisson are some of those who will be entertaining at this cool and breeze swept club high in the tower of 333 North Michigan avenue.

Fishing Trip in Canada Lures the Ralph Shaws.

The Ralph Shaws will go to Minaki, Canada, Aug. 1, for a month of fishing. Also Canada bound are Miss Cornelia Conger and Miss Mildred McCormick. Miss Conger is spending July in Charlevoix and then will join Miss McCormick for a motor trip north.

The Gerald Grants have departed to spend six weeks at Timagami island in Ontario. Their sons, Gerald Jr., and John Gallery Grant, will go with them.

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Bates are departing next week on a fishing trip north. They and their young son are spending the summer with Mr. Bates' mother, Mrs. Clara Holt Bates, in Lake Bluff.

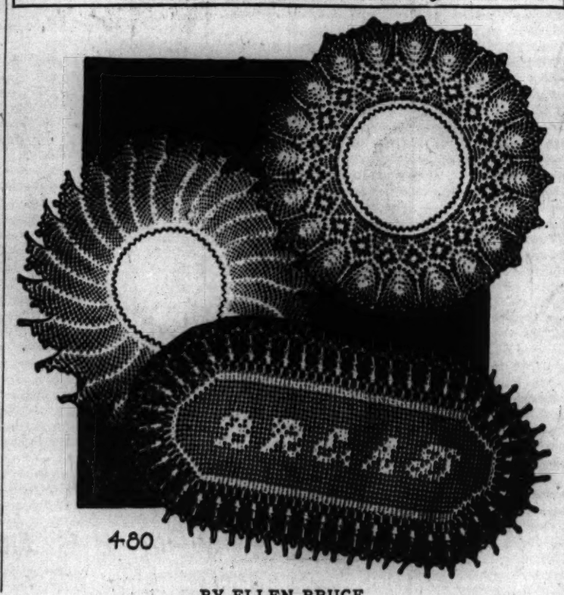
Mrs. Joseph E. Otis is opening her home, Birchwood Farm, at Harbor Springs, Mich., next Tuesday and Wednesday for a sale of articles made by the Vocational Society for Shut-Ins. Mrs. Otis Jr., Mrs. Louis C. Sudler, Mrs. Alden H. Little, Mrs. L. Edward Hart Jr. and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Robert W. Burnet; Mrs. Graham Fairbank and Mrs. Frank B. Johnston Jr. will be among the saleswomen. Mrs. Otis Jr. will give a luncheon for them at her home, also in the Birchwood Farm grounds.

Announcing Engagement of Marion Louise Klink.

Interesting romantic news comes from Mrs. A. Foster Klink of Evanston, who today is announcing the engagement of her daughter, Marion Louise, to Barton H. Cameron, youngest son of Dr. and Mrs. Dan U. Cameron of 1210 Astor street. Miss Klink attended the Roycemore school and spent two years at Northwestern university, one at the University of Arizona, and was graduated from Connecticut college in 1938. Mr. Cameron prepared at the Chicago Latin school for Princeton, where he was graduated in 1937. He is engaged in business in Chicago. The wedding will take place in the fall.

From Appleton, Wis., comes the announcement of the engagement of Miss Ellen Marie Marty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Marty of that city, to Paul V. Troup Jr. of La Crosse, Wis., son of Mr. and Mrs. Troup of Evanston. Miss Marty attended Lawrence college. Mr. Troup is a graduate of Northwestern university.

Pretty Cloths for Trays



BY ELLEN BRUCE.

Crocheted doilies for cake plates and bread trays add a distinctive touch to every well appointed table and inspire endless compliments for the proud hostess. These two cake plate doilies are not difficult to crochet around a circle of fine white linen. The tray cloth for bread is one of the most popular and easy of the numerous crochet jobs. The pattern includes detailed instructions, illustration of the stitches, and a list of material requirements.

For instructions in crocheting the cloths for the cake plates and bread tray, No. X-480, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 5th avenue, New York City.

Youths' Hour to Come Home Not Standard

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"What hour do you think is right for a boy or girl to be home at night?"

After writing the articles of the last few days, I feel sure that that question will come in my mail, as it has before. In trying to answer those letters personally I always find myself in difficulties, and for the simple reason that young people and conditions differ.

Take the story a high school youth told me recently. He was born and raised in a suburb near a great city. One summer he got a job there, found himself with a few hours on his hands before meeting his father, right in the thick of the theatrical section.

Passing a burlesque show entrance, he thought: "I've heard about these things. Wonder what they're like?" and went in. An elderly man sitting next to him talked and became very friendly. He invited the boy to a nearby drug store, where they each had a drink. The man was courteous and interesting and cordial, and invited the boy to his apartment. The boy accepted, then glanced at the clock. "Gosh!" he said. "I've got to scram or I'll be late for Dad. . . ." You can imagine Dad's feelings when he heard the story! That boy had had no experience in going about alone, and had not been informed of some things young people must be told when they're beginning to step out.

That is a rather extreme example of what I mean when I say that the hours young people may keep, and the places they may be allowed to go to are determined by their individual fitness and their upbringing.

Boys and girls need each other. Their social life must be somewhat regulated by their parents. But the hours they keep cannot be arbitrarily set for all young people.

The decisions must be arrived at individually by their parents.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1940: By Ely Culbertson.]

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: If I'm not mistaken, you once said in your column that team of four play offers the truest test. You're right, and how my team flunked in its last match! Will you kindly observe how 'our other pair' massacred a vulnerable game contract, and lost us the match, on the following deal:

"North, dealer.

"Both sides vulnerable.

NORTH
♠ K 7
♥ A K 10 6
♦ K Q 9 4 3 2

WEST
♠ Q J 9 5
♥ J 7 5
♦ J 8

EAST
♠ 6 4 3
♦ A 10 6 5
♣ K 8 5 4 3

SOUTH
♠ A 10 8 2
♥ Q 9 4 3 2
♣ J 7 2

"The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 diamond	Pass	1 heart	Pass
4 hearts	Pass	Pass	Pass

"I think that no exception can be taken to the bidding, and certainly the final contract was correct. On the surface it looks as tho South would have to lose only one diamond and one club trick, thereby romping home with an overtrick. But not this South player!

"West opened the spade queen. Dummy's king was put up, and the heart ace was cashed. Declarer then felt that he had better ruff out his losing clubs and, as preparation, led the singleton from dummy. West captured the jack with the queen and returned a low club. Dummy ruffed low, and now declarer finally got the idea that he had better start on the diamond suit. In order to lead up to dummy's strength, he entered his own hand with a spade to the ace and led his singleton diamond. The queen went to East's ace and East returned a spade. Declarer's eight was covered by the nine and ruffed in dummy with the heart ten. The heart king then was laid down, followed by the diamond king, on which declarer discarded his spade ten. But now, when declarer tried to get back to his own hand to draw West's jack of trumps, he found he had bitten off more than he could chew. Obviously, he had to lead a diamond and ruff, whereupon he was promptly overruffed, and West then laid down the club ace for the setting trick. Now I ask you, Mr. C., didn't it take genius to lose that contract?

"S. N. P., New York."

Well, perhaps "genius" is too strong a word, but it must be admitted that the declarer went to considerable trouble to be defeated. His downfall came [as is so often the case] from his inability to make up his mind which hand to establish, his own or dummy. Considering that the greater strength by far, both in top cards and in distribution, was in the North hand, it goes without saying that declarer's efforts should have been directed toward establishing that hand. Thus, his very first move should have been to set up dummy's diamonds, and to that end he should have won the opening spade lead in his own hand and returned the singleton diamond. East would capture the queen, but could make no better return than a spade to dummy's king. Declarer then should ruff a low diamond, after which he should play three rounds of hearts, ending in dummy. Cashing the diamond king would reveal that another ruff was necessary to establish the suit and declarer's remaining trump would, of course, provide that ruff. Now declarer would merely concede dummy's singleton club and claim the balance.

To bring home an extra trick on this contract requires only reasonable skill.

U. of C. to Be Mecca for Scientists and Scholars This Year

More than 15,000 scholars and scientists will meet on the University of Chicago campus during the coming year as learned societies in 31 academic fields hold meetings on the Midway in conjunction with the celebration of the university's 50th anniversary.

Frederic Woodward, director of the celebration, announced yesterday that the first scientific organization to meet at the university will be the clinical congress of the American College of Surgeons, which will convene Oct. 21. Its membership of 5,000 is the largest of any group meeting at the university during the anniversary year.

At least five learned groups with a combined membership of more than 2,000 will be in session at the time of the academic festival in September, 1941, which brings the celebration to a climax.

IT'S ALL-STAR FOOTBALL TIME! POLL OPENS

REDS BEAT DODGERS, 6-5; ADD TO LEAGUE LEAD

WIN 6TH IN ROW; BUCKY WALTERS GIVES UP 5 HITS

Brooklyn Rally Ties Score in Eighth.

Cincinnati, O., July 11 (AP).—The Reds trimmed Brooklyn 6 to 5 tonight, running their victories to six straight and increasing their lead to a game and a half over the second place Dodgers.

With first place at stake, Cincinnati batters jumped on three Brooklyn hurlers for 11 hits to give Bucky Walters his 12th victory of the season and his third in a row.

It was anybody's game until the last, altho Walters yielded only five hits. Ival Goodman singled in Eddie Joost to break a 5-all tie which a Brooklyn rally had established in the eighth inning and provide the winning run.

The Dodgers capitalized on a walk, a wild throw, and Joe Medwick's long fly for two runs in the first. The Reds came back with a series of singles off Whitlow Wyatt to score three times in their half of the inning.

Pressnell Losing Pitcher.

Tot Pressnell relieved Wyatt in the seventh. The Reds scored a run in the sixth and another in the seventh on timely singles.

Brooklyn rallied with two runs in the eighth, led by Dixie Walker's double. Medwick reached first on a low throw and Babe Phelps singled Walker home, sending Medwick to third. A long fly scored Medwick after the catch. The Reds came back in their half for the winning rally.

Vito Tamulis finished the game for the Dodgers, but Pressnell was charged with the defeat. Score:

GIANTS, 8; CARDINALS, 6.

St. Louis, Mo., July 11 (AP).—The third place New York Giants scored two runs on two hits, a walk, and two errors by Joe Orengo in the 11th inning to defeat the St. Louis Cardinals tonight, 8 to 6.

Joe Moore worked Ira Hutchinson, the Cards' third pitcher, for a walk to open the 11th. Frank Demaree sacrificed him to second, and when Orengo dropped Mickey Owen's throw Moore went to third and Demaree was safe at first. Orengo then threw wildly over Jimmy Brown's head and Moore scored. Babe Young lined out to Terry Moore, but Harry Danning helped the Giants along by beating out a hit to Martin Marion, sending Demaree to third, whence he scored a minute later on Mel Ott's single. Mark Up Another Run for the Cubs

Jim Gleeson, the Cubs' fleetfooted young outfielder, slides into the plate with a run in the fifth inning of the first game of yesterday's double header. Jim scored on Manager Gabby Hartnett's fly to Right Fielder Gene Moore. Catcher Phil Masi had the ball in time, but Gleeson's slide knocked it from his hand, along with his mitt. The Cubs won the first game, 8 to 2, but lost the second, 2 to 1, in ten innings

Cubs Defeat Bees, 8-2; Lose 2d in 10th, 2-1

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Cubs rounded out the first half of their 1940 campaign yesterday at the approximate pace they have gone all season — 50-50. They broke even in a double header with the Boston Bees, taking the first game, 8 to 2, but lost a hard fought encounter in the 10 inning second match, 2 to 1.

Claude Passeau, in registering his ninth victory of the year, had a shutout in hand until the ninth inning when two errors by Phil Cavarretta enabled the Bees to score their pair of runs. The high spot of the first encounter, tho not the decisive one, was Bill Nicholson's eleventh homer of the year with two on in the sixth inning. Nicholson also drove in the first and last runs of the contest.

Second Game a Battle.

The second game, which gave Larry French his seventh defeat, was a vastly different kind of competition. Both sides were scoreless until the ninth. The Bees tallied then, but the Cubs tied it in their half on Nicholson's triple and Augie Galan's double.

The Bees won in the tenth on Eddie Miller's double, a scratch hit by Dick Errickson, who pitched all the way for the victory, and a long fly by Sibby Sisti. The Cubs made a bid for another tie in the tenth when they had runners on third and first with one out. The chance vanished when Bill Herman popped out and Jim Gleeson flied out.

FIRST GAME

The Cubs scored a run in the first inning in which they made a single and a double and drew two passes. Herman beat out an infield single and Gleeson walked. Nicholson doubled to left center, Herman scoring. Galan grounded to Sisti and Gleeson was run down between third and home. Cavarretta walked, loading the bases, then Hartnett grounded to Miller.

West revealed the extent of his recovery from injuries suffered in the All-Star game by opening the second with a double to left. Rowell singled sharply to left and Max was obliged to stop at third. Miller popped to Hack, then Masi flied to Galan and West was doubled at the plate, Galan to Hartnett.

Rain Delays Game.

Three singles produced a run for the Cubs in the second inning. The hits were by Mattick, Herman, and Gleeson. Mattick led off in the fourth with his second single, advanced on Passeau's sacrifice, and took third while Rowell was making a brilliant play to get Hack. Manager Stengel halted the game and called in Strincevich to replace Sullivan. Herman popped to Cooney.

After the Boston fifth the game

Mahoney Named Head Track Coach by Notre Dame

Notre Dame, Ind., July 11 [Special]. William P. Mahoney of Phoenix, Ariz., was appointed Notre Dame track coach today by the Rev. Hugh O'Donnell, C. S. C., president of the university. He succeeds the late John P. Nicholson, whose assistant he had been during the 1939 and 1940 seasons.

William P. Mahoney.

Mahoney captained the 1939 team, running with the mile relay team which set an all-time Notre Dame outdoor record of 3:17.5. He was a hurdler until an injury in his junior year forced him to shift to the quarter mile.

The new coach was graduated with honors from the college of arts and letters a year ago, and with honors from the college of law last month. He was president of the Wranglers' club, campus debating group, and was active in the Monogram club, composed of athletic letter winners.

His work with Nicholson, who died suddenly April 2, dealt mainly with the freshmen. Mahoney took over the technical training of the outdoor squad this spring.

Boston Homer Beats Sox in 13th Inning, 3-2

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., July 11.—The White Sox, who are looked upon locally as the Red Sox's cousin team, were a bit stubborn today, but in the end played their usual rôle. James Dykes' Westerners, mainly because of the persistence of John Dungan Rigney, carried their opening battle of the eastern tour into 13 innings, at which point Bobby Doerr boomed a homer over the left field signs to close the matinée with a 3 to 2 score. It was Boston's ninth victory over the Chicagoans in 12 games.

The Sox continued in their cousin rôle, not because Boston hit Rigney, but because of their ineffective defense and vagrant base running. The game was given away on a garnished platter in a hitless third inning when an error by Joe Kuhel opened a path to the plate for two enemy runners. Then to aggravate the case, despite accomplishment of a tie in the eighth, the Chicago Sox were guilty of tossing away a golden opportunity to retrieve their gifts. They blasted a budding rally by blind base running in the sixth.

Rigney Yields Seven Hits.

Three Boston pitchers were in service while Rigney was doing his one man, seven hit job. Herb Hash started and stuck for nine innings, during which the White Sox did their scoring. One of their two runs was Kuhel's 13th homer in the fourth. The other was a Taft Wright-Luke Appling collaboration in the eighth. But, after Hash had been yanked for a pinch hitter, the Chicago bats became practically worthless. There were no hits off Joe Heving in two innings and only two off Emerson Dickman, who tolled in the 12th and 13th. Both these singles occurred with none out but there were no pleasing developments.

Foxx's Double Is Wasted.

The hitting of the Red Sox in the early innings can be dismissed with a mention of a drive dispatched to a remote section by Foxx after two were out in the first. He made the mistake of hitting it to the deepest spot in the park, 420 feet in right center, so all that it netted him was a two bagger. Rigney erased this threat by fanning the free swinging Williams. The Chicagoans had to wait until the third for their first hit, a single to center by Tresh with none out, but nothing happened.

The home third, which was featured by charity, began with Rigney's gift of a pass to Peacock. Hash bunted to Rigney, who foolishly tried to force Peacock at second. The throw arrived too late. Carey also bunted and Kuhel threw to third but lost an easy force play by aiming against the left field seats instead of into

TODD, DOERING, WEHRLE WIN IN WESTERN GOLF

Moller, Ward, Goodman, Ferrier Also Advance.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Minneapolis, Minn., July 11.—The Big Seven of the 41st Western Amateur golf tournament survived the first brace of 18 hole matches today at the Minneapolis Country club, but they still have a great deal of toil left for them in tomorrow's third and fourth round matches, in which at least three of them are certain to leave the party.

The favored septet includes last year's finalists, Champion Harry Todd of Dallas and Runner-up Larry Moller of Quincy, Ill.; National Champion Bud Ward of Spokane, Wash.; John Goodman of Omaha, former American open and amateur title holder; Wilford Wehrle of Chicago, 1937 winner of the title, and yesterday's comedalists, Arthur Doering of Chicago and Jim Ferrier of Australia.

Todd vs. Moller Again.

The one third round match which is certain to eliminate one of the Big Seven is the encore performance between Todd and Moller, who went 35 holes last year before Harry won, 2 and 1. Moller, one time Notre Dame golf captain, won his two matches without undue effort, but Todd this afternoon had to finish with a birdie and a par to win, 1 up, from Lieut. Paul Clifford of Franklin, N. H.

If Ward and Goodman win the third round matches they will meet in the afternoon's first quarter-final. Bud and Johnny are known competitors in any league, match or medal, but they may run into considerable difficulty tomorrow morning. Ward faces Warren Beri, the Stanford sophomore who was runner-up for the 1939 college title, and Goodman draws Bert McDowell of Kansas City, recent Louisiana State university graduate.

Doering Has Hard Assignment.

Doering has two problems of a home town nature to contend with on the way to Saturday's 36 hole semi-finals. In the third round he meets George Victor of Chicago's Glen View club. If Arthur can succeed in subduing George, whose fine play in this tournament has been overlooked, his afternoon opponent may be Walter Burkemo, Evanston, who is causing the local galleries to pick him as the dark horse of the tournament.

The winner of the Todd-Moller argument will meet the victor in the third round match between Dr. Bill Kostelecky of Fargo, N. D., one time Northwestern golf leader, and Bobby Campbell of Minneapolis. Of five extra hole matches in today's 48 bouts, there was no doubt about Campbell being the extra inning hero of the day. He beat Ellsworth Vines, erst-

NATION'S FANS TO DETERMINE STARTING TEAM

Green Bay Packers Foe on Aug. 29.

BY ARCH WARD.

This is the day the blitzkrieg hits the United States. But it will be a battle of votes, not guns. When action has subsided the country will know the identity of the All-American team which will face the Green Bay Packers, champions of the National Football league, in Chicago's seventh annual All-Star game on Soldiers' field the night of Aug. 29.

The polls are open. Fans thruout the nation are invited to take a hand in picking a starting lineup for the College All-Stars. Balloting will continue until July 23. The two ends, two tackles, two guards, center, quarter back, two half backs, and full back who receive the most votes at their positions will comprise the starting college eleven.

The greatest newspaper and radio tieup in the history of sport will handle the poll. The Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., sponsor of the event, will have the coöperation of 387 newspapers and radio stations. The voting centers are located in 47 states and the District of Columbia. Delaware is the only state without representation.

The Vote's the Thing.

When the personnel of the All-Star eleven has been determined, there will be a poll for coaches to direct the college squad. The staff will consist of the Western conference coach who gets more votes than any other from that organization, the coach outside the conference in the middle west who leads that area, one from the east, one from the south and one from the far west.

There are no restrictions on talent in the player poll except that candidates must have finished their collegiate eligibility last season. There is no set form for casting your ballot. You may vote by post card, letter, petition or in any other manner, provided your name and address are legible. No selections will be counted which do not bear the name and address of the voter.

THE TRIBUNE'S associates have been instructed to discard all petitions and ballots whose authenticity is questioned.

Adhere to Fans' Team.

The Chicago All-Star game has proved the greatest testing ground football has developed. It has happened before, and probably will again, that the starting lineup presented to the coaching staff by the fans of the nation is not the strongest competitive combination available. Last year, for example, Bill Osmanski of Holy Cross was not voted a starting position at full back. However, the coaches learned in the three weeks of scrimmage at Dyche stadium he was the best at that position on the squad.

The findings of the coaches have no bearing on the starting team. The players chosen by the fans must form the opening lineup, provided they are physically fit the night of the game. If for any reason an elected player is unable to take his place at the opening kick-off, the man next in line in the national poll must be moved into the vacancy.

The All-Star football game is the one sports enterprise still commanded by the fans, and it will continue as such as long as this department is its director.

Rivals Even in Series.

In six years of competition involving the finest players the colleges have produced against the champions of the National Football league, the record stands all even. The professionals have won twice, the collegians twice, and there have been two ties. The All-Stars have scored a total of 41 points and the professionals 37. The record follows:

1934—All-Stars, 0; Chicago Bears, 0.
1935—All-Stars, 0; Chicago Bears, 5.
1936—All-Stars, 7; Detroit Lions, 7.
1937—All-Stars, 6; Green Bay, 0.
1938—All-Stars, 28; Washington, 16.
1939—All-Stars, 0; N. Y. Giants, 9.

This, fans, is your game. So get busy. Pick the eleven players you want to see in the All-Star lineup when they oppose the Green Bay Packers and mail your lineups to the All-Star Editor, Tribune Tower, Chicago. You can make eleven young men happy by electing them to the greatest event in sport.

LAWSON LITTLE JOINS SARAZEN FOR RYDER PLAY

Detroit, Mich., July 11 (AP).—Lawson Little, National Open champion, forwarded his entry today for the Red Cross matches next Tuesday and Wednesday in which Gene Sarazen's golf team meets Walter Hagen's Ryder cup outfit.

Sarazen's team will be composed of himself, Little, Jimmy Demaret, Ben Hogan, Craig Wood, Ed Oliver, Jimmy Thomson, Tommy Armour, Harry Cooper, and Al Watrous. Clayton Haefner, Billy Burke, and Frank Walsh will be alternates. On the Ryder cup team are Henry Picard, Byron Nelson, Horton Smith, Ralph Guldahl, Dick Metz, Jimmy Hines, Victor Ghezzi, Paul Runyan, Sam Snead, and Harold McSpaden.

RAPHAEL II FINDS GOING O. K. AND WINS WILMETTE

This War Refugee Doesn't Catch Fans Napping.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Followers of the Arlington Park races are learning to keep a sharp eye on those thorobred war refugees which Joseph E. Widener brought over from the French division of his establishment. Earlier in the meeting they let Moscow II. get away from them at odds of 30 to 1, but they were wide awake yesterday when Raphael II. went to the post in the Wilmette purse. They backed him down to 8 to 5 odds and then watched him gallop to victory in this six furlong allowance event which drew a field of six 3-year olds.

Only twice before had Raphael II. run in this country. He had scored by six lengths at Delaware Park and had finished second, beaten half a length by Woolford farm's Robert L., early in the Arlington meeting.

Quite at Home in Mud.

The betters found nothing immediately available in Raphael II.'s record to indicate whether he'd be able to run in the sloppy going which prevailed yesterday following tne heavy rains of the preceding night. But they decided to take a chance anyway and even this proved that there was no need for misgivings.

Raphael II. was just as much at home sloshing thru Arlington mud as he would have been galloping over the turf on a sunshiny afternoon at Longchamps After a brief duel with Centuple on the run down the back stretch he took command and drew clear on the turn. Centuple thereupon quit and Colosseum and Bay Carse took up the chase. Once straightened out in the stretch Raphael II. came on well in hand to finish more than two lengths ahead of Colosseum while Nightland was taking third place away from Bay Carse. Those who backed the Widener colorbearer received $9.40, $4.40, and $4.

Clark Rides 4 Winners.

Shelby Clark, who is leading the Arlington Park jockeys, rode four winners yesterday, running his total to 20. He brought in both of the horses which figured in the daily double and subsequently rode the winners of the seventh and eighth races.

In the first race he sent Calumet farm's Scarlet Insco cantering home six lengths in the lead and in the second he drove Paul Kelley's Jay Bee Dee across the finish line two lengths ahead of George Krehbiel's Lyner. The daily double on this pair was worth $25.40.

In the seventh race, at a mile and a sixteenth, Clark judged the pace nicely to bring Holl Image up in the stretch and beat Goshen by a little less than a length. He concluded the afternoon by landing Stable first at the finish line after catching The Hare in a hard stretch drive.

Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney's Traffic court, a daughter of Discovery, arrived from Belmont Park yesterday to run in tomorrow's Lassie stakes at Arlington Park. The Whitney miss impressed the young eastern sportsman in her maiden victory in the Forsythia purse at Empire City last Friday, and he instructed Trainer Ed Snyder to try for the rich Lassie prize.

As the most prominent of the eastern invaders for the six furlong special, Traffic Court likely will go to the post the third choice. Joseph Early Widener's Misty Isle, winner of the Hyde Park stakes, is held a stout favorite at 2 to 1. Next in the public fancy is the Woolford entry of Silvestra and Unquote, which finished one-two in a recent trial race for the Lassie.

Four horses owned by Mrs. E. Graham Lewis, eastern sportswoman, will arrive at Arlington Park from New York today, according to word received by Arlington Jockey club officials. Five others will be sent out next week. It is believed that the shipment will include eligibles for the three remaining stakes at the north side meeting. Mrs. Lewis has nominated Sister Union to the Lassie stakes tomorrow, Jacomar to the Classic stakes on July 20, and Chicuela and Fogabala to the Arlington Futurity on closing day, July 27.

DETROIT HOPES TO PUT TWO ON ALL-STAR TEAM

Detroit, Mich., July 11 [Special].—University of Detroit's hope of being represented on the College All-Star football team, which plays Green Bay's professional champions on Soldiers' field, Chicago, on Aug. 29, rests on the shoulders of Bill Schauer and Jack McDermott, end and full back, respectively. They are the Titan nominees.

Greenberg Beats Surface in Gold Racquet Tennis

North Conway, N. H., July 11 (AP).—Seymour Greenberg of Northwestern university provided the Gold Racquet tennis tournament with its most surprising upset today when he defeated the second seeded Hal Surface of Kansas City, 4-6, 6-2, 6-2, in a quarter-final match. The upset triumph moved Greenberg into the semi-finals against George Toley of Los Angeles, who advanced by running Frank Shields, the New York veteran, leg weary for a 6-3, 6-2 victory.

Floridan and Texan Win in Pennsylvania Tennis Meet

Philadelphia, Pa., July 11 (AP).—The Pennsylvania junior and boys' tennis titles title left the state today. Jack Blair, 18 years old of Miami Beach, Fla., won the junior championship with a 6-4, 7-5, 6-3 victory over Frank Whaley of Corpus Christi, Tex. Albert Shafer of Tarrytown, N. Y., captured the boys' crown with an uphill 5-7, 6-4, 6-4 triumph over Howe Atwater of Wilmette, Ill.

EVELYN MOORE TO DEFEND TITLE IN COUNTY FINAL

Wins from Miss Wright; Meets Mrs. Sick.

Mrs. Evelyn Moore of Navajo Fields will defend her title in the 26th annual Cook county Women's tournament today when she meets Mrs. Bernie Sick of Crystal Lawn, Joliet, in a 36 hole final in Jackson park.

Over rain-drenched fairways, Mrs. Moore defeated Miss Mildred Wright, lone Jackson park survivor, 5 and 4, while the wife of the Crystal Lawn professional ousted Miss Elaine Sorensen of Big Oaks by an identical margin in the semifinal matches yesterday.

Champion Shoots 40.

The champion won handily, touring the first nine in 40, while Miss Wright carded a 45. Faulty putting on the first three holes, where the Jackson park entrant three-putted, enabled Mrs. Moore to hold a four hole margin on the back nine. Mrs. Moore increased her lead, winning the 10th and 11th, where her opponent again used extra strokes on the green. Miss Wright's only victory was the 13th, where her tee shot reached the green. The match ended on the 14th, where the titlist sunk a 40 footer.

Mrs. Sick won the first by sinking a six footer for a par, but lost the second, where she used an extra putt. Mrs. Sick again took the lead on Miss Sorensen's shaky putting at the fourth and also won the next two holes. Mrs. Sick won the ninth when Miss Wright three-putted.

Mrs. Sick Has Trouble.

Miss Sorensen won her second hole at the 11th, where Mrs. Sick drove into the creek. The 12th went to Mrs. Sick. The match ended on the 14th when Miss Sorensen's tee shot landed a few inches from a tree. Summaries:

COLLEEN GAINS FINALS

South Bend, Ind., July 11 [Special].—Elleen Quinlan, the colleen from St. Paul, Minn., who thrilled spectators with rallies to conquer rivals on the first two days of match play of the Women's Western Golf association's junior tournament, shot her way into the championship match today with another great display of tournament nerves by disposing of Jeanne Cline of Bloomington, Ill., 1 up in 19 holes over rain-logged fairways at the South Bend Country club.

The happy-go-lucky Eileen, who shoots with a wide open stance, rolled away to a 1 up lead on the third hole and maintained that advantage as they made the turn home.

Miss Cline was down walking off the 12th green, but squared the match by taking the 13th and 15th holes, a great chip shot on the latter placing her eight feet from the pin, from where she holed out with one putt.

Dormie one at the 18th tee, Miss Quinlan squared the match with a par 5, as Miss Cline's brassie on her second shot brought trouble. A par 4 for the Irish lassie won her the match on the first extra hole, whereas Miss Cline overshot the green and took a 5.

Georgia Tainter of Fargo, N. D., will challenge Miss Quinlan in the 18th hole championship match tomorrow. The Dakota youngster ousted the last of the Hoosier threats today in conquering Mae Louise Davisson of Leesburg, Ind., 4 and 2.

GIRLS' SOFTBALL TEAMS BATTLE FOR FIRST PLACE

The Hydrox and Rivals will meet on Spencer Coals field in one of the Major Softball league contests scheduled tonight. A victory for the Rivals will place them in a tie with Hydrox for the lead. Catherine Castator for the Rivals and Marge Startz for Hydrox will be the pitchers.

The Mills girls, winners over Rockolas on Wednesday night, will play a return game with them at Harlem and North avenues, with Juanita Laberdee and Renée Sweet on the pitching mound. The Mills have won seven of their last eight league battles. In the other league game the Parichy Bloomer Girls will meet the Raabs at 60th street and Langley avenue. Southpaw Alice Reid will hurl for the Parichys, while Anne Ploetz will pitch for the Raabs. Last night's league games were called off because of wet grounds.

YANKEES CHECK BROWNS IN 9TH; TRIUMPH, 6 TO 4

Russo Yields 3 Hits, Then Slips in Last Inning.

New York, July 11 (AP).—The Yanks barely lasted to beat the St. Louis Browns, 6 to 4, today. They were ahead, 6 to 2, going into the ninth, largely thru the fine three hit hurling of Marius Russo and some heavy hitting by Red Rolfe. Then the Browns scored twice before Bump Hadley dashed in to rescue Russo.

INDIANS BEAT ATHLETICS.

Philadelphia, Pa., July 11 (AP).—Kenny Keltner's homer with two on in the seventh inning gave the Cleveland Indians an 8 to 5 victory over the Athletics today and put them into first place in the American league. The Indians pounded out 15 hits off Chubby Dean and Ed Heusser, including three homers by Keltner, Ben Chapman and Lou Boudreau. Three double plays stopped the A's at critical times. Score:

Cubs and Bees Break Even in Double Header

was suspended for 18 minutes because of a shower. Gleeson then beat out an infield single. Nicholson fouled to Moore, but Galan doubled off the right field wall, Gleeson stopping at third. Cavarretta was given an intentional pass, loading the bases, then Hartnett lined to Moore, Gleeson scoring. Mattick bounced to Miller. After Passeau had struck out in the sixth Hack walked. Herman was thrown out by Sisti, but Gleeson was hit by a pitched ball. Nicholson then drove his eleventh homer into Sheffield avenue, scoring behind Hack and Gleeson.

Cubs Get Two More.

The Cubs rounded out their total with two runs in the eighth. Passeau walked and stole second. Hack singled to right, Passeau stopping at third. A cut off play trapped Hack between second and first until Passeau diverted the throw by breaking for home. Passeau scored and Hack reached second before the Bees quit zigzagging the ball around. Herman dumped a single between Rowell and West, Hack reaching third, but when Herman tried to reach second as Rowell and West collided, he was out, Rowell to Miller. Gleeson walked, then Rowell fumbled Nicholson's grounder, Hack scoring. Galan and Cavarretta couldn't keep things rolling.

West singled to center with one down in the ninth. Rowell bounced to Cavarretta who hit West in the back in attempting to launch a double play, West reaching second and Rowell first. Miller popped to Herman for the second out, then Masi's grounder got thru Cavarretta, West scoring. Glossop batted for Strincevich and walked, loading the bases. Sisti singled to left, scoring Rowell. Cooney popped to Hack.

SECOND GAME

Sisti opened the Boston ninth with a single to left, the fourth hit off French. Cooney sacrificed, after which Moore lined a single to right, scoring Sisti. Moore took second on the throw to the plate and Ross was given an intentional pass. West popped to Mattick and Glossop fouled to Hack.

Gleeson popped to Miller at the start of the home ninth, but Nicholson lined a triple to right center and scored the tying run on Galan's double to left. Galan reached third while Glossop was throwing out Cavarretta. Todd grounded out to Miller.

Then It Happened.

Miller opened the tenth with a double off the left field wall and held second while Hack threw out Berres. Errickson beat out an infield roller, Miller reaching third. Sisti sent a long fly to Gleeson, Miller scoring. French tossed out Cooney.

Dallessandro batted for Mattick at the start of the Chicago tenth and walked. Rogell batted for French and sacrificed. Hack singled to left, Dallessandro stopping at third. Herman popped to Cooney in front of the plate and Gleeson flied to West.

Kennedy's hands. Peacock scored, Hash went to third and Carey to second on the blunder. Hash went home on Cramer's long fly but Rigney took excellent care of Foxx and Williams. He fanned the two guys.

Kuhel Gets a Home Run.

Dykes' lads could have put themselves in swell shape in the fourth if they had reversed the order of three hits. Kreevich led off with a tall pop handled by Carey at short. Kuhel made partial amends for his costly error by plunking that 13th homer into the seats close to the right field foul line. Solters also popped out, after which Wright and Appling hammered Hash for singles. The pair of hits went to waste when Tresh bounced to Doerr.

The White Sox sixth, the piecé de resistance of the afternoon's menu, started with Kuhel singling between Foxx and Doerr. Solters dented the tinware in left center with a two base drive and, from some mysterious source, Kuhel received a message that he had best hike for home. His none too agile legs didn't deliver him there until the throwin to Peacock had beaten him. So a possible rally was wrecked. Wright then grounded to Foxx, Appling walked and Tresh smacked a liner which Doerr had no trouble smothering.

The Sox wasted another hit in the 13th before Doerr came thru with his game wrecking home run. Wright led off in the Chicago half with a single but was out stealing. Foxx then robbed Appling of an extra-base hit with a swell stop of his hard grounder and threw to Dickman, who covered first. Tresh struck out.

IT'S KNOTT TODAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., July 11.—Jack Knott, who admits that his record of three victories and six defeats, doesn't make good reading, will take a hand tomorrow in the second of the White Sox series with the Red Sox. Boston will start Jack Wilson.

Joe Cronin, the Red Sox' manager shortstop, confined himself to the former half of his job today. After reading the second guesses on his leadership in the All-Star game in St. Louis last Tuesday and the American league standings, which show his pennant hopes have faded, fidgety Joe developed a headache.

When Manager Jim Dykes showed up this morning after a short visit at his home in Pennsylvania he had in tow his sons, Charles and Jim Jr., who put on uniforms and indulged in the pregame practice. Dykes also practiced for the first time in many weeks. He didn't want the children to discover pop is getting old.

Misses Jacobs, Bernhard in Middle States Semi-Final

Philadelphia, Pa., July 11 (AP).—Helen Jacobs and Helen Bernhard reached the semi-finals of the middle states women's tennis meet today. Miss Jacobs eliminated Madge Harshaw of Philadelphia, 6-2, 6-1, and Miss Bernhard defeated Nellie Sheer of Miami, Fla., 6-3, 10-8. Helen Pedersen of Stamford, Conn., and Hope Knowles, Philadelphia, also reached the round of four. Tomorrow Miss Jacobs meets Miss Pedersen while Miss Bernhard is pitted against Miss Knowles.

NORTH TEXANS BEAT SOUTH, 7-6; DEAN IS CHEERED

Fort Worth, Tex., July 11 (AP).—Hank Oana, the Hawaiian veteran, drilled a long double into right field in the 11th inning to give the North a 7 to 6 decision over the south in the 5th annual Texas league All-Star game tonight. Outfielder Dave Short, hit by Pitcher Hal Manders, streaked home from first with the winning run.

Dizzy Dean pitched one inning for the north, opening the game by dropping a 3-2 pitch down the middle that Chuck Stevens of San Antonio pounded into the right field screen for a double. Then Diz worked smoothly and cunningly to force the next two batters to roll out weakly and struck out old Nick Cullop. The crowd of 6,000 thundered out a cheer. Score:

South .....000 000 420 00—6 13 1

Olsen Slated to Pitch for Cubs Today

Manager Casey Stengel of the Bees hasn't made up his mind about the pitcher he will employ against the Cubs today but said it would be either Bill Posedel or Manuel Salvo. Vern Olsen, Cub lefty of tender years, will be sent forth by Manager Gabby Hartnett.

Manager Hartnett went behind the plate in the first game, his seventh start of the season. He intimated there would be more of the same and was none too shy about giving reasons. Far be it from us to hurt the feelings of anybody, however.

When Eddie Miller threw out Hartnett to leave three on base in the first inning of the first game, the stranded trio lifted the Cubs' left on base total for the season to 564.

Max West, hero of the All-Star game, got a good hand when he appeared at the plate the first time. His response, a double to left, substantiated his assertion that he has recovered from the injuries he suffered in the All-Star game shortly after his three run homer in the first inning. When he was tagged out at the plate after his double yesterday it was feared he had been hurt again, but he soon jumped up and trotted to center field.

Three Teams Tie for Low in Pater-Filius

The teams of E. V. and E. V. Anderson Jr., of Kildeer; William and Warren Stuart of Beverly; and J. B. and Tom Creevy, Midlothian, excelled the field of 83 twosomes to finish in a three-way tie in the 37th annual Pater-Filius invitational golf tournament yesterday at Midlothian Country club.

Playing alternate balls at 18 holes, the Andersons and the Stuarts had identical rounds of 85-14-71, while the Creevys, having an edge in the handicap, shot 89-18-71. The teams each received a plaque and will share possession of the Pater-Filius trophy for a month each during the rest of the season.

Four combinations tied for second place with low nets of 72. The teams included Goodwin and Goodwin Clark Jr. of Hinsdale, 77-5-72; J. J. and J. D. Rutherford of Midlothian, 86-14-72; W. E. and Ted Kistner of Midlothian, 89-17-72; and W. S. and W. S. Spieth Jr. of Flossmoor, 102-30-72.

The tournament, which was originated in 1904, drew teams from Freeport, Decatur, Rockford, and Kankakee.

The event limited to professionals and their sons, was won by Maurie and Maurie White Jr. of LaGrange, with a net round of 78-6-72. The home pro, Jack Patterson, and his son, Ian, won the low gross award for the pros with 41-42-83.

Leading scores follow:

E. V. and E. V. Anderson Jr., Kildeer, 85—14—71; William and Warren Stuart, Beverly, 85—14—71; J. B. and Tom Creevy, Midlothian, 89—18—71; Goodwin and Goodwin Clark Jr., Hinsdale, 77—5—72; Maurie and Maurie White Jr., La Grange, 78—6—72; J. J. and J. D. Rutherford, Midlothian, 86—14—72; W. OIL PRODUCTION RECORDS AGAIN BROKEN IN STATE

ine Output Tops May by Million Barrels.

Illinois wells produced 14,652,000 barrels of oil last month, setting a new record more than a million barrels above the May level, the state geological survey reported yesterday. Value of the production exceeded 15 million dollars.

The daily record was also broken during the last week of June, when production reached 518,224 barrels. June's daily average was 488,000 barrels. The posted price is $1.05 a barrel.

Six Months' Output Soars.

The geological survey estimated that 77,916,000 barrels were produced in the state during the first six months of 1940, compared with 94,302,000 barrels for all of 1939 and 24,075,000 for 1938. The half year's output was equal to 11.4 per cent of total United States production.

During June 338 successful wells were drilled, bringing to 6,653 the number producing oil and gas in the Illinois basin fields, the survey reported.

New Pools Opened.

New pools were opened near Irvington in Washington county and Maud in Wabash county, raising to 64 the number of new pools now in operation in the Illinois basin.

On July 1 new drilling operations in progress numbered 484 and 52 new locations had been announced.

Illinois wells are now producing 62 per cent of the crude oil transported to refineries in Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Michigan, Ohio, New York, Pennsylvania, and West Virginia, according to the report.

MEAD REVEALS PLANS OF RAPID PLANE BUYING

Contracts for 25,000 Being Prepared.

BY JOHN FISHER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 11.—Contracts are under preparation for quick placement of orders for 25,000 army and navy airplanes for delivery within two years, Dr. George J. Mead of the national defense advisory commission staff disclosed today.

Dr. George J. Mead.

Mead, who is aviation engine expert for the commission, also said that orders totaling 100 million dollars have been placed for military planes and equipment since July 1.

This purchasing program was undertaken with a goal of 50,000 military planes and an annual production capacity of 50,000. The President's latest request for 15,000 army planes and 4,000 navy planes are included in the 25,000 mentioned above.

Aim to Slash Red Tape.

Red tape will be slashed to handle the program with record speed, Mead said. This was decided at conferences among representatives of the army, navy, the defense commission, and private industry. All of these groups, he asserted, are coöperating to develop standardized equipment of "proven value" to assure the latest types of equipment.

"We now have a balanced aircraft program in comparison with other aspects of our national defense such as tanks, guns, equipment and other materials," Mead said.

He added that a program for financing plant expansion of aviation companies is being worked out between William S. Knudsen, member of the commission, and Federal Loan Administrator Jesse Jones. While not disclosing details of the financing plan, Mead said that "a program of this size will require facilities in excess of normal requirements."

Plan Research Laboratory.

Mead also pointed out that the national advisory committee for aeronautics has just received $8,400,000 thru presidential order to build an engine research laboratory. Chicago has been making an active bid for the laboratory because of its excellent strategic location and fine facilities for research and manufacturing.

Experimentation will continue during the plane building program but only standard proved types of planes and engines will be bought now. It is believed that the new laboratory will devote considerable time to Diesel engines, which are reported to have been used successfully by the Germans.

It was announced yesterday after a White House tax conference that national defense industries will be allowed to write off the costs of expansion for defense purposes within a period of 5 years, as compared with 7 to 10 years or more under existing tax laws. During the world war the amortization period was three years.

Will End Profit Limiting.

Provisions for adjustment of the tax allowances at the end of that period if plants were found to have a useful value wound up in a tangle of litigation, and it is now hoped in many quarters that a hard rule will be laid down against reopening of the tax cases. The new excess profits bill will also repeal the profit limitations imposed on military aviation and naval contracts, as contained in the Vinson-Trammel act.

Mead said that aircraft manufacturers have been asked to requote prices to the army and navy on the basis of the mass production contemplated in the program. Producers also have been requested to inform the government as to what additional plant facilities will be needed to handle the increasing orders and to estimate delivery dates.

Stephen T. Early, presidential secretary, said today that Knudsen had given assurances at yesterdays tax conference that the agreement reached then "would help to facilitate and expedite many contracts with industrial companies which had been reluctant to sign up because of tax problems."

May Use 700 Millions More.

Financial quarters estimate that upward of 700 million dollars will be spent on industrial expansion in addition to the funds already appropriated by congress. Such expansion would be financed by both government and private capital. The Reconstruction Finance corporation was recently given vast powers for financing defense industries or even building and operating factories if necessary. Two government corporations have been created already for acquisition of rubber, tin, manganese, and other strategic war materials.

As to the negotiations with the Packard Motor company for the manufacture of 9,000 Rolls-Royce motors, Early declined to say whether the agreement on tax policy will lead to closing of the contract. The matter is one for Knudsen to decide, Early asserted. Negotiations with the Packard company bogged down when directors of the company refused to approve the agreement without further consultations with the defense commission.

City Is Center of Interest for Factory Sites

Manufacturers in the middlewest are showing an increasing interest in Chicago as the location for factory sites, inquiry disclosed yesterday.

Clearing Industrial District, Inc., reported that inquiries are being received in larger number than a year ago, and the Chicago Association of Commerce said it is pushing ahead with contacts in its drive to bring new industries to the city.

H. P. Phelps, executive vice president and general manager of the Clearing district, said the district is proceeding with improvements on its last large tract in Clearing.

Tract Opened Last Week.

The tract, consisting of 2 acres in Stickney township, was opened last week. Improvements being made include pavement, sewers, sidewalks, and landscaping.

Phelps said that in the Montrose Manufacturing district which the Clearing organization is sponsoring at the southeast corner of Kilpatrick and Montrose avenues, construction is nearing completion on one factory. It is the plant of G-M Laboratories, Inc., electrical apparatus manufacturer.

Many Improvements Made.

In the last few months three factories have been turned over to new industries in the Clearing district, and three plants already in the area have made additions and improvements, Phelps said.

According to latest data made available by the association of commerce, seven new industries have located in the Chicago area this year. In addition, established companies have made numerous additions and improvements. The association estimated that expenditures by new and old industries totaled $29,725,000 in the first six months of 1940.

LAKE SHORE CLUB OBTAINS 15 YEAR BUILDING LEASE

The Lake Shore Athletic club building, at Lake Shore drive and Chestnut street, has been leased by the 850 Lake Shore corporation to the Lake Shore Club of Chicago for fifteen years, according to records filed yesterday with the county recorder. The annual rental is $150,000 or $2,250,000 for the term. The lessee has an option to buy the property before June 30, 1945 for $1,500,000, at $2,000,000 if bought prior to 1950, and for $2,500,000 prior to 1955.

The lease is a step in a reorganizaton program. The club was built in 1926 and financed with a $3,000,000 bond issue. Default was followed by 77B proceedings The members and officers of the Lake Shore Club of Chicago are the same as the old Lake Shore Athletic club, according to John S. Miller, attorney for the bondholders.

Close Subscription Books on New Treasury Issue

Washington, D. C., July 11 [Special].—Subscription books on the $600,000,000 of 2¼ per cent treasury bonds of 1954-'56 were closed at the end of the business day today, Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. announced tonight. The only exceptions were subscriptions of $5,000 or less specifying that delivery be made in registered bonds 90 days after the issue date. Such subscriptions will close at the end of the business day Saturday.

NATIONAL TEA EARNS PROFIT IN CONTRAST WITH LOSS LAST YEAR

National Tea company, chain food store organization with headquarters in Chicago and operating principally in the middle west, announced yesterday it had net income for the 24 weeks ended June 15 of $182,845 in contrast with a net loss of $355,003 during the corresponding 1939 period.

The Indianapolis Power and Light company and its subsidiaries reported net income of $2,380,228 after all charges in the 12 months ended May 31. This compared with $2,349,714 in the preceding 12 months.

ADJOURN PARLEY ON ALUMINUM WAGE DEMANDS

Pittsburgh, Pa., July 11 (AP).—A conference between the Aluminum Company of America and the C. I. O. aluminum workers' union on demands for increased pay was adjourned tonight until 2:30 p. m., tomorrow. "No comment," was the only response of spokesmen to inquiries on progress during the four hour conference.

J. A. Addicks, federal labor conciliator, attended the meeting in an effort to prevent a tieup of the aluminum industry that would seriously hamper the nation in its race to rearm. Aluminum is vital to the airplane industry.

The union is demanding a flat 10 cents an hour increase in wages for approximately 15,000 employés in plants at Edgewater, N. J.; Detroit, Badin, N. C.; New Kensington, Pa., and Alcoa, Tenn. The company has agreed to change work classifications to provide some increases but refuses a general boost.

A strike—already voted by the New Kensington and Edgewater locals—would reduce the company's production almost 50 per cent. Ten other plants are not involved in the negotiations.

STOCKYARDS CO. UNIT VOTES TO BE LIQUIDATED

Directors of the Chicago Junction Railways and Union Stockyards company, an intermediate holding unit controled by the Chicago Stockyards company, voted yesterday in New York to liquidate the company. The unit's 50 year charter expired yesterday.

Outstanding obligations of the company, which controled railroad and stockyard facilities in Chicago, will be paid. There are 65,000 shares of $6 preferred stock and 65,000 shares of common, largely held by the Chicago Stockyards company.

Directors said no immediate change in the property setup was involved because the company has three years to complete the liquidation.

Two Chicagoans on Board of National Union Radio

Two Chicagoans, Edward P. Brooks, vice president in charge of factories for Sears, Roebuck & Co., and Paul V. Galvin, president of the Galvin Manufacturing corporation, yesterday accepted membership of the board of the National Union Radio corporation. Early this week its was announced that Philco Radio and Television corporation has acquired a "substantial" interest in National Union, preliminary to an expansion program for the latter.

Central Life Acquires Big Detroit Firm

The Central Life Insurance company of Illinois has acquired the business of the Life Insurance company of Detroit for approximately one-half million dollars, Alfred MacArthur, president of Central Life, announced yesterday.

Central Life has reinsured policyholders of the Detroit company in the amount of about 26 million dollars and has taken over the company's assets of 8 million dollars.

The acquisition increases Central Life's assets to 22 million dollars and its total insurance in force to 88 million dollars. The gain in admitted assets would lift the company from 94th place among life insurance firms ranked according to resources to about 70th place. The Detroit company ranked 117th.

Approved by State Bodies.

Policyholders of the Life Insurance company of Detroit will receive certificates of assumption from Central Life and will be insured as before, MacArthur said. The purchase of the business and the assumption of the outstanding insurance by Central Life has been approved by the Illinois and Michigan state insurance commissioners.

The outstanding 4,000 shares of $50 par value of the Detroit company were retired, MacArthur said. The company had operated since 1936.

MacArthur said a branch of Central Life will be maintained in Detroit but that financial and agency work will be supervised from Chicago.

Interests associated with Central Life had purchased all the stock of the Detroit company in April and had elected a new board of directors and officers. Lester L. Johnson, agency director of Central Life, was elected president of the Detroit company.

Incorporated in 1907.

The legal process of reinsuring the policies of the Detroit company consumed several months and was completed yesterday but the certificates of assumption will be dated June 18 to indicate when Central Life officially took over the business.

Central Life was incorporated in Illinois in 1907 with capital of $200,000. In 1932 the company reinsured the business of the Security Life of America and in 1938 the business of the Rural Bankers Life Insurance company, Dixon, Ill.

Central Life operates in Illinois, California, Indiana, Kansas, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota, Ohio and Texas.

DIRECT SERVICE BY RADIO-PHONE TO BERLIN O. K.'D

Direct radio-telephone service between the United States and Berlin, Germany; Berne, Switzerland, and Rome, Italy, was authorized yesterday by the Federal Communications commission.

American Telephone and Telegraph company, which secured the authorization, advised the FCC that the new circuits would be ready this week. Messages previously have been routed thru Paris.

The FCC waived its rules requiring 30 days publication of tariffs to permit the service to be started at once.

FIRST CONSOLIDATION ORDER IS GRANTED WITHOUT SEC HEARING

Washington, D. C., July 11 [Special].—The Securities and Exchange commission today exercised the retroactive feature of its new rule U-8 to permit the Southeastern Electric and Gas company to effect a consolidation without a hearing.

The new rule is expected to eliminate about 75 per cent of the hearings formerly held under the holding company act. The commission, however, will call hearings when they are considered necessary.

The SEC move was at the request of the company, which filed an application last week for authority to consolidate with the Southeastern Investing corporation. The two companies will either merge or Southeastern Investing will be liquidated thru cancelation of its stock and payment of its debts to the parent company.

GOLD IMPORTS IN JUNE REACH ALL-TIME PEAK

Receipts Top Billion Dollar Mark.

Importations of gold into the United States in June, totaling $1,162,975,000, set an all time record and more than doubled the total for any other month in history, the department of commerce reported yesterday.

United States monetary stocks continued to expand in the week ended July 10, rising $103,000,000 to a new record of $20,166,000,000, the federal reserve board's report disclosed. The gold stock has increased more than $100,000,000 in each of the last six weeks.

Efforts of France to get its gold out of reach of the German invaders accounted for a large part of the shipments to America, the department of commerce said. Great Britain was another large shipper, sending large amounts to pay for purchase of war materials in this country.

France Sends 241 Millions.

Large June shipments included $241,603,301 from France, carried on the United States cruiser Vincennes; $716,696,531 from Canada, including some French gold shipped across the Atlantic to Canada before France surrendered; $128,003,260 from the United Kingdom; $23,008,104 from South Africa; $6,602,907 from Australia; $3,399,167 from Japan; $2,377,262 from India; $2,129,821 from Colombia; $4,181,542 from Mexico; $13,673,491 from Jugo-Slavia; $4,377,000 from Spain, and $3,671,295 from the Netherlands.

The June total accounted for nearly half of the $2,745,598,000 of gold imports for the first half of 1940. In the first six months of 1939, the total was $2,020,642,000.

The department also said earmarked gold in foreign deposits at the federal reserve banks increased $437,234,000 in June to a total of $1,706,187,000. The rest of the incoming gold was sold to the United States treasury.

Export Gold to Bolivia.

Silver imports amounted to $4,673,243 in June, about the usual monthly amount, and included $1,713,380 from Mexico, $855,011 from Canada, $618,334 from Peru, and $729,809 from Japan.

Exports included $1,249,411 of gold, nearly all of which went to Bolivia, and $884,326 of silver.

Dispatches from London said that mines in the Union of South Africa produced about $241,500,000 of gold for Great Britain in the first six months of 1940, with production running at the highest level in history.

Preliminary estimates set the output at 6,901,000 fine ounces, compared with 6,258,000, valued at $219,030,000, in the corresponding period last year. The Rand mines produced 1,158,006 fine ounces in June, compared with $1,064,284 in the 1939 month.

RECEIVER SEEKS SUPREME COURT BAIN BANK RULING

Charles H. Albers, as receiver for 10 Chicago banks of the Bain chain, yesterday carried to the Illinois Supreme court litigation in which he seeks to recover about $250,000 obtained by the Chicago park district thru the sale of bank securities pledged to protect deposits of park funds.

The Cook County Superior court dismissed Albers' suits against the park district and the First National bank of Chicago on the ground that the litigation was barred by the statute of limitations [time element]. The Appellate court upheld this decision.

Albers' motion filed yesterday asked permission to file a petition for appeal at the court's October term. The banks in whose behalf Albers seeks to appeal are the West Englewood Trust and Savings, Armitage State, West Highland State, West Town Trust and Savings, Bryn Mawr State, Chicago Lawn State, Brainerd State, Auburn Park Trust and Savings, Chatham State, and Ridge State.

PRESIDENT PICKS 3 TO STUDY RAIL EXPRESS DISPUTE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 11.—A three member emergency board to investigate the labor dispute between the Railway Express Agency, Inc., and the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, Freight Handlers, Express and Station Employés was appointed today by President Roosevelt.

Mr. Roosevelt yesterday invoked his powers under the railway labor act to postpone for at least 60 days a strike of 30,000 express agency employés, called for 5 a. m. Friday, in their campaign for a 44 hour week.

The board members, who will investigate and report back to the President within 30 days, are Henry A. Millis, professor of economics and sociology at the University of Chicago; Dexter M. Keezer, president of Reed college, Portland, Ore., and John P. Devaney, former chief justice of the Minnesota Supreme court.

Pound Drops 7½ Cents to $3.66½ in New York

A 7½ cent drop left the British pound sterling at $3.66½ cents at New York yesterday. Money dealers said extremely light trading accounted for the wide price movement. The Canadian dollar rose ⅛ cent to 85.62½ cents in United States money.

SEC Suspends Chicago Land Firm's Stock

The Securities and Exchange commission yesterday suspended the registration of 35,000 shares of common stock of Resources Corporation International, a Chicago enterprise organized several years ago to take over timber properties in Mexico.

In its opinion, the commission said that it had found "with respect to many of the items in the registration statement, a wanton disregard for truth and accuracy." It also criticized Arthur Andersen & Co., accounting firm which prepared the financial report filed with the registration statement, for failing "in the performance of their duties."

Hearings Started in 1938.

Hearings on the application of the company to make a public offering of 35,000 shares extended over several months in 1938. Disclosing the strange financial structure of a Mexican timber lands promotion, it was punctuated several times by court skirmishes as the company vainly sought to withdraw its registration statement and stop the inquiry.

"Most of the deficiencies charged in the registration statement," the SEC said in its lengthy opinion yesterday, "are alleged to arise from the failure to make accurate and complete disclosure of:

"1. The huge personal profits accruing to Harper S. Hoover, the principal promoter of R. C. I., in the acquisition by R. C. I. of the timber properties now constituting substantially all of its assets.

Charges "Income" Faking.

"2. The misrepresentation made to R. C. I. by Hoover to induce the purchase of the timber property for $9,000,000.

"3. The fact that practically the entire income of R. C. I., which is represented to have been derived from contracts for the cutting of its timber, had its source in Hoover, who supplied substantially all of the cash paid over to R. C. I. by contractors for the specific purpose of creating 'income' for R. C. I. to enable it to pay 'dividends' and 'distributions' and thus give it an appearance of earning power.

"4. The use of R. C. I. and the direction of its activities by Hoover for the primary purpose of facilitating the distribution of his personal holding of R. C. I. stock."

Criticizes Auditors' Work.

Commenting on the report filed by Arthur Andersen, the SEC said in part:

"The auditors failed in two respects in the performance of their duties. In the first place, it appears that they were aware of certain additional material facts concerning Hoover's relationship to R. C. I. which were not disclosed.

"Secondly, they failed to make as extensive an examination as, in our opinion, is required under the circumstances of this case.

"When auditors, in the course of an examination, gain knowledge of facts which are of material importance to investors, they are under a duty to report such facts to investors. If these facts are not set forth in the balance sheet, the accountants' report is an appropriate medium for conveying the information to investors."

Attacks Secret Profits.

Concerning the profits made by Hoover, who was chairman of the board of the corporation, the opinion of the SEC stated:

"H. S. Hoover received $1,206,731 in cash and property and $6,309,470 in stock—an aggregate of $7,516,201 in profits—which were never disclosed to the syndicate subscribers, R. C. I. stockholders or directors, other than the insiders."

Hoover and three others in their testimony for the registrant, the SEC report said, attempted to justify these practices and profits of Hoover by an explanation as "unconscionable as the profits."

FEDERAL MARINE INSURANCE BILL UP TO PRESIDENT

Washington, D. C., July 11 (AP).—The house, accepting minor senate amendments, completed congressional action today on a $40,000,000 appropriation to finance a government-underwritten system of marine war-risk insurance. The measure now goes to the White House.

In its final form it provides the money for a revolving fund which would enable the maritime commission to administer a system of marine war risk insurance and re-insurance.

The system would operate only in event that private insurance proved inadequate. Proponents said it was designed to insure the movement of American water-borne commerce regardless of what happens to the British Marine insurance business, which underwrites a large volume of this country's marine insurance.

Hike War Risk Insurance Rates to Peak for War

New York, July 11 (AP).—War risk insurance on shipments to the United Kingdom have been advanced from 7½ to 10 per cent of cargo value, the highest rate since outbreak of the war, it was announced today. Action of local underwriters followed a similar move in London yesterday when rates were hiked a corresponding amount on all shipments from the United Kingdom to North, Central, and South American destinations.

Chile Plans Rubber Firm; General Tire to Invest

SANTIAGO, Chile, July 11 (AP).—The Chilean Development corporation, a government concern, announced today it had agreed to participate in organization of a company to make automobile tires here. The General Tire and Rubber Company of Akron, O., will have an interest in the concern, and stock also will be sold to the Chilean public. The company will have a capital of 18 million pesos [about $3,850,000].

SUIT TO DIVORCE PULLMAN COMPANIES STARTS TODAY

PULLMAN UNITS COMBINE A VAST RAILWAY EMPIRE

Pullman Inc., which stands at the top of the vast Pullman organization, is a holding company incorporated in Delaware in 1927. Thru ownership of the stock of its subsidiary Pullman company and Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing company, it is engaged in the operation of sleeping cars and chair cars and the manufacture of passenger and freight cars. In each of these operations Pullman is the largest in the world.

David A. Crawford, president of vast Pullman organization

In addition, Pullman, Inc., controls an industrial railroad serving Pullman-Standard shops, a real estate association and an employés' home building organization, the Pullman Trust & Savings bank, a car manufacturing company in Alabama, one in France and another in Brazil.

Business Begun in 1867.

The Pullman company was incorporated in Illinois in 1867 as Pullman's Palace Car company. It operates sleeping, parlor and private cars on railroads in the United States, Canada and Mexico.

Pullman-Standard was incorporated in 1934 in Delaware to consolidate practically all of the manufacturing activities, including subway trains, street cars, and trolley buses. Manufacturing plants in Chicago, Baltimore, Md.; Hammond and Michigan City, Ind.; St. Paul, Minn.; New Orleans, La., and other cities.

Earnings of Pullman, Inc., have varied widely in the last few years, ranging from the net income of $12,276,000 of 1937 to the $273,000 loss of 1935. Peak earnings were $17,678,000 in 1929. The company suffered its heaviest loss of $3,834,000 in 1932. Net income in 1939 was $4,009,000, nearly double that of 1938.

David A. Crawford of Chicago is president of the parent company and the Pullman company. The personnel of the boards of directors of the two companies is almost identical.

Include Morgan Officers.

Included among the directors are J. P. Morgan and George Whitney, officers of J. P. Morgan & Co.; and Sewell L. Avery, chairman of Montgomery Ward & Co., who has been close to the Morgan interests.

Alfred P. Sloan Jr., chairman of General Motors corporation, is on the board. Donald R. McLennan, another director, is head of the Chicago insurance firm of Marsh & McLennan and is a director of several other large corporations. Richard K. Mellon of Pittsburgh, who also sits on the Pullman board, is a director of the Pennsylvania railroad, the Westinghouse Air Brake company, and the Aluminum Company of America.

The majority of sleeping cars on the railroads of the United States are operated by Pullman, altho in recent years the Santa Fe and Burlington roads have purchased streamlined sleepers fror the Edward G. Budd Manufacturing company, Pullman's chief competitor. The Milwaukee road also manufactures some of its own sleepers.

Leases Sleeping Cars.

Pullman sells passenger and freight cars to the railroads, leasing its sleeping cars to the carriers. The annual manufacturing capacity of Pullman-Standard is 74,700 freight cars, 2,370 passenger cars, 287,500 car wheels, and 49,000 tons of forgings.

The Pullman organization has been active in recent years in the development of lightweight, streamlined passenger and freight cars. Budd, whose manufacturing operations center in Philadelphia, made the sleeping car equipment for some of the first streamline trains.

Pullman officals withheld comment last night on the government's action. Crawford was en route by train to Chicago from Washington. Other officials said that the company would probably make a statement after its attorneys had an opportunity to examine the government's complaint.

Monopoly Charged by Government in Civil Action.

Washington, D. C., July 11 (AP).—The department of justice announced tonight that it would file in Philadelphia federal District court tomorrow a civil action against the Pullman companies and 31 individuals, including outstanding financial leaders, in an effort to divorce control of sleeping car manufacture from operation of the equipment.

Among those whom the department said would be named are J. Pierpont Morgan, Richard K. Mellon, Sewell L. Avery, Alfred P. Sloan Jr., Harold S. Vanderbilt, George Whitney, C. W. Seabury, and H. S. Morgan, all directors of one or more of the companies.

The complaint will charge, the department said in a statement, that the Pullman companies "have refused to operate modern lightweight railroad equipment purchased by the railroads from any manufacturer other than the Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing company, and have threatened to withdraw the existing sleeping car service and operations if railroads should buy and operate themselves any cars made by other manufacturers."

Terms Rates Unreasonable.

The statement said further that the complaint would allege that the Pullman organization thru its alleged operating monopoly "charges the public artificial and unreasonably high prices for Pullman accommodations, and exacts noncompetitive and onerous terms from railroads for the sleeping car service which it provides."

J. P. Morgan, Alfred P. Sloan Jr., and Sewell L. Avery (left to right), are among Pullman directors to be named in government suit.

The department said the Pullman company owned approximately 6,000 sleeping cars, many of which are more than 20 years old, and in "an endeavor to protect these obsolete cars from the competition of new types of rolling stock, forced the railroads to use existing equipment and prevented them from operating lightweight, streamlined sleeping cars."

As a consequence, it was alleged, "the production of modern railroad equipment by independent manufacturers and its use by the railroads have been hamstrung."

List Other Defendants.

Corporate defendants to be named were listed as the Pullman company, the sleeping car operating unit; Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing company, the manufacturing unit; Pullman, Inc., a holding company which owns the first two, and Pullman Car and Manufacturing Corporation of Alabama.

These officers of one or more of the companies will be named: David A. Crawford, E. Eugene Adams, Louis S. Taylor, George A. Kelly, Lowell M. Greenlaw, Charles A. Liddle, Ellis W. Test, Wallace N. Barker, H. H. Gilbert, H. M. Dudley, J. A. Knowlton, and William J. Peters.

Additional directors to be named were listed as James F. Bell, William Bierman, Arthur O. Choate, J. Frank Drake, R. S. Euler, R. L. Gordon, P. G. Jenks, Donald R. McLennan, John R. Morron, Alan M. Scaife, and Henry S. Sturgis.

Began Two Months Ago.

It was disclosed more than two months ago that the department's antitrust division was studying the Pullman company. The department said today that it was proceeding "by civil action rather than by criminal action because the contracts between the Pullman organization and the railroads which contain provisions alleged to be in restraint of trade have been publicly recorded for many years with the Interstate Commerce commission. Hence it would seem more appropriate to institute civil proceedings, since the government has been on notice for so long of the existence of these contracts."

New York Stocks.

New York, July 11 (AP).—Steel and aircraft shares started an early rally in today's stock market but failed to follow thru.

Gains in the first hour, when activity was the best of the session, ran to 2 or more points for favorites. These were reduced to minor amounts in most cases at the close, and small losses were fairly well distributed.

The Associated Press average of 60 issues was unchanged at 41.2 for the third successive day. Transactions involved 328,330 shares compared with 282,140 yesterday.

The attempt at recovery was attributed mainly to word from Washington the administration would push defense spending rapidly, spread excess profits taxes to all lines and not just armaments makers, and permit munitions manufacturers to write off expansion costs over a 5-year period. In addition, a move was reported to repeal profits limitations imposed on government aircraft and ship-building contracts.

Business news was moderately encouraging, with steel operations maintaining a high rate, motor sales holding well, and building construction outstripping that of last year by a large percentage. Rails, motors, utilities, coppers and oils, however, never got out of a narrow trail.

Douglas Aircraft was up 2¼ at the finish. Lesser advances were retained by United States Steel, United Aircraft, Glenn Martin, Lockheed, New York Building, J. C. Penney, American Telephone, and Celanese.

American Airlines lost 2½ and Allied Chemical and American Can 1 each. Smaller declines were recorded for General Motors, Chrysler, Kennecott, United States Rubber, Standard Oil of New Jersey, and Consolidated Edison.

New York Bonds.

New York, July 11 (AP).—Railroad issues again monopolized attention in the bond market today, advancing in some cases as much as 3 points while the general corporate list muddled along with indifferent results.

Brokers said there was a fair amount of investment buying in the rails as well as the ordinary run of speculative activity that usually turns up in this group when there is little activity in stocks.

Best prices of the day in most cases were reached in the final hour.

Most foreign dollar bonds were uneven.

United States governments were up 1-32 to 10-32 of a point in light turnover.

Chicago Stocks.

Prices pointed upward yesterday on the Chicago Stock exchange, and one issue, Adams Oil and Gas, reached a new 1940 high price on a gain of ¼ point. The issue closed at its peak, 4½. Trading volume on the exchange shrank to 10,000 shares, compared with 12,000 on Wednesday.

The exchange announced that June transactions totaled $9,686,572, compared with $22,747,020 in May, 1940, and with $11,430,511 in June, 1939.

Arrangements were completed for sale of a membership in the exchange at $1,500, unchanged from the last preceding sale.

Bank Stocks.

Harris Trust shares advanced 2 points and City National and First National gained a point each yesterday in Chicago bank stock trading. American National declined 4 points, Northern Trust lost 2 points, Chicago Title a point and Continental Illinois eased a quarter of a point.

SEEK BIDS TODAY ON BIG HAMMOND HOUSING PROJECT

400 Home Units Planned to Cost $1,600,000.

BY AL CHASE.

Bids will be asked today on a 400 unit federal housing project in Hammond, Ind., to cost about $1,600,000 for land and buildings. It will be built and operated by the Hammond Housing authority, of which William J. Harrigan is chairman. Ninety per cent of the cost will be advanced by the United States Housing authority, as a loan. The balance will be paid by the Hammond Housing authority thru a bond issue.

This will be the fourth big federally sponsored housing project announced within the last few months for the Calumet steel area. The projects will provide accommodations for 1,200 families and cost a total of $4,600,000. The other three, located in Gary, will have 800 living units.

Housing Shortage Acute.

According to Marshall Smith, executive secretary of the Hammond Housing authority, the housing situation in the Calumet steel area is acute. The latest postoffice records, he said, show there are only 40 vacant homes in Hammond and only 26 in Whiting. A similar scarcity exists in East Chicago and Gary, he said.

Map locates site of new housing project in Hammond, Ind.

None of the four housing projects comes under the recent program of the USHA to build homes near factories which are to be active in supplying national defense products. All of the four have been under consideration for several months.

The new Hammond project will be known as Columbia Center. It will be bounded by 173d and 175th streets, and by Columbia and Chestnut avenues. Options have been secured on all of the needed land, which will cost about $85,000.

Acquire Needed Land.

Fifteen acres are to be acquired from the South Town syndicate, 20 acres from Albert Ratzloff, and 5 acres from Paul Ritter.

According to Kastendieck & Hall, Gary architects who designed the Hammond project in association with Kenneth Vaughan of Hammond, the 400 home units will be built as row houses and duplexes, with three, four, five, and six rooms. There will be no apartments.

Secretary Smith of the HHA said a figure of $2.50 per room per month for shelter rent [without utility services]—is being aimed at. That means that a four room house would rent for $10 a month plus an estimated $7 for light, gas, heat, and water, or a total of $17. A five room house would rent for $19.50.

Completed Next Summer.

Completion is expected some time next summer.

The three Gary housing projects will cost a total of about $3,000,000. Work is under way on a $1,000,000 group for 305 Negro families. Bids will be advertised for the other two projects on July 19. They will accommodate 495 families and will cost a total of about $2,000,000.

FREIGHT TRAFFIC DIPS AS HOLIDAY SLOWS BUSINESS

Loadings of revenue freight declined to 636,901 cars last week, the Association of American Railroads reported yesterday. Closing of many manufacturing plants from Wednesday thru the week-end to extend the July 4 holiday made the drop more than seasonal.

Loadings had shown more than a seasonal gain in each of the preceding four weeks, reaching a peak of 752,326 cars in the week ended June 29, the best week so far this year. Volume continued well above the corresponding period last year, however, increasing 81,749 cars, or 13.7 per cent. The decline of 115,425 cars, or 15.3 per cent from the preceeding week reflected a decrease in shipment of all commodities except grain.

Loadings of the various commodities compare as follows:

	Week ended July 6.	Preceding Week.	Year ago.
Misc Freight	248,760	—60,637	+34,107

700 HORSES FRENCH ARMY BOUGHT TO BE AUCTIONED JULY 23

More than 700 head of artillery and cavalry horses and mares, bought by the French purchasing commission and held in Chicago because of a lack of ocean shipping space, will be sold at public auction in the Union Stockyards on July 23 and 24, Harry McNair, local dealer, will be in charge of the auction.

McNair said the horses were selected by French officers. Included are 500 artillery horses five to ten years old, ranging from 1,200 to 1,600 pounds. They are broken to harness and suitable for farm work, he said. The cavalry horses range from 1,050 to 1,200 pounds and are between five and ten years old.

CONGRESS VOTES NEW BOULDER DAM FINANCING

Overrides Objection by New Mexico.

Washington, D. C., July 11 (AP).—legislation revising the fiscal operation of the $115,000,000 Boulder dam project was sent to the White House today by congress.

Senator Chaves objects to proposal.

Adoption, over the objection of New Mexico's two senators, of a joint house-senate conference committee report completed congressional action on the measure. It was the result of two years of conferences and negotiation in which representatives of the seven Colorado river basin states participated.

President Roosevelt's approval of the bill was predicted by Senator Key Pittman [D., Nev..].

Predicts Lower Power Rates.

The complicated proposal would completely readjust the fiscal setup of the Boulder undertaking in line with newer developments such as the Bonneville dam on the Columbia river.

"Final enactment of this legislation," Pittman said, "will mean lower power rates for consumers in southern California, Arizona and Nevada, and assure absolutely the repayment of the government's investment in the project at the end of 50 years.

Among other things, the bill would reduce the interest charge on government advances from 4 to 3 per cent and defer repayment, until after 1987, of a $25,000,000 flood control allocation on which interest would be waived entirely.

Battle Over Allocations.

In addition, operation of the power plant would be taken over by the reclamation bureau from private and public power contractors; Arizona and Nevada would each receive $300,000 annually for 50 years out of power revenues, and $500,000 would be paid yearly for the same period into a Colorado river development fund.

Action of the conference committee in stripping from the bill senate amendments affecting distribution of this latter sum delayed final senate approval for more than two hours today because of objections voiced by Senators Dennis Cravez and Carl A. Hatch, both Democrats of New Mexico.

FOLSOM ACCEPTS FEDERAL TEXTILE PURCHASING POST

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 11.—Frank M. Folsom, executive vice president of Goldblatt Brothers, Inc., Chicago, has accepted appointment as coördinator of textile purchases under the national defense program, it was learned today.

Folsom will assist another Chicagoan, Donald M. Nelson, on leave as executive vice president of Sears, Roebuck & Co., who is coördinator of all defense buying.

The national defense advisory commission has not announced the Folsom appointment yet, but announced the following other appointment today:

Joseph D. Keenan, secretary of the Chicago Federation of Labor and member of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, as assistant on labor relations to Sidney Hillman, member of the commission in charge of labor supply and labor training.

ARMY CONTRACTS FOR 46 MILLIONS LET IN 3 WEEKS

Washington, D. C., July 11 (AP).—War department contracts for arms and supplies costing $46,197,142, awarded since June 16, were announced today by Assistant Secretary Louis Johnson. Most of the orders represented outlays of funds voted by congress last month for the fiscal 12 months opening July 1.

The largest group of contracts, totaling $21,967,278, were for the army's ordnance department, and included nearly $7,000,000 for gun carriages.

The war department announced at the same time that the army remount service had been authorized to purchase in the open market approximately 3,700 horses and 2,000 mules to cost altogther $950,000.

SALES OF BOND STORES RISE 50 PER CENT IN JUNE

Sales of Bond Stores, Inc., increased 50.7 per cent in June above the same period last year, the company reported yesterday. June sales totaled $2,671,200 compared with $1,772,965 in the 1939 period. Sales in the first half of the year amounted to $13,983,697, a gain of 31.6 per cent above the $10,626,882 volume of a year ago.

Sales of the chain stores compare as follows:

DISCLOSES PLANS FOR CALIFORNIA, HAWAII AIR LINE

Honolulu, July 11 (AP).—Plans for a new airplane service between Hawaii and California were disclosed today by Stanley Kennedy, president and manager of the Inter-Island Steam Navigation company.

He said a joint company, consisting of Pan American Airways, Inter-Island, and the Matson Navigation company, was being formed to operate the service.

30 MILLION WAR PLANE CONTRACT GIVEN VEGA FIRM

Other Companies Receive Industrial Orders.

Backlogs of unfilled orders that are accumulating on the books of many American corporations continued to pile up yesterday when large contracts, including a $30,000,000 warplane order, were announced.

Vega Airplane company, Burbank, Cal., was awarded the plane order under a subcontract from Lockheed Aircraft corporation. The planes, of a new twin engine bombing type, will be made for the British government.

Larger Than Lockheed Hudson.

Known as the Lockheed-Vega Model 37, the new plane is designed for a speed of more than 300 miles an hour. It is larger than the Lockheed Hudson bomber which has become popular with the British fighting forces as a plane for all around use. England already has several hundred Lockheed Hudsons.

The subcontract covers an undisclosed but "substantial" amount of spare parts.

C. S. Gross, president of Vega, said the planes will be built at the new Vega plant nearing completion at the Union air terminal at Burbank. Gross said no new financing will be necessary to handle the contract. The company already had more than $5,000,000 of unfilled orders.

Power Generators Ordered.

General Electric company announced it received orders from two utility companies for generators. One was from Detroit Edison company for a 75,000 kilowatt turbine generator to be installed late next year in connection with the company's $12,000,000 expansion program. Montaup Electric company of Somerset, Mass., ordered a 25,000 kilowatt turbine generator.

American Car and Foundry company's president, Charles J. Hardy, told stockholders at their annual meeting in New York that $1,124,000 of new business was confirmed yesterday, adding that much to a $23,590,756 backlog of orders on the company's books as of Wednesday.

Tire Plant at Capacity.

At New York the navy purchasing office let contracts to three textile manufacturers for a total of 150,000 yards of cloth for sailors' uniforms. The total cost was $973,625. The contracts went to American Woolen company, Worumbo Manufacturing company and Kent Manufacturing company.

A Chicago tire manufacturer, Inland Rubber corporation, reported it is operating on a three shift, 24 hour day basis as a result of an increase in orders. The company makes automobile tires for distribution thru filling stations and also has a retail store in Chicago. The store's sales are running 50 per cent larger than a year ago, officials said. Another retail store is to be opened soon by Inland Rubber. Present tire output of the factory, now at practical capacity, is 2,100 units daily.

RICKENBACKER'S STOCK PURCHASE OPTION BOOSTED

New York, July 11 [Special].—An option for the purchase of 20,000 shares of $1 par value Eastern Air Lines common stock held by E. V. Rickenbacker, president, in connection with his contract of employment, has been increased by 5,000 shares, according to an amendment filed with the Securities and Exchange commission and announced here today.

The option held by Paul H. Brattain, first vice president, has been increased to 6,250 shares from 5,000 shares, that of S. L. Shannon, second vice president, to 2,875 from 2,500 shares, and T. F. Armstrong, secretary and treasurer, to 1,150 from 1,000.

IDLE BANK FUNDS RISE 20 MILLIONS TO RECORD LEVEL

Gold Purchases Help Swell Total.

Lendable excess reserves of the 12 federal reserve banks climbed to a new record as of Wednesday, the federal reserve board reported yesterday in its weekly bank statistics.

Member bank excess reserves totaled $6,830,000,000, an increase of $20,000,000 over the preceding week and $2,540,000,000 more than a year ago. The increase, as in past weeks, was caused primarily by treasury purchases of foreign gold.

The amount of federal reserve notes in circulation dropped $15,374,000 to $5,232,463,000, but remained $709,754,000 above the level of a year ago.

Member banks in the Chicago district had $430,000,000 of commercial, industrial, and agricultural loans outstanding, a drop of $1,000,000 during the week. This was, however, $71,000,000 more than was outstanding last year. New York district loans rose $2,000,000 to $1,714,000,000 and were $305,000,000 above last year's total. Details follow:

SET YEAR'S HIGH IN CONSTRUCTION PROJECT AWARDS

Public and Private Jobs Swell Week's Total.

New York, July 11 (AP).—Engineering construction awards this week totaled $98,039,000, the highest level of the year, Engineering News-Record reported today. The previous high of $96,286,000 was reached in the week of June 20.

Both public and private projects contributed to the gain. Public awards were 170 per cent larger than in the preceding week, which included the July 4 holiday, and 57 per cent larger than a year ago. Private contracts were 330 per cent above the week before and 99 per cent ahead of the corresponding 1939 week.

List Largest Awards.

Largest contracts of the week were $16,175,000 for shipbuilding docks at the Philadelphia, Pa., and Norfolk, Va., navy yards and $12,500,000 for two hydro-electric projects for the Nanthahala Power and Light company of Franklin, N. C.

Comparison of the week's awards follows:

	Latest wk.	Prev. week.	Year ago.
Private	$34,012,000	$ 7,893,000	$17,127,000
State-municip'l	35,205,000	21,118,000	33,065,000
Federal	28,822,000	2,588,000	7,811,000
Total	98,039,000	31,599,000	58,003,000

Construction contracts awarded in 37 states east of the Rocky mountains in June totaled $324,726,000, a gain of 13 per cent over the June, 1939, figure, the F. W. Dodge corporation reported.

Home Building Leads.

Residential contracts, leading the upswing in private building, totaled $135,274,000, against $111,896,000 in June last year.

"The high level of building activity recorded for June should dispel all remaining fear that the industry will, at an early date, suffer adversely from the economic displacements caused by the war," said Thomas S. Holden, vice president in charge of Dodge corporation research.

Offsetting a decline in certain types of government building, he said, probably would be private plant expansion for the defense program and government construction to house military forces and for defense bases.

Butter and Egg Futures Decline on Chicago Mart

Egg futures declined 1-5 to ¼ cent a dozen on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday after profit taking stopped an early rise. The October contract closed at 19.10 cents a dozen. Weakness in wholesale butter markets was reflected in a decline of 1-5 cent in the November butter future to 27.20 cents a pound.

BROWN & SHARPE.

All the emphasis on the machine tool industry in current business news leads me to think that Brown & Sharpe stock would be a good buy if the defense program is extended. Where is the market for this stock? Have earnings been satisfactory?—O. F.

Answer: Brown & Sharpe Manufacturing company is one of the oldest domestic makers of machine tools and precision instruments for machining. The present company was formed in 1868 and continued a business founded in 1833. Manufacturing is concentrated in its plant at Providence, R. I., where a new machine shop unit to cost $95,000 is being constructed.

The unlisted market for the 138,620 shares of $50 par value capital stock is centered in New York and the New England area. The current quarterly dividend rate on the stock is $1.50. On March 11 and June 10 this year, the quarterly dividend and an extra of $1.50 were paid. The company disbursed $12 a share in 1939. Earlier dividends are not available.

Comparison of net sales, net income, and earnings per share in the last two years follows:

	Net sales.	Net income.	Earned per share.
1938	$ 9,354,000	$ 746,227	$ 5.38
1939	15,286,000	2,720,000	19.62

Total assets of the company at the end of 1939 were $19,942,989. Current assets were $12,558,470 against current liabilities of $3,203,030.

CARBORUNDUM.

Are the earnings of the Carborundum company reported publicly? I would like some financial information about this company.—E. S.

Answer: The earnings of the Carborundum company are not reported. It manufactures grinding wheels, sharpening stones, polishing grains, coated abrasive paper and cloth, and refractory materials. The abrasive plants are situated at Niagra Falls, N. Y., and the refractory division at Perth Amboy, N. J. The business was founded in 1891.

Capital stock of the company consists of 509,265 shares of no par value. The shares are not listed but are traded over-the-counter in the New York area. There is no funded debt.

Dividends on the stock were paid as follows:

1928	$3.00	1934	$5.00
1929	3.20	1935	6.00
1930	8.10	1936	7.00
1931	1.20	1937	5.25
1932	1.20	1938	2.00
1933	1.90	1939	5.00

A dividend of $1.25 a share was paid on March 30 this year, and another of $2 on June 29.

FAIRCHILD AVIATION DECLARES 25 CENT DIVIDEND ON COMMON

Fairchild Aviation corporation yesterday declared a dividend of 25 cents a share on the common stock, payable Aug. 9 to holders of record July 26. Chiefly a holding company whose subsidiaries make aerial maps, cameras, and other equipment, Fairchild last paid 20 cents, Dec. 21, 1939.

JUNE RETAIL CAR SALES OF NASH, OLDSMOBILE RISE

Retail sales of Oldsmobile and Nash cars rose in June over a year ago, the manufacturers reported yesterday. Sales of Oldsmobiles totaled 18,086 cars in the month, a gain of 44 per cent above the 12,573 sold in June, 1939. D. E. Ralston, general sales manager, said sales in the first half of this year were 104,257 cars, a gain of 42 per cent above the 73,376 sold last year.

D. E. Ralston.

Nash sales in June amounted to 5,287 cars, 5 per cent better than in May and 11 per cent higher than in June of last year when sales totaled 4,732 units, W. A. Blees, general sales manager, said.

Commission Allows B. & O. to Discontinue Two Trains

The Illinois Commerce commission yesterday authorized the Baltimore and Ohio railroad to discontinue operation of two passenger trains, Nos. 48 and 49, between Decatur and Springfield. Officials said the road had a monthly loss of $1,750 on the trains.

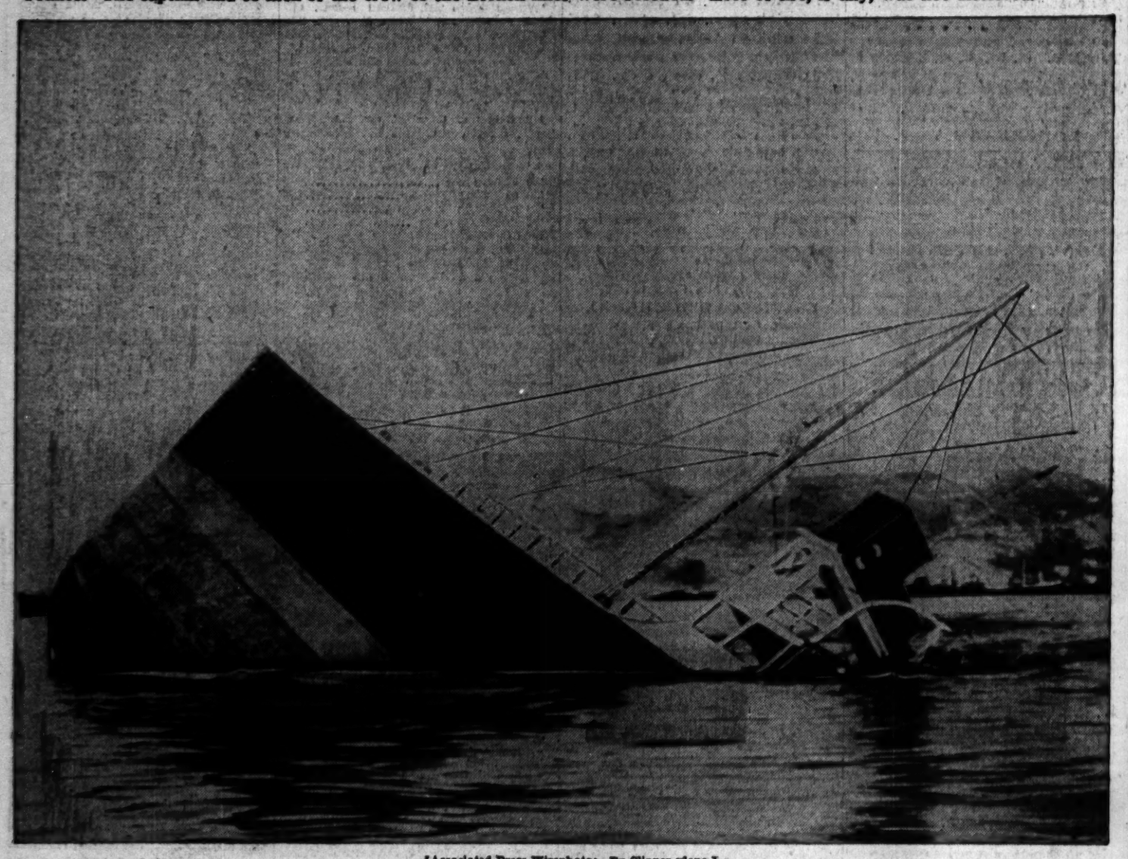
First Pictures of Italian-British Clashes—Democratic Leaders Pave Way for Opening of Convention

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

Smoke enveloping the cargo and passenger liner Wellington Star after she was hit by German torpedoes off Cape Finisterre, France. The captain and 68 men of the crew of the British liner were rescued. Loss of life, if any, was not disclosed.



[Associated Press Wirephoto; By Clipper plane.]

The British caption says this photo shows last moments of an Italian vessel scuttled off Gibraltar (background) to keep it from falling into British hands on June 10. The British claim Italians lost 30 ships by scuttling or capture on that day.

The British caption says this picture shows R. A. F. bombs blasting Italian airport in East Africa. The black shadows are made by smoke.
